CEASE-FIRE TALKS REACH CRISIS

Senate Backs Crime Probe On Television

Refuses To Quash Contempt Charges

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP)—The Senate gave a virtual vote of confidence today to its crime committee's practice of televising some of its major hearings.

It refused by a roll-call vote of 38 to 13 to withdraw contempt of Congress charges against two witnesses who said they would not testify while television, radio and newsreel were operating.

Accusing the crime committee of running wild and putting on "headline hunting" spectacles and extravaganzas, Sen. Cain (R-Wash.) had asked the Senate to reconsider contempt citations voted March 30 against Morris Kleinman and Louis Rothlopf of Cleveland.

Welker Backs Cain

He was backed by Sen. Welker (R-Idaho), who denounced "the startling reality of a quasi court of law (the committee)" demanding that American citizens testify under oath before an array of microphones and cameras.

Welker said he doubted whether courts would find a witness in contempt for refusing to testify in such a blare of publicity.

But the crime committee claimed its televised hearings are "of great benefit to the people." The Senate apparently supported this view when the roll was called.

Kleinman and Rothkopf were linked by the crime investigators with a big interstate gambling syndicate. Their refusal to testify occurred March 26.

Today's vote cleared the way for the contempt citations to be sent to the U. S. attorney here for presentation to a grand jury. The penalty on conviction for contempt is up to one year in jail and a $1,000 fine.

Full Legal Test Possible

If Kleinman and Rothlopf base their defense on the presence of television and other recording equipment in the hearing room, the television issue may be given a full legal test.

The attack by Cain and Welker led the committee to issue a policy statement which said the televising of its hearings brought home to the public "a clear picture of the character and ramifications of organized interstate crime."

The committee explained it had taken careful measures to prevent any exploitation or commercialization of the hearings.

It intends to permit television broadcasts of a renewed investigation of crime conditions in New York City next week. The hearings will open here next Wednesday and run for about three days.

Death Toll In Rail Crash Set At Eight

Troop Train Wrecked In Collision With Streamliner

Three cars of a troop train carrying more than 300 Marines are shown wrecked and burning after the train crashed head-on with the Southern Belle, of the Kansas City Southern Railroad, operator of both trains. Eight persons were reported killed and more than 60 injured in the crash near Simmesport, La.

Marines' Train And Streamliner Collide Head-On

60 Injured In Wreck Near Simmespoort, La.

SIMMESPORT, La., Aug. 10 (AP)—A Marine troop train and a Kansas City Southern streamliner crashed head-on and burned near here today.

Kansas City Southern officials put the toll at eight dead including one Marine, and one missing. More than 60 were injured.

Railroad officials said the troop train crew for an unknown reason ignored an order to put the train on a side track to allow the streamlined Southern Belle to pass on the main track.

Kansas City Southern officials first put the death toll at 14 but said later they had learned that reports that two marines, a negro brakeman and four negro civilian passengers had been killed were incorrect.

Water Poured On Wreckage

The crash occurred about 7 a. m. (CST) on a double bend in flat cotton and timber country some 60 miles northeast of Baton Rouge.

Railroad workmen tonight were pouring streams of water from a tank car on the flaming trains to cool the twisted wreckage before cutting into the trains with acetylene torches in search for the bodies of other possible dead.

R. R. Sutter, KCS superintendent of transportation at Shreveport, said the railroad's financial loss would amount to $700,000 exclusive of possible death and personal injury claims.

"Just why the crew of the troop train failed to switch it to the siding is something we may never know since most of those who might be able to give a reason are already dead," Sutter said.

Probably Going 55 MPH

He said that authorized speed of the two trains was 55 miles per hour, adding, "I have no reason to believe that either train was traveling much slower than that at the time."

Maj. Dunkle said the more seriously injured Marines were flown to Fort Sam Houston, Tex., and Camp Polk, La., for hospitalization.

Dr. J. C. Roberts, Pointe Coupee Parish (county) coroner at Morganza, La., said one Marine burned to death and another was so badly injured his left arm and leg had to be amputated before he was flown to Fort Sam Houston.

Uninjured Marines aboard the troop train were taken to Baton Rouge where they were to be housed at the U. S. Naval Training Center tonight unless the Kansas City Southern was able to supply another troop train.

Reds Refuse To Shift From Buffer Issue

Allied Negotiators Return To Kaesong

U. N. ADVANCE HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Saturday, Aug. 11 (AP)—United Nations negotiators today returned to the Korean armistice talks in an atmosphere of crisis.

The Communist delegation at Friday's resumption of the meetings set in stony silence. It refused to talk about anything but the 38th parallel, or to budge from its position that the buffer zone must be drawn there. The Allies want the line north of the parallel.

The stubborn attitude of the Communist delegation pushed the deadlocked talks to the most critical point since they began a month ago.

The United Nations delegation reached Kaesong at 10:45 a. m. (7:45 p. m. Friday, E.S.T.) by helicopter for the 21st meeting with the North Korean and Chinese Communist delegation.

Sitting Contest

For two hours and 11 minutes of Friday's four-hour and 15-minute session not a word was exchanged between the Allied and Red truce teams. And it wasn't because the Allies were not willing to talk.

Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, chief United Nations delegate, had proposed—as he had in the past—that a cease-fire buffer zone be established generally along the present battlefront—which is mainly inside North Korea. He said the Allies were willing to discuss "possible adjustments" of such a zone.

Lt. Gen. Nam Il, chairman of the Red delegation, said nothing.

And so they sat. The Reds fidgeted and whispered among themselves. The Allies looked bored.

Finally, after the sitting contest had gone two hours and 11 minutes, Joy suggested they talk about something else—inspection behind rival lines in event of an armistice. Evidently having anticipated this suggestion, Nam read a prepared statement of refusal, still harping on parallel 38 as the center of a buffer zone.

Reds Renew Protests

However, another meeting was set for today.

Friday's meeting—the 20th since the talks began July 10—was the fruitless resumption of negotiations after a five-day suspension.

The Peiping radio Saturday morning said the Red delegation had renewed in writing on Friday its protests of Thursday alleging that the Allies had violated the neutrality of the conference area.

The broadcast said that Adm. Joy's reply to their first protests was "entirely unsatisfactory."

Joy had told them one protest, involving alleged strafing of a truck, on Tuesday, was "completely without validity" and that the other about a small ground action was raised tardily but was being given "such consideration as it deserves."

Argument Delays Vote On Military Construction Bill

Project In Truman's Home County Rapped

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP) — An argument over locating a new $19,000,000 Air Force installation in President Truman's home county today brought a weekend delay in House action on a $5,768,000,000 military construction bill.

The $19,000,000 would be used to expand the airport at Grandview, in Jackson County, Mo. Grandview was the home of Mr. Truman's mother and he used its airport on various trips back home.

Rep. Gross (R-Iowa) sought to knock out the Grandview item, pointing out there is an Air Force Field at nearby Sedalia, Mo., and suggested it be used instead. He said the Grandview field is a tiny one, and to spend millions building it up would amount "to a glorified WPA project."

Gross Motion Defeated

Gross' motion to strike out the item was defeated, 56 to 15, after Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) and Rep. Kilday (D-Tex) of the House Armed Services Committee said that Grandview was to be fitted into plans for a centralized location for control of air reserves. (Later it was learned from committee sources that it is proposed to move headquarters to the Continental Air Command from Mitchell Field, Long Island, to Grandview. The Air National Guard is under direction of this command.)

After his defeat, Gross moved to send the whole bill back to the committee with instructions to remove the Grandview item. Leaders decided to take a vote on this Monday and, assuming that Gross would lose again, to vote on the bill Tuesday.

U. S. No Longer Secure

Most of the projects in the $5,768,000,000 construction bill were asked to help keep the U. S. safe from Soviet atom bombs. Vinson reminded the House that in the last war, the U. S. was quite secure, and added:

"Today we face a vastly different situation. Russia has the atom bomb and the capability to drop it within the continental United States.

"Against that threat, it is mandatory that we provide for the air defense of this nation."

Vinson's statement was challenged by Rep. Cole (R-NY) who told the House that as a member of the Senate-House Atomic Committee he had "no information" that Russia had the A-bomb.

Vinson retorted that Cole was the only man in the country who doesn't think Russia has it.

Truman Backs Industrial Plant Dispersal Policy

Is Defying Congress, Rep. Martin Declares

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP) — President Truman gave his blessing today to an "industrial dispersion policy" designed to spread out industrial plants against the danger of concentrated atomic attacks.

Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, House Republican leader, immediately protested that the President was "flagrantly" defying Congress, which recently refused to approve such a policy.

Some critics of dispersal have expressed fear it would be a blow to existing industrial areas.

The policy statement approved by Mr. Truman said:

"Since 1945, we have experienced a period of unprecedented industrial expansion, but except for a few examples, there has been no pronounced trend away from these concentrations (of industry).

"Some eighteen billions in new plants and equipment were spent annually during the past four years, largely in areas already highly industrialized.

"Although we are increasing our defense efforts, the danger of atomic attack grows and demands that new and more positive policies be put into effect to obtain added security for our industrial establishment without jeopardizing its productive efficiency."

Jack Gorrie, acting chairman of the National Security Resources Board, issued an illustrated booklet explaining the new program. It was based on a study conducted in Seattle by representatives of industry, labor and local government.

Martin was one of the leaders in the congressional movement which brought about defeat of similar proposals as an amendment to the recently extended Defense Production Act.

There has been widespread resistance to dispersing plants, based in part on fears of losses to the community.

WCTU Withdraws Its Support Of U. N. As Peace Agency

BOSTON, Aug. 10 (AP)—The 400,000-member Women's Christian Temperance Union today withdrew its support of the United Nations as "a vital instrument for peace" but pledged wider use of U. N. channels for relief work and education.

The action was taken wthout comment or debate from the floor of the WCTU's 77th annual convention.

A clause pledging the national WCTU to "increasing use of the United Nations as a channel in fighting hunger, want, disease and ignorance" was retained.

Spokesmen said dropping of the support clause does not mean opposition to the U. N.

Red Youths Defy West Berlin Ban

BERLIN, Aug. 10 (AP)—Tens of thousands of Communist blue shirts strayed from East Berlin's world youth festival into West Berlin as sightseers today and boosted the total of such visitors during the week to a quarter million.

Red leaders didn't like it. The youths defied Communist orders in surrendering to the temptation to see how the West does things. The steady stream made a mockery of the iron curtain.

East German leaders were reported seeking new ways to keep the blue shirts from exposure to Western industry, enterprise, hearty welcomes, good food and luxuries.

A crackdown against a few selected boys and girls backfired somewhat. A young girl, bitterly attacked in East Berlin for her trip, fled back to the West and tried to commit suicide by slashing her wrists. She was hurried into a West Berlin hospital and promised haven as a political refugee.

Other youths were reprimanded, German sources said, and some even sent home. The incidents became common knowledge among the 500,000 or more roaming the hodgepodge of programs in East Berlin and stirred up discontent.

Condon, Once Called Security Risk, Resigns Standards Post

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP)—Dr. Edward U. Condon, long a target of critics who called him a security risk, resigned today as director of the National Bureau of Standards.

The Corning Glass Company announced his appointment as director of research and development at its Corning, N. Y., laboratories.

Condon's letter of resignation made no mention of his being a target of a House Un-American Activities Subcommittee three years ago. The committee described Condon as "one of the weakest links in our atomic security." Condon vigorously defended his loyalty then and asked for a hearing. None was held. A number of congressmen and officials upheld his loyalty.

Condon wrote Mr. Truman that "I can no longer afford to accept the severe financial sacrifice involved." Condon had been drawing $14,000 a year; the Corning company refused to say how much it will pay him.

As word of Condon's action reached the Capitol, Reps. Vail and Velde, Illinois Republicans, said in a statement his "resignation under fire is too significant to justify confidence in the assigned reasons."

The statement added that Congress had been impeded in its investigation of Condon "by the action of the President in impounding the FBI file recording his activities, notwithstanding almost unanimous House passage of a House resolution requesting the surrender of said file."

Velde said that on July 30 he received a letter from Secretary of Commerce Sawyer stating that information "with reference to Dr. Condon" had been turned over for review to the department's security officers with instructions that "it was to be carefully studied and if such course were justified, turned over to the department loyalty board for consideration."

Asked about the statement by the two congressmen, Sawyer released further quotes from his letter which he noted had not been made public by Velde.

"As you of course know," he wrote, "Doctor Condon's case was presented to the loyalty board of this department the early part of 1948, prior to my assuming office as secretary, at which time a favorable finding was rendered.

"His case was again referred to the board toward the end of 1948 on receipt of some additional information bearing on the case. Again the findings of the board were favorable (to Condon)."

"Mother Bloor," Noted Red, Dies

QUAKERTOWN, Pa., Aug. 10 (AP)—Mrs. Ella Reeve Bloor Omholt, 88-year-old Communist pioneer known around the world as "Mother Bloor," died today at a convalescent home.

She had been a hospital patient since last March when she injured her spine in a fall at her farm home in this quiet rural area 40 miles north of Philadelphia. Her death, due to a stroke, was first announced by Communist Party headquarters in New York.

A militant fighter for the Marxist and Communist theories, Mother Bloor wrote in her biography several years ago that the day in 1919 when she became a charter member of the Communist Party in the United States "is one I shall remember and be proud of all my life."

Only semi-conscious much of the time in the last few months of her life, she was unable to recognize many of the people from all parts of the country who came to the hospital to see her. But nurses reported she sang very often, and almost always it was "The Star Spangled Banner."

40% Of World War II War Dead Returned

NEW YORK, Aug. 10 (AP)—Approximately 40 per cent of America's World War II dead have been returned to this country at the request of relatives, an official said today.

Harold A. Keats, member of the U. S. Commission on Battle Monuments, said that by the choice of next-of-kin the other 60 per cent will remain at U. S. cemeteries overseas.

Cow Struck By Car Strikes Aged Man

WAUKESHA, Wis., Aug. 10 (AP)—Edwin Sherwell, 87, was in critical condition today after being struck by a dead cow.

A car hit the cow on a highway near here. The cow, killed instantly, was hurled 15 feet to the side of the road where it struck Sherwell, a pedestrian. He suffered a broken leg, internal injuries and shock.

Harrington Upsets Compromise Report

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10. (AP) — Cornelius J. Harrington today upset reports there might be a compromise between President Truman and Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) over Harrington's nomination to the Chicago federal bench.

The hearing on his nomination, he told reporters, had been delayed only to give him time to refute two witnesses who appeared against him today. The Justice Department asked for the delay last week and that immediately led to speculation of a compromise.

The Senate Judiciary subcommittee is considering the President's nomination of Harrington and Joseph J. Drucker to places on the Chicago bench.

Using a senatorial prerogative, Douglas said the President's nominations were "personally obnoxious," though he considered them estimable men. Douglas' phrase is one that in the past has usually been enough to get the Senate to block a nomination.

BETHESDA, Md., Aug. 10 (AP)—Leslie E. Sanders, 55, Montgomery County, Md., newspaperman and former Florida publisher, died yesterday at his home here after a heart attack.

Hope Abandoned For Buried Boy

LANSING, Mich., Aug. 10 (AP)—Hope was abandoned tonight that a nine-year-old boy buried in a sand cave-in would be found alive as rescue crews abandoned digging operations until daylight.

Several hours of frantic digging by more than 50 men, aided by a steam shovel and bulldozer, failed to uncover the boy.

The child is Douglas Davis, son of an East Lansing factory worker.

Witnesses said the boy had been playing in a small tunnel which had been cut back into the face of the sandbank. It collapsed when two playmates jumped on top of it.

The child's companions were thrown several yards by the landslide but escaped injury.

Mother Of Three, Jailed 24 Hours For Speeding, Freed

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Aug. 10 (AP)—Jailed for nearly 24 hours for speeding at 70 miles an hour Mrs. Mary Ellen Kopko was set free today and joyfully rejoined her three small sons.

Mrs. Kopko was sent to jail yesterday by Municipal Judge Robert B. Nevin for five days. Since there was no one to care for her children, they were turned over to Mahoning County juvenile authorities to await her release.

But this afternoon, Juvenile Court Henry P. Beckenbach, angry over Judge Nevin's action, issued an affidavit of dependency, which permitted her to get out before the term expired.

Immediately, Mrs. Kopko, 27, piled her children into her 1950 Hudson and drove home to Shamokin, Pa. Judge Beckenbach told her to come back Wednesday.

Mrs. Kopko was returning to her home in Shamokin, from Detroit when Patrolman Metro Darko arrested her.

She was caught just a week after Judge Nevin had announced a new policy of jailing speeders. She pleaded guilty.

When a number of private citizens heard about it, they telephoned their protests both to the police and the judge.

Mrs. Kopko said her principal concern was whether the children would be cared for properly.

Church Of God Bishop Says He's Presidential Candidate

NEW YORK, Aug. 10 (AP)—With "righteousness" as his platform and an "all-nations flag" as his banner, a Protestant bishop today declared himself a candidate for president in 1952.

Bishop Homer A. Tomlinson, general overseer of the Church of God, said he will launch his campaign after a 21-day fast beginning this Sunday midnight.

"It is time," he said, "that we have as president a man of God whose main business is righteousness."

The 52-year-old leader of his church said he based his decision to run on the Bible, and this prediction in the Seventh Chapter and 27th verse of the Book of Daniel:

"The kingdom and dominion and the greatness of the kingdom under the whole heaven shall be given to the people of the saints of the most high."

The bishop, noting that Daniel "made this amazing revelation" after a 21-day fast, said he planned to subject himself to the same ordeal, in the manner of the late Indian Leader Mahatma Gandhi.

After the fast, ending Labor Day, he said he will make a 42-state tour, appearing chiefly before groups of ministers.

"I intend to call upon men of God to fill every political office in 1951—from constable to president," he added.

Allies Launch Limited Attacks

U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Saturday, Aug. 11 (AP) — Savage local fighting flared on the eastern front yesterday as Allied forces battled to oust stubborn Communist defenders from commanding terrain.

Objectives of the limited Allied attacks southwest of Kansong were hills from 1,200 to 1,500 feet high that dominate the road leading north of Inje to the mountain fastness south of Konsan.

One action began at 2 a.m. yesterday and was still raging 22 hours later with the final result undetermined.

Elsewhere on the muddy front there was only light patrol contact.

Allied warplanes Friday flew 636 sorties through cloudy weather, hammering key Communist rail centers in the northwest.

Pyongyang, Korean Communist capital, and railway yards at Hwangju bore the brunt of the fiery air assaults.

Herbert Hoover Is 77

SANTA CRUZ, Calif., Aug. 10 (AP)—Herbert Hoover, the nation's only living former president, was 77 years old today.

Mr. Hoover sought the quiet of the Santa Cruz mountains for the day. His staff at Palo alto said he planned to spend a few days at the mountain ranch home of his brother, Theodore.

Sitting Contest

For two hours and 11 minutes of Friday's four-hour and 15-minute session not a word was exchanged between the Allied and Red truce teams. And it wasn't because the Allies were not willing to talk.

Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, chief United Nations delegate, had proposed—as he had in the past—that a cease-fire buffer zone be established generally along the present battlefront—which is mainly inside North Korea. He said the Allies were willing to discuss "possible adjustments" of such a zone.

Lt. Gen. Nam Il, chairman of the Red delegation, said nothing.

And so they sat. The Reds fidgeted and whispered among themselves. The Allies looked bored.

Finally, after the sitting contest had gone two hours and 11 minutes, Joy suggested they talk about something else—inspection behind rival lines in event of an armistice. Evidently having anticipated this suggestion, Nam read a prepared statement of refusal, still harping on parallel 38 as the center of a buffer zone.

Reds Renew Protests

However, another meeting was set for today.

Friday's meeting—the 20th since the talks began July 10—was the fruitless resumption of negotiations after a five-day suspension.

The Peiping radio Saturday morning said the Red delegation had renewed in writing on Friday its protests of Thursday alleging that the Allies had violated the neutrality of the conference area.

The broadcast said that Adm. Joy's reply to their first protests was "entirely unsatisfactory."

Joy had told them one protest, involving alleged strafing of a truck, on Tuesday, was "completely without validity" and that the other about a small ground action was raised tardily but was being given "such consideration as it deserves."

Truman Backs Industrial Plant Dispersal Policy

Is Defying Congress, Rep. Martin Declares

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP)—President Truman gave his blessing today to an "industrial dispersion policy" designed to spread out industrial plants against the danger of concentrated atomic attacks.

Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, House Republican leader, immediately protested that the President was "flagrantly" defying Congress, which recently refused to approve such a policy.

Some critics of dispersal have expressed fear it would be a blow to existing industrial areas.

The policy statement approved by Mr. Truman said:

"Since 1945, we have experienced a period of unprecedented industrial expansion, but except for a few examples, there has been no pronounced trend away from these concentrations (of industry).

"Some eighteen billions in new plants and equipment were spent annually during the past four years, largely in areas already highly industrialized.

"Although we are increasing our defense efforts, the danger of atomic attack grows and demands that new and more positive policies be put into effect to obtain added security for our industrial establishment without jeopardizing its productive efficiency."

Jack Gorrie, acting chairman of the National Security Resources Board, issued an illustrated booklet explaining the new program. It was based on a study conducted in Seattle by representatives of industry, labor and local government.

Martin was one of the leaders in the congressional movement which brought about defeat of similar proposals as an amendment to the recently extended Defense Production Act.

There has been widespread resistance to dispersing plants, based in part on fears of losses to the community.

Senate OKs Bradley

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP)—The Senate approved today another two years term for Gen. Omar Bradley as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

WCTU Withdraws Its Support Of U. N. As Peace Agency

BOSTON, Aug. 10 (AP)—The 400,000-member Women's Christian Temperance Union today withdrew its support of the United Nations as "a vital instrument for peace" but pledged wider use of U. N. channels for relief work and education.

The action was taken wthout comment or debate from the floor of the WCTU's 7t7h annual convention.

A clause pledging the national WCTU to "increasing use of the United Nations as a channel in fighting hunger, want, disease and ignorance" was retained.

Spokesmen said dropping of the support clause does not mean opposition to the U. N.

Red Youths Defy West Berlin Ban

BERLIN, Aug. 10 (AP)—Tens of thousands of Communist blue shirts strayed from East Berlin's world youth festival into West Berlin as sightseers today and boosted the total of such visitors during the week to a quarter million.

Red leaders didn't like it. The youths defied Communist orders in surrendering to the temptation to see how the West does things. The steady stream made a mockery of the iron curtain.

East German leaders were reported seeking new ways to keep the blue shirts from exposure to Western industry, enterprise, hearty welcomes, good food and luxuries.

A crackdown against a few selected boys and girls backfired somewhat. A young girl, bitterly attacked in East Berlin for her trip, fled back to the West and tried to commit suicide by slashing her wrists. She was hurried into a West Berlin hospital and promised haven as a political refugee.

Other youths were reprimanded, German sources said, and some even sent home. The incidents became common knowledge among the 500,000 or more roaming the hodgepodge of programs in East Berlin and stirred up discontent.

Grounds For Divorce

CARLISLE, Eng., Aug. 10 (AP)—James Knox got a divorce today on charges of cruelty: His wife made him share their home with her father, her uncle and her pet pig.

Condon, Once Called Security Risk, Resigns Standards Post

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP)—Dr. Edward U. Condon, long a target of critics who called him a security risk, resigned today as director of the National Bureau of Standards.

The Corning Glass Company announced his appointment as director of research and development at its Corning, N. Y., laboratories.

Condon's letter of resignation made no mention of his being a target of a House Un-American Activities Subcommittee three years ago. The committee described Condon as "one of the weakest links in our atomic security." Condon vigorously defended his loyalty then and asked for a hearing. None was held. A number of congressmen and officials upheld his loyalty.

Condon wrote Mr. Truman that "I can no longer afford to accept the severe financial sacrifice involved." Condon had been drawing $14,000 a year; the Corning company refused to say how much it will pay him.

As word of Condon's action reached the Capitol, Reps. Vail and Velde, Illinois Republicans, said in a statement his "resignation under fire is too significant to justify confidence in the assigned reasons."

The statement added that Congress had been impeded in its investigation of Condon "by the action of the President in impounding the FBI file recording his activities, notwithstanding almost unanimous House passage of a House resolution requesting the surrender of said file."

Velde said that on July 30 he received a letter from Secretary of Commerce Sawyer stating that information "with reference to Dr. Condon" had been turned over for review to the department's security officers with instructions that "it was to be carefully studied and if such course were justified, turned over to the department loyalty board for consideration."

Asked about the statement by the two congressmen, Sawyer released further quotes from his letter which he noted had not been made public by Velde.

"As you of course know," he wrote, "Doctor Condon's case was presented to the loyalty board of this department the early part of 1948, prior to my assuming office as secretary, at which time a favorable finding was rendered.

"His case was again referred to the board toward the end of 1948 on receipt of some additional information bearing on the case. Again the findings of the board were favorable (to Condon)."

"Mother Bloor," Noted Red, Dies

QUAKERTOWN, Pa., Aug. 10 (AP)—Mrs. Ella Reeve Bloor Omholt, 88-year-old Communist pioneer known around the world as "Mother Bloor," died today at a convalescent home.

She had been a hospital patient since last March when she injured her spine in a fall at her farm home in this quiet rural area 40 miles north of Philadelphia. Her death, due to a stroke, was first announced by Communist Party headquarters in New York.

A militant fighter for the Marxist and Communist theories, Mother Bloor wrote in her biography several years ago that the day in 1919 when she became a charter member of the Communist Party in the United States "is one I shall remember and be proud of all my life."

Only semi-conscious much of the time in the last few months of her life, she was unable to recognize many of the people from all parts of the country who came to the hospital to see her. But nurses reported she sang very often, and almost always it was "The Star Spangled Banner."

40% Of World War II War Dead Returned

NEW YORK, Aug. 10 (AP)—Approximately 40 per cent of America's World War II dead have been returned to this country at the request of relatives, an official said today.

Harold A. Keats, member of the U. S. Commission on Battle Monuments, said that by the choice of next-of-kin the other 60 per cent will remain at U. S. cemeteries overseas.

Cow Struck By Car Strikes Aged Man

WAUKESHA, Wis., Aug. 10 (AP)—Edwin Sherwell, 87, was in critical condition today after being struck by a dead cow.

A car hit the cow on a highway near here. The cow, killed instantly, was hurled 15 feet to the side of the road where it struck Sherwell, a pedestrian. He suffered a broken leg, internal injuries and shock.

Harrington Upsets Compromise Report

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10. (AP)—Cornelius J. Harrington today upset reports there might be a compromise between President Truman and Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) over Harrington's nomination to the Chicago federal bench.

The hearing on his nomination, he told reporters, had been delayed only to give him time to refute two witnesses who appeared against him today. The Justice Department asked for the delay last week and that immediately led to speculation of a compromise.

The Senate Judiciary subcommittee is considering the President's nomination of Harrington and Joseph J. Drucker to places on the Chicago bench.

Using a senatorial prerogative, Douglas said the President's nominations were "personally obnoxious," though he considered them estimable men. Douglas' phrase is one that in the past has usually been enough to get the Senate to block a nomination.

Newspaperman Dies

BETHESDA, Md., Aug. 10 (AP)—Leslie E. Sanders, 55, Montgomery County, Md., newspaperman and former Florida publisher, died yesterday at his home here after a heart attack.

Hope Abandoned For Buried Boy

LANSING, Mich., Aug. 10 (AP)—Hope was abandoned tonight that a nine-year-old boy buried in a sand cave-in would be found alive as rescue crews abandoned digging operations until daylight.

Several hours of frantic digging by more than 50 men, aided by a steam shovel and bulldozer, failed to uncover the boy.

The child is Douglas Davis, son of an East Lansing factory worker.

Witnesses said the boy had been playing in a small tunnel which had been cut back into the face of the sandbank. It collapsed when two playmates jumped on top of it.

The child's companions were thrown several yards by the landslide but escaped injury.

Argument Delays Vote On Military Construction Bill

Project In Truman's Home County Rapped

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP)—An argument over locating a new $19,000,000 Air Force installation in President Truman's home county today brought a weekend delay in House action on a $5,768,000,000 military construction bill.

The $19,000,000 would be used to expand the airport at Grandview, in Jackson County, Mo. Grandview was the home of Mr. Truman's mother and he used its airport on various trips back home.

Rep. Gross (R-Iowa) sought to knock out the Grandview item, pointing out there is an Air Force Field at nearby Sedalia, Mo., and suggested it be used instead. He said the Grandview field is a tiny one, and to spend millions building it up would amount "to a glorified WPA project."

Gross Motion Defeated

Gross' motion to strike out the item was defeated, 56 to 15, after Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) and Rep. Kilday (D-Tex) of the House Armed Services Committee said that Grandview was to be fitted into plans for a centralized location for control of air reserves. (Later it was learned from committee sources that it is proposed to move headquarters to the Continental Air Command from Mitchell Field, Long Island, to Grandview. The Air National Guard is under direction of this command.)

After his defeat, Gross moved to send the whole bill back to the committee with instructions to remove the Grandview item. Leaders decided to take a vote on this Monday and, assuming that Gross would lose again, to vote on the bill Tuesday.

U. S. No Longer Secure

Most of the projects in the $5,768,000,000 construction bill were asked to help keep the U. S. safe from Soviet atom bombs. Vinson reminded the House that in the last war, the U. S. was quite secure, and added:

"Today we face a vastly different situation. Russia has the atom bomb and the capability to drop it within the continental United States.

"Against that threat, it is mandatory that we provide for the air defense of this nation."

Vinson's statement was challenged by Rep. Cole (R-NY) who told the House that as a member of the Senate-House Atomic Committee he had "no information" that Russia had the A-bomb.

Vinson retorted that Cole was the only man in the country who doesn't think Russia has it.

Allies Launch Limited Attacks

U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Saturday, Aug. 11 (AP) — Savage local fighting flared on the eastern front yesterday as Allied forces battled to oust stubborn Communist defenders from commanding terrain.

Objectives of the limited Allied attacks southwest of Kansong were hills from 1,200 to 1,500 feet high that dominate the road leading north of Inje to the mountain fastness south of Konsan.

One action began at 2 a.m. yesterday and was still raging 22 hours later with the final result undetermined.

Elsewhere on the muddy front there was only light patrol contact.

Allied warplanes Friday flew 636 sorties through cloudy weather, hammering key Communist rail centers in the northwest.

Pyongyang, Korean Communist capital, and railway yards at Hwangju bore the brunt of the fiery air assaults.

Bombing by radar, 12 Superforts pounded a 20-track rail net at Hwangju, 45 miles north of parallel 38. Hwangju feeds the Red port of Kaeju on the west coast, a port blocked off by Allied warships.

Mother Of Three, Jailed 24 Hours For Speeding, Freed

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Aug. 10 (AP)—Jailed for nearly 24 hours for speeding at 70 miles an hour Mrs. Mary Ellen Kopko was set free today and joyfully rejoined her three small sons.

Mrs. Kopko was sent to jail yesterday by Municipal Judge Robert B. Nevin for five days. Since there was no one to care for her children, they were turned over to Mahoning County juvenile authorities to await her release.

But this afternoon, Juvenile Court Henry P. Beckenbach, angry over Judge Nevin's action, issued an affidavit of dependency, which permitted her to get out before the term expired.

Immediately, Mrs. Kopko, 27, piled her children into her 1950 Hudson and drove home to Shamokin, Pa. Judge Beckenbach told her to come back Wednesday.

Mrs. Kopko was returning to her home in Shamokin, from Detroit when Patrolman Metro Darko arrested her.

She was caught just a week after Judge Nevin had announced a new policy of jailing speeders. She pleaded guilty.

When a number of private citizens heard about it, they telephoned their protests both to the police and the judge.

Mrs. Kopko said her principal concern was whether the children would be cared for properly.

Church Of God Bishop Says He's Presidential Candidate

NEW YORK, Aug. 10 (AP)—With "righteousness" as his platform and an "all-nations flag" as his banner, a Protestant bishop today declared himself a candidate for president in 1952.

Bishop Homer A. Tomlinson, general overseer of the Church of God, said he will launch his campaign after a 21-day fast beginning this Sunday midnight.

"It is time," he said, "that we have as president a man of God whose main business is righteousness."

The 52-year-old leader of his church said he based his decision to run on the Bible, and this prediction in the Seventh Chapter and 27th verse of the Book of Daniel:

"The kingdom and dominion and the greatness of the kingdom under the whole heaven shall be given to the people of the saints of the most high."

The bishop, noting that Daniel "made this amazing revelation" after a 21-day fast, said he planned to subject himself to the same ordeal, in the manner of the late Indian Leader Mahatma Gandhi.

After the fast, ending Labor Day, he said he will make a 42-state tour, appearing chiefly before groups of ministers.

"I intend to call upon men of God to fill every political office in 1951—from constable to president," he added.

Herbert Hoover Is 77

SANTA CRUZ, Calif., Aug. 10 (AP)—Herbert Hoover, the nation's only living former president, was 77 years old today.

Mr. Hoover sought the quiet of the Santa Cruz mountains for the day. His staff at Palo alto said he planned to spend a few days at the mountain ranch home of his brother, Theodore.

Witness "Busy," Misses Salisbury Crime Hearing

SALISBURY, Md., Aug. 10 (AP)—A star witness was missing today when the Legislative Council's touring investigators came here to learn about crime conditions on the lower Eastern Shore.

He was John L. Sanford, Jr., state's attorney for Worcester County.

It was not a case of reluctance. Sanford was busy. He was in Worcester County Circuit Court at Snow Hill—on a gambling case.

Edwin D. Lynch, Worcester County's sheriff, also failed to appear for the hearing.

Sen. Della (D-Balto. 6th) a member of the committee, immediately introduced a resolution that Sanford and Lynch be given special invitations to appear before the group when it holds its next meeting in Annapolis Aug. 24.

Chairman Crothers (D-Cecil) said they would be put under subpoena if necessary.

The committee was ordered by the 1951 General Assembly to study the crime situation in Maryland, particularly the existence of any organized rackets in the state or tie-ups between racketeers and law enforcement officials.

It has the power to subpoena a witness but Crothers' statement was the first hint that it might be used.

Conservationists Plan Water Rights Study

FREDERICK, Md., Aug. 10 (AP)—A study of Maryland's water rights laws was authorized today by conservationists meeting here and there may be a call for some new legislation.

The Maryland Association of Soil Conservation District Supervisors adopted a resolution aimed at the water rights questions.

The association said there is an "increasing demand on surface and ground waters of the state for irrigation of farm crops and other farm uses" and that this "may create questions of both legal rights and land use problems for the landowners of the state x x x."

The association said water rights laws are not generally understood by farmers.

Poles Charge U.S.I.S. Put Out Propaganda

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP)—The Polish Embassy said today the United States Information Service in Warsaw was shut down Wednesday because it was putting out war propaganda.

Activities of the service, the embassy said in a press statement, "went far beyond the accepted scope of the normal information work of an embassy."

"The character of the U.S.I.S. activities manifested itself most clearly in its bulletins, which devoted a major part of their contents to war propaganda directed against peaceful cooperation of nations and against countries—friends of Poland," the statement said in part.

Drives 10 Miles Then Remembers He Forgot His Wife

BALTIMORE, Aug. 10 (AP)—Ralph Straube drove along Pulaski Highway today with only the singing of his tires against the long concrete road to break the silence.

He had covered ten miles of his trip from Baltimore to Philadelphia when a thought suddenly exploded in his mind—"where's my wife?"

Straube wheeled around and sped back to a Baltimore filling station. Mrs. Straube was standing there, tapping her toe on the concrete.

The St. Petersburg, Fla., man had absent mindedly driven away without his wife after she went into the ladies room, he explained.

Soviets Expect Truman Move

MOSCOW, Aug. 10 (AP)—President Truman's disclosure that he intends to continue his correspondence with Soviet President Nikolai M. Shvernik was received with interest in Moscow today.

The Russians are anxious to see how he will react to Shvernik's proposals, especially since the U. S. State Department has turned down the one for a five-power peace pact which would include Communist China.

The Russians have made it clear they consider the peace pact—which would line up Americans, Britons, Frenchmen and Russians with the Red Chinese—as the heart of their proposals for easing world tension.

It is also clear the Russians expect something tangible from President Truman. There is no doubt they would like to have him suggest a meeting of the five powers or, if not that, a meeting of the four powers.

(This suggestion that Russia might be willing to drop Red China from such a conference cleared through Soviet censorship.)

Crop Prospects Good Despite Flood, Drought

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP)—Floods and dry weather caused some damage to crops last month, but overall production prospects point to the second largest harvest in history, the Agriculture Department reported today.

Weather factors resulted in declines for such important crops as corn, wheat, barley, flaxseed, potatoes and tobacco.

But these were partly offset by improvement in the outlook for hay, oats, rice, sugar beets, dry beans and peas.

The department said, in its August crop reprt, that several million acres of crops were destroyed by floods, principally in Kansas, Missouri and Illinois.

Britain Unveils Stockless, Fast-Firing .280 Army Rifle

WARMINSTER, Eng., Aug. 10 (AP)—Britain today unveiled her new fast-firing .280 army rifle, a stockless weapon that looks like a submachinegun.

About 200 military attaches, including a Yugoslav, and 50 newsmen saw a demonstration obviously aimed at convincing Western military men the rifle is what Defense Minister Emanuel Shinwell says it is: The best weapon of its kind in existence.

Not all were convinced, especially the Americans.

The show at the infantry school here compared hand-made models of the rifle with the United States' semi-automatic .30 caliber Garand — the No. 1 nominee for the infantry weapon in proposed standardization of western arms — and the old British .303 bolt action Enfield.

Tests by expert riflemen proved the new gun can be fired faster than either of the others, but lacks their penetration and shocking power.

An odd looking weapon which can be converted from aimed fire to machinegun-like action by pressing a button on the side, the .280 turned out 84 shots a minute. The Garand fired 43 shots, the Enfield 28.

The new gun's penetration through wood proved slightly less than that of the Garand. With a stack of one-inch boards as the target, the Garand punched through 48½. The .280 averaged 46.

The conventional stock is completely lacking. It is replaced by metallic coverings for part of the automatic loading mechanism. The butt looks like a small metal shoelast, with a rubber pad to absorb part of the kick.

McCarran Group Might Referee

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP)—Sen. McCarran (D-Nev.) said today his internal security subcommittee might be willing to act as referee in the quarrel between Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) and the State Department over the loyalty of department employes.

On the Senate floor yesterday McCarthy named 26 persons, including Ambassador-at-Large Philip Jessup, whose loyalty he said had been challenged. The Wisconsin Senator accused Jessup and others of Communist sympathies.

When some fellow senators accused him of smearing and called him "a character assassin," McCarthy offered to let a "committee headed by a good Democrat" decided whether his charges are justified. He mentioned McCarran as the type of Democrat he had in mind.

"We don't crave it and are not asking for it," McCarran said in referring to the possibility that his Senate group might make an inquiry. "But it might be our staff could analyze it and present it."

Among those named by McCarthy yesterday was John Carter Vincent, former minister to Switzerland and now chief of the American Mission in Tangiers.

Vincent said at Tangiers today he is disgusted with McCarthy's "nefarious campaign of attack against State Department officials."

TWO REPUTED COMMUNIST LEADERS, Mrs. Dorothy Roe Blumberg, 47, of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Philip Frankfeld, 44, of Cleveland, O., are photographed in New York's Federal Court after their arrest by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents. They are charged with conspiracy to teach and advocate the overthrow of the United States Government. Mrs. Blumberg's bail was set at $75,000 and Frankfeld's at $100,000. Both were remanded to jail prior to a hearing. (International)

McCarran Group Might Referee

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP) — Sen. McCarran (D-Nev.) said today his internal security subcommittee might be willing to act as referee in the quarrel between Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) and the State Department over the loyalty of department employes.

On the Senate floor yesterday McCarthy named 26 persons, including Ambassador-at-Large Philip Jessup, whose loyalty he said had been challenged. The Wisconsin Senator accused Jessup and others of Communist sympathies.

When some fellow senators accused him of smearing and called him "a character assassin," McCarthy offered to let a "committee headed by a good Democrat" decided whether his charges are justified. He mentioned McCarran as the type of Democrat he had in mind.

"We don't crave it and are not asking for it," McCarran said in referring to the possibility that his Senate group might make an inquiry. "But it might be our staff could analyze it and present it."

Among those named by McCarthy yesterday was John Carter Vincent, former minister to Switzerland and now chief of the American Mission in Tangiers.

Vincent said at Tangiers today he is disgusted with McCarthy's "nefarious campaign of attack against State Department officials."

TWO REPUTED COMMUNIST LEADERS, Mrs. Dorothy Roe Blumberg, 47, of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Philip Frankfeld, 44, of Cleveland, O., are photographed in New York's Federal Court after their arrest by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents. They are charged with conspiracy to teach and advocate the overthrow of the United States Government. Mrs. Blumberg's bail was set at $75,000 and Frankfeld's at $100,000. Both were remanded to jail prior to a hearing. (International)

Polio In 1951

The incidence of poliomyelitis (infantile paralysis) in 1951 has been running somewhat below the number of cases reported for the corresponding months of 1950 and well below the comparable rate in 1949—the year when the number of cases reported hit an all-time high of 42,173. Tabulation of reports by telegram from state health officers to the U. S. Public Health Service through August 4 showed that 6,843 cases had been reported in the nation thus far in calendar 1951. For the comparable period in 1950, 7,298 cases had been reported; in 1949, 10,719.

Reports for the current "disease year" show the same relationship. The "disease year" for polio begins with the seasonal low week late in March. The cumulative total for the current disease year is 5,631, as compared with 6,167 for 1950 and 9,806 for 1949.

The number of cases of polio reported annually has been mounting irregularly snce 1915, when only 1,639 cases were reported. An epidemic in 1916 sent the total for that year to 27,363. The number of cases reported annually did not rise above 20,000 again until 1946, when 25,698 cases were reported. Incidence fell to less than half that figure in 1947, but in 1948, 27,902 cases were reported; in 1949, 42,173; in 1950, 33,202.

Reports show some degree of area concentration of the disease. Polio in Texas has been concentrated in seven counties; in Mississippi in four. In other states, such as California, Utah, Colorado, Wisconsin, Illinois, Kansas, and Michigan, a large proportion of cases reported in recent weeks have originated in urban areas.

Today the greatest incidence of polio in the United States occurs in the school-age group, according to Dr. Howard A. Howe, senior member of the Poliomyelitis Research Center at Johns Hopkins University. Twenty years ago polio struck more virulently at the pre-school group. Rates for adults in the United States are still low, in spite of increased reporting. Writing in Harper's magazine, Dr. Howe points out that some cases of polio produce no symptoms and hence go unreported. "Present figures indicate that there are probably at least 100 to 1,000 polio infections for every paralytic case."

Heaviest incidence of polio normally occurs in late summer and early fall. However, in Louisiana polio already appears to have passed its peak for 1951. Polio seems to affect more adolescents and young adults in rural areas than in cities; in urban areas, the disease is more likely to affect children.

A safe vaccine for human beings has yet to be perfected. Preliminary human tests with polio virus are considered reasonably "encouraging," according to Dr. Howe, but the launching of a poliomyelitis vaccination project would still have to be "a vast cooperative enterprise."

An Inspiring Story

An 18-year-old boy, Gilbert Provencher, has been having a successful one-man art show in New York City, in which most of his paintings have been sold at satisfactory prices. Standing alone, that would be evidence merely of precocity. What makes it truly remarkable is that as a boy of 14 he dived into a stream in his native New Hampshire, struck his head on hard bottom and was paralyzed from the shoulders down.

When the lad was examined there was a faint movement of the left shoulder and a faint trace of strength in the biceps of his left arm. These were carefully developed. Always Gilbert had wanted to be a painter. He first tried it with a brush in his teeth, but that was a failure. He did begin to get results with a brush strapped to his left elbow. Most of his paintings are of scenes of his New Hampshire countryside.

For two months this young man has been at the Institute of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation in New York City, where the exhibit has been held. There they are not trying to teach him to paint—he can do that—but to paint better. He has been offered an art fellowship, is assured of a studio of his own and a Christmas card concern will use some of his work.

For amputees who lie in pain in veterans' hospitals, skeptical that as to themselves the wonderful work already accomplished in restoring men to active life will succeed, the story of Gilbert Provencher should bring hope and inspiration.

Fewer Farm Dwellers

The number of persons living on farms in the United States has declined while the population of the whole nation has increased. Today the farm population is about 7½ million lower than 40 years ago while the nation has about 60 million more inhabitants.

Today less than one in every six persons lives on a farm, as against more than one in every three persons 40 years ago. At the time of the Civil War about three in every four Americans lived on farms.

Although the farm population has declined, relatively, over the decades, it has increased in certain specific years. In 1920 and 1946, for instance, when millions of men were demobilized from the Army. Also in the depression years of 1931, 1932, and 1933—many sons and daughters of farmers went back home to Pop for enough food to eat and a roof over their heads after they had lost their jobs in the city.

The Census Bureau distinguishes between farm population and rural population. According to the Census definition, the rural population is all that which doesn't live in a city or town of at least 2,500 inhabitants. And with the growth of the automobile and the expansion of bus routes, the rural non-farm population these days is almost as large as the rural farm population.

Overdue Reprisals

Suspension by Washington of tariff concessions to the Soviet Union and all other Communst-dominated states is dictated by consideration of self-respect. It is amazing that no one in authority in Washington thought of this before.

To have continued to regard these nations as friendly and thus entitled to special benefits would have been a gross perversion of truth and facts.

Because trade with the Red countries is already sharply limited, and has been ever since lend-lease and UNRRA shipments to them tapered off, the President's belated action will not have the damaging effect which most Americans would like to see. Nevertheless it is notice to the enemy and to the world in general that the United States at last intends to visit such reprisals as lie within its power upon governments which are guilty of physical attacks upon American citizens—as in the Oatis case in Czechoslovakia.

Unfortunately, there is no expectation that the step taken will cause either Russia or any of her satellites to mend their ways.

How To Keep Well

Iron Loss In Perspiration

During the last few years chemists have see-sawed on the answer to a problem dealing with perspiration. One group found that in addition to salt, we lost much iron in sweat. Other authorities have decided that the amount is so negligible it can hardly be measured.

The practical aspects of this situation are obvious but why are scientists unable to agree? This sounds like a simple experiment but it is doubtful whether one person in a thousand has any idea how difficult it is to measure the perspiration loss, let alone the percentage of iron or calcium the fluid contains. To begin with, sweat must be collected. This is not easy because evaporation takes place; furthermore, iron laden dust particles in the air might contaminate the body surface.

Recently several nutritionists at Cornell university engaged in this project. Four college women served as subjects, each for four periods of approximately one hour. They began by taking a good bath in hot soapy water and the hair was wrapper in cheesecloth to prevent dripping of perspiration from the scalp. From here they entered the sweating chamber and stood there until perspiration appeared on the back of the hands. The co-eds were rinsed with hot tap water, then with hot distilled water, and patted dry with a clean towel. Presumably this was done to cleanse the sweat pores and to remove loose skin cells which contain iron and might contaminate the sweat. The girls walked on a pathway of towels to a scale where weight was recorded, then sat in an enameled pan that had been placed on a chair, and put their feet in another pan. They remained there for one hour while perspiration was collected in the pans.

At the end of this period the temperature and humidity of the room were lowered to stop perspiration and the subjects were weighed and rinsed six to eight times with distilled water. This fluid too, was collected, in order to obtain perspiration from all parts of the body except the scalp, and turned over to the chemists. The perspiration and the rinse water were filtered and frozen and miscroscopic studies were done to determine whether the solutions contained skin cells, but few were present. The material finally was boiled down to an ash, and iron and calcium determinations were made from the residue.

In this experiment a moderate loss of calcium and iron occurred. The research workers felt that it was not enough to become excited about. They wrote: "Losses of calcium and iron of the magnitude found in this study are such as to indicate that the intake of the average woman engaging in average activity under average conditions of temperature and humidity must be increased a little to cover them." They believed that iron tablets were not necessary because the standard requirements for iron and calcium, as recommended by the National Research council, were higher than necessary. On the other hand, those living in the tropics or in the temperate zone during the warm season might need additional iron from time to time to make up the deficit. This is especially true when a person is engaged in heavy work or perspires more than usual.

AURA OF EPILEPSY

S. G. writes: Does an epileptic on the verge of an attack realize that it is coming, giving him enough time to run into the next room?

REPLY

Yes, there is a warning but there is hardly enough time to run into the next room. Most victims are satisfied if they can ease themselves into a chair or on to the floor to decrease the danger of injury when unconsciousness occurs. This premonition is referred to as the aura and frequently manifests itself in the form of seeing lights, hearing strange noises, and smelling peculiar odors.

EYELID IRRITATION

T. W. writes: What causes tiny, pimple like swellings on the eyelids? They rub against the eyeball and cause pain.

REPLY

You probably refer to tiny concretions that plug the openings of the glands in the eyelids. They cause the same type of irritation on the eyeball as a speck of dust or a cinder. Sometimes it is necessary to consult an eye physician when they refuse to budge and continue to irritate.

HEART ATTACKS

E. M. S. writes: Can a person with a good heart have a heart attack or is it only people with bad hearts that are afflicted?

REPLY

Most individuals who have encountered a heart attack (coronary thrombosis) have hardening of the coronary arteries. They may not realize it and think that the pumping apparatus is normal. Furthermore, tests may not demonstrate the true condition of the coronary arteries. For this reason, the victim of a heart attack may be surprised because he was unaware of what was going on behind the scenes.

Elks Lack Money For MacArthur's Cadillac; Official Offered Million Dollars To Buy Canadian Rye; Texan Reminds Churchill Of Shakespeare Quote

WASHINGTON—That shiny new Cadillac presented by the Elks Club of Houston to General MacArthur when he visited Texas still isn't paid for. The car cost $5,700 and the Elks, in their enthusiasm, figured the money would be easy to raise. So they presented the car to MacArthur and figured on paying for it later.

When the last appeal for funds was issued, however, MacArthur's popularity seemed to be on the wane, and only $1,286 of the $5,700 was in the Elks' kitty. Here is the letter sent out by Phil Hamburger, chairman of the MacArthur Gift Fund, Houston Lodge No. 151, BOP Elks:

"You doubtless are familiar with the fact that during General MacArthur's visit to Houston he received as a gift from the Elks and friends a black 7-passenger Cadillac sedan. . .

"The purchase of this car at a cost of $5,700 was undertaken by members of the Elks and friends, and at the present time we have only raised $1,286, and since we are in need of more funds the purpose of this letter is to afford you an opportunity to be listed as a contributor to the gift fund.

"The ownership certificate to the car will be forwarded to General MacArthur along with an appropriate scroll bearing the names of all contributors, and the list of names is being closed out when the amount of $5,700 is received."

Rye Speculating

A little more information has leaked out regarding the huge speculation in rye, and the sudden reversal of the Agriculture Department's ban on Canadian rye. An offer of a million dollars was dangled before Ralph Trigg, formerly in charge of all rye purchases, if he would buy Canadian rye. Trigg said no.

However, last spring, after Trigg got out, his policy was reversed and the U. S. Government bought up a large quantity of Canadian rye mixed with U. S. rye.

It is now learned that two senators pressured the Agriculture Department to bring about this change—Young of North Dakota and McCarthy of Wisconsin, both Republicans. Minnesota's two senators — Humphrey, Democrat, and Thye, Republican—sat in on one meeting regarding rye. However, they attended at the urging of McCarthy and did nothing more than put in an appearance.

Senator Young, who comes from a big rye-producing state, wanted to ban rye imports from Canada altogether. Since Canadian rye was already mixed with American rye in northwest grain elevators, however, Young agreed that the government should buy this Canadian rye in order to reduce the surplus. By getting rid of the surplus and by banning future rye shipments from Canada, Young hoped to create a better market for American rye farmers.

It was McCarthy, however, who constantly telephoned and heckled the Agriculture Department to reverse the ban on buying Canadian rye. He not only called on Secretary of Agriculture Brannan, but was continually in the Agriculture Department's hair until it knuckled under and began buying Canadian rye.

McCarthy's intense interest in Canadian rye is a puzzle. Furthermore, the million dollars dangled before Ralph Trigg and the multi-million-dollar corner on the rye market, cooked up by the big speculators, also remains a mystery.

NOTE—McCarthy has not speculated in the commodity market under his own name since the 1947 Senate investigation of the commodity market. Previously McCarthy had speculated chiefly in butter. After the 1947 investigation, however, McCarthy struck up an interesting friendship with Ralph Moore, the speculating partner of former Senator Thomas of Oklahoma. It is significant that Moore has been associated in the rye market with Dan Rice, one of the biggest speculators in Canadian rye.

Texas Entrances London

Claude Carter of Harlingen, Texas, went to Paris and London this summer to keep a date with Winston Churchill.

Mr. Carter lives down near the Mexican border, a long way from there to London, but some years ago when he was president of the Texas Bar Association, he met and entertained Winston Churchill. So the distinguished Britisher told him that if he ever came to London, he should look him up.

Claude Carter never forgot that invitation, and apparently Mr. Churchill didn't either. For this summer, wearing his broad-brimmed Texas hat in London, Mr. Carter called up the ex-Prime Minister and was invited to dine at Churchill's club.

Carter tells how he wandered into the writing room, snitched some stationery and wrote his Texas friends from the club of the ex-Prime Minister.

Later at dinner the guests started discussing which of Churchill's many famous speeches was the greatest. Most agreed that it was the "blood, sweat and tears; fight 'em on the beaches" epic. However, the gentleman from Texas interposed this idea.

"Winston," said Mr. Carter, "you made the greatest mistake of your life in that memorable speech. You quoted from many great authorities, including the beloved Kipling. But you missed by a hair's breadth the opportunity to have made the greatest speech in all English history and literature."

"Why?" asked the puzzled Churchill.

"Because you could have quoted from the immortal Shakespeare. You could have used his great line from King John — 'This England never did, nor never shall, lie at the proud foot of a conqueror.'"

Churchill seemed to like the suggestion, said he wished he had had Carter as his ghost writer during the war, even indicated that the only people who conceivably might ever conquer England were Texans.

North Dakota's Champion

For years, the big bull voice of Bill Langer, North Dakota's earthy senator, has been bellowing in the chamber demanding that the State Department name an ambassador from his state.

When, a few days ago, Thomas E. Whelan, a North Dakota business man was nominated to be U. S. ambassador to Nicaragua, the rangy Langer rose to his feet.

Across the aisle, Sen. Bill Benton of Connecticut mildly remarked: "Now that the Senator has achieved his victory, I trust he will spare us his daily oration on the ability of North Dakota's citizens. I'm sure we're all familiar with the subject."

With a broad grin, Langer nodded in agreement.

Inside Washington

WASHINGTON—Look for President Truman to pick someone out of the State Department or a career diplomat to succeed Adm. Alan G. Kirk as ambassador to Communist Russia.

Administration insiders say there is little chance that the President will select a man from private life to take over the job in Moscow, perhaps the most important diplomatic post the United States has to offer.

Best bets now are said to be Charles (Chip) Bohlen, State department Russian expert who is now minister to France, and George Kennan, another Russian expert now on leave from the department.

The President has plenty of time to decide on the new ambassador. Kirk won't retire until autumn and that gives Washington at least two months in which to choose his successor.

Legislation Possible

FIXES—The latest outbreak of exposes on basketball game fixing by Illinois and Ohio teams may soon prompt some of our national legislators to enact a federal law to correct the situation.

Such a measure would punish those who attempt to fix amateur or professional sports events, bribe athletes, and punish the athletes who succumb to bribe offers.

Additionally, the Justice Department is expected to help clean up the mess by asking the National Collegiate Athletic Association to keep its members out of arenas and away from promoters.

The department believes the NCAA should make its member teams play in their own field houses and stay away from televised sports and the lights of the "gay white way."

IQ TROUBLE—The Defense Department is seeking some way to get rid of its fancy system of dividing recruits equally among the services according to their intelligence ratings. The apportionment is just beginning, but already kinks are developing and it is pretty evident that the system won't work.

Military IQ tests divide recruits into four "mental groups," numbered 1, 2, 3, 4, according to the man's score. A score of 93 per cent rates group 1; 65 per cent rates group 2, etc.

The new system says that each service each month must get eight per cent of its recruits from group 1; 32 per cent from group 2; 39 per cent from group 3, and 21 per cent from group 4.

In the first month of the system (May), the Air Force found that more than half of its volunteers were in group 4—the group supposed to furnish only 21 per cent.

Even though shortages in a higher group can be filled from a lower group to the extent of five per cent, the AF couldn't accept all the volunteers. Recruitment fell 15 per cent below the quota, and the first AF use of the draft became almost certain. The Navy is having similar trouble.

TENNIS, ANYONE?—Washington observers generally agree that Mobilization Boss Charles E. Wilson, Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston and Price Control Chief Michael DiSalle are among the hardest workers in the capital. However, that cannot be said for some of the members of the "second layer" of officialdom in the mobilization-stabilization agencies.

For instance, there is reputed to be one group of young officials who find the presence of a set of public tennis courts outside their office windows just too hard to resist.

So, every pleasant afternoon they knock off work, change into sports clothes and have a few fast sets of tennis. Then, the story goes, they repair to the apartment of one of the players to take showers and freshen up before returning to the press of work at their offices.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Mike Quill

New York City is faced by the threat of a unionized police force led by Mike Quill. If Quill succeeds in New York, he will set out to establish a national union of the police forces of all cities in the United States. Organized by such a person, arrogant, blatant, without roots in American life and tradition, it would mean the destruction of police as servants of the people. They would become stooges of Quill's union; expulsion from the union would mean no job and therefore the union could and would dominate the police force.

Mike Quill's public history is no good. He came here an adult after a revolutionary career in Ireland. He went to work in the transit system and in 1934 organized, with the assistance of a group of public Communists, a union of transit workers. There is evidence before the House Committee on UnAmerican Activities that Quill himself was once a member of the Communist party. Quill insists that he is an anti-Communist.

It must be admitted that during Mike Quill's leadership, the wages, conditions of work and general benefits of transit workers improved greatly. But it was accomplished by the most brutal flouting of the public weal, by strikes and threats of strikes, by slowdowns and peril to the health and finances of the city. It was revolutionary trade unionism of the European type.

The police department of New York is no longer "the finest." During the LaGuardia regime, the morale of the department broke down because LaGuardia was playing politics with labor and minority groups whom he favored at the expense of law enforcement.

In the O'Dwyer administration of the city, graft in connection with gambling developed to such unusual proportions that the police department had to be investigated and numbers of the force retired. Thomas F. Murphy, prosecuting attorney in the Hiss case, was appointed police commissioner to clean up the department. He is now, however, on the federal bench. His successor, George P. Monaghan, is an able and alert lawyer.

The seriousness of the situation is that New York is a city of about 8,000,000 people which could, in wartime, fall into the hands of subversive elements who are concentrated there. This city is the heart of all Communist activity in the United States. Although Mike Quill has denounced his former colleagues, the fact that he chooses this precise moment of national peril to head the police, knowing his own record, as he must, is startling.

A police organization should be headed by a person concerning whom there is not a shadow of a doubt. Mike Quill was long associated with Harry Sacher, John Santo, and Austin Hogan in his Transport Workers Union. Harry Sacher is an outstanding Communist lawyer, one of the most obstreperous in the court over which Judge Medina presided and is now in contempt. John Santo has been ordered deported as an undesirable alien and left the country voluntarily.

Quill may have broken with his Communist associates altogether. He may be as white now as new-driven snow. It is, however, difficult to forget that he denied Communist complicity as vociferously as he does today when he was clearly associated with the Communists. It is not possible to know what is in one's heart and mind. Quill could prove his anti-communism by not aiding them to create further disturbances in any part of the United States. Then there would be no doubt as to his attitude.

As it is, he has become a threat to the largest city in our country. He is threatening it with dual control of its police force. He is threatening it with the danger of disorder in the event of a strike, let us say, on its long and important waterfront where Communists, gangsters and dope peddlers are active in various subversive and even revolutionary efforts.

This no time to condone or tolerate such perils for any reason whatsoever. Nor is it a problem limited to New York. If Quill is recognized as heading a police union, hundreds of Quills will arise over the country and they will combine into a powerful, dues-collecting, disciplined national organization. Running a police union could be the country's best racket, particularly if the union wins the usual clause of no dismissal without a trial before union officials. The no dismissal clause is making for decreased efficiency in many industries; it can wreck a police department altogether.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Whoever in Washington is guiding the hand of General Ridgway in the Korean armistice negotiations deserves credit for the fluctuating maneuvers which twice now have resulted in a UN initiative in actually interrupting the talks.

When the negotiations started, the whole world was given the impression by Red propaganda that the UN had sought the chance to quit fighting. It was widely assumed that the UN was so eager to bring the hostilities to an end that almost any status quo proposal from the Chinese would be accepted.

But on two occasions now the UN has shown itself willing to risk the breakdown of the parleys on a principle. Once the demand was made that armed troops must be withdrawn from the town where the peace conversations were taking place. After a brief delay, the Communists accepted the terms demanded.

Now the UN has charged that the truce terms were being violated again by armed troops and once more the Communists have, in effect, backed down and promised to comply.

Possible Propaganda Use

All this leads up to the most important item under consideration—where the armistice line shall be drawn. The UN wants it to be the present defense line and the Communists want the UN forces to retreat to the 38th Parallel. Although the existing defense line is not very far within North Korea and amounts to about the same thing as a stand at the 38th Parallel, nevertheless the use in propaganda that will be made of such a retreat is enough to cause the UN negotiators to decline to agree to the Parallel.

Actually the UN team is employing two very persuasive arguments. One is that to insist on the 38th Parallel is to reintroduce "political questions" which previously have been barred from this particular negotiation. The other is that the line at the 38th Parallel is itself not defensible for either set of belligerents. A further point is made logically that the UN air and sea power actually control the coast lines as well as the air far north of the 38th Parallel and hence to agree to the present defense line is in effect a concession in itself to the Reds.

The climax will come when the argument on the armistice line is finally resolved. The Communists will fuss and fume and perhaps delay further the conclusion of the cease-fire agreement, but in the end they will agree.

Out of it, therefore, will come at least three "victories" for the UN from the propaganda standpoint.

The real victory for the Reds, however, will come later—when the armistice has been concluded and the negotiations for a settlement of the Korean problem begin. There will be no leverage then for either side. The Communists may threaten a resumption of fighting and the UN may imply the same. Realistically speaking, however, neither side will start fighting again when once the cease-fire has taken effect. A stalemate in the negotiations will ensue.

Can Extend Agreement

The Communists are saying they want a time limit of at least a year beyond which the negotiations shall not be carried. There is little reason for the UN to object to this, because at the end of a year, if a settlement has not been reached, the armistice agreement can be extended for an-year by mutual consent.

Meanwhile, it looks as if Korea will remain divided for a long time to come, especially since the UN has formally declared that it will not use military force to secure the pacification or unifying of all Korea. If there is any leverage coming which can possibly influence the Communists to withdraw from Korea, it hasn't appeared yet, though an offer may be expected from the Reds to take all Communist troops out whenever the UN gets out. Once that happens, Korea will be subject to recurrent attacks or infiltration by a North Korean puppet faction which will be aided by the Russian as well as Chinese Communists.

The Korean problem is far away from a solution, and the status that existed in 1950 may go on indefinitely.

Polio In 1951

The incidence of poliomyelitis (infantile paralysis) in 1951 has been running somewhat below the number of cases reported for the corresponding months of 1950 and well below the comparable rate in 1949—the year when the number of cases reported hit an all-time high of 42,173. Tabulation of reports by telegram from state health officers to the U. S. Public Health Service through August 4 showed that 6,843 cases had been reported in the nation thus far in calendar 1951. For the comparable period in 1950, 7,298 cases had been reported; in 1949, 10,719.

Reports for the current "disease year" show the same relationship. The "disease year" for polio begins with the seasonal low, week late in March. The cumulative total for the current disease year is 5,631, as compared with 6,167 for 1950 and 9,806 for 1949.

The number of cases of polio reported annually has been mounting irregularly snce 1915, when only 1,639 cases were reported. An epidemic in 1916 sent the total for that year to 27,363. The number of cases reported annually did not rise above 20,000 again until 1946, when 25,698 cases were reported. Incidence fell to less than half that figure in 1947, but in 1948, 27,902 cases were reported; in 1949, 42,173; in 1950, 33,202.

Reports show some degree of area concentration of the disease. Polio in Texas has been concentrated in seven counties; in Mississippi in four. In other states, such as California, Utah, Colorado, Wisconsin, Illinois, Kansas, and Michigan, a large proportion of cases reported in recent weeks have originated in urban areas.

Today the greatest incidence of polio in the United States occurs in the school-age group, according to Dr. Howard A. Howe, senior member of the Poliomyelitis Research Center at Johns Hopkins University. Twenty years ago polio struck more virulently at the pre-school group. Rates for adults in the United States are still low, in spite of increased reporting. Writing in Harper's magazine, Dr. Howe points out that some cases of polio produce no symptoms and hence go unreported. "Present figures indicate that there are probably at least 100 to 1,000 polio infections for every paralytic case."

Heaviest incidence of polio normally occurs in late summer and early fall. However, in Louisiana polio already appears to have passed its peak for 1951. Polio seems to affect more adolescents and young adults in rural areas than in cities; in urban areas, the disease is more likely to affect children.

A safe vaccine for human beings has yet to be perfected. Preliminary human tests with polio virus are considered reasonably "encouraging," according to Dr. Howe, but the launching of a poliomyelitis vaccination project would still have to be "a vast cooperative enterprise."

An Inspiring Story

An 18-year-old boy, Gilbert Provencher, has been having a successful one-man art show in New York City, in which most of his paintings have been sold at satisfactory prices. Standing alone, that would be evidence merely of precocity. What makes it truly remarkable is that as a boy of 14 he dived into a stream in his native New Hampshire, struck his head on hard bottom and was paralyzed from the shoulders down.

When the lad was examined there was a faint movement of the left shoulder and a faint trace of strength in the biceps of his left arm. These were carefully developed. Always Gilbert had wanted to be a painter. He first tried it with a brush in his teeth, but that was a failure. He did begin to get results with a brush strapped to his left elbow. Most of his paintings are of scenes of his New Hampshire countryside.

For two months this young man has been at the Institute of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation in New York City, where the exhibit has been held. There they are not trying to teach him to paint—he can do that—but to paint better. He has been offered an art fellowship, is assured of a studio of his own and a Christmas card concern will use some of his work.

For amputees who lie in pain in veterans' hospitals, skeptical that as to themselves the wonderful work already accomplished in restoring men to active life will succeed, the story of Gilbert Provencher should bring hope and inspiration.

Fewer Farm Dwellers

The number of persons living on farms in the United States has declined while the population of the whole nation has increased. Today the farm population is about 7½ million lower than 40 years ago while the nation has about 60 million more inhabitants.

Today less than one in every six persons lives on a farm, as against more than one in every three persons 40 years ago. At the time of the Civil War about three in every four Americans lived on farms.

Although the farm population has declined, relatively, over the decades, it has increased in certain specific years. In 1920 and 1946, for instance, when millions of men were demobilized from the Army. Also in the depression years of 1931, 1932, and 1933—many sons and daughters of farmers went back home to Pop for enough food to eat and a roof over their heads after they had lost their jobs in the city.

The Census Bureau distinguishes between farm population and rural population. According to the Census definition, the rural population is all that which doesn't live in a city or town of at least 2,500 inhabitants. And with the growth of the automobile and the expansion of bus routes, the rural non-farm population these days is almost as large as the rural farm population.

Overdue Reprisals

Suspension by Washington of tariff concessions to the Soviet Union and all other Communst-dominated states is dictated by consideration of self-respect. It is amazing that no one in authority in Washington thought of this before.

To have continued to regard these nations as friendly and thus entitled to special benefits would have been a gross perversion of truth and facts.

Because trade with the Red countries is already sharply limited, and has been ever since lend-lease and UNRRA shipments to them tapered off, the President's belated action will not have the damaging effect which most Americans would like to see. Nevertheless it is notice to the enemy and to the world in general that the United States at last intends to visit such reprisals as lie within its power upon governments which are guilty of physical attacks upon American citizens—as in the Oatis case in Czechoslovakia.

Unfortunately, there is no expectation that the step taken will cause either Russia or any of her satellites to mend their ways.

Iron Loss In Perspiration

During the last few years chemists have see-sawed on the answer to a problem dealing with perspiration. One group found that in addition to salt, we lost much iron in sweat. Other authorities have decided that the amount is so negligible it can hardly be measured.

The practical aspects of this situation are obvious but why are scientists unable to agree? This sounds like a simple experiment but it is doubtful whether one person in a thousand has any idea how difficult it is to measure the perspiration loss, let alone the percentage of iron or calcium the fluid contains. To begin with, sweat must be collected. This is not easy because evaporation takes place; furthermore, iron laden dust particles in the air might contaminate the body surface.

Recently several nutritionists at Cornell university engaged in this project. Four college women served as subjects, each for four periods of approximately one hour. They began by taking a good bath in hot soapy water and the hair was wrapper in cheesecloth to prevent dripping of perspiration from the scalp. From here they entered the sweating chamber and stood there until perspiration appeared on the back of the hands. The co-eds were rinsed with hot tap water, then with hot distilled water, and patted dry with a clean towel. Presumably this was done to cleanse the sweat pores and to remove loose skin cells which contain iron and might contaminate the sweat. The girls walked on a pathway of towels to a scale where weight was recorded, then sat in an enameled pan that had been placed on a chair, and put their feet in another pan. They remained there for one hour while perspiration was collected in the pans.

At the end of this period the temperature and humidity of the room were lowered to stop perspiration and the subjects were weighed and rinsed six to eight times with distilled water. This fluid too, was collected, in order to obtain perspiration from all parts of the body except the scalp, and turned over to the chemists. The perspiration and the rinse water were filtered and frozen and miscroscopic studies were done to determine whether the solutions contained skin cells, but few were present. The material finally was boiled down to an ash, and iron and calcium determinations were made from the residue.

In this experiment a moderate loss of calcium and iron occurred. The research workers felt that it was not enough to become excited about. They wrote: "Losses of calcium and iron of the magnitude found in this study are such as to indicate that the intake of the average woman engaging in average activity under average conditions of temperature and humidity must be increased a little to cover them." They believed that iron tablets were not necessary because the standard requirements for iron and calcium, as recommended by the National Research council, were higher than necessary. On the other hand, those living in the tropics or in the temperate zone during the warm season might need additional iron from time to time to make up the deficit. This is especially true when a person is engaged in heavy work or perspires more than usual.

AURA OF EPILEPSY

S. G. writes: Does an epileptic on the verge of an attack realize that it is coming, giving him enough time to run into the next room?

REPLY

Yes, there is a warning but there is hardly enough time to run into the next room. Most victims are satisfied if they can ease themselves into a chair or on to the floor to decrease the danger of injury when unconsciousness occurs. This premonition is referred to as the aura and frequently manifests itself in the form of seeing lights, hearing strange noises, and smelling peculiar odors.

EYELID IRRITATION

T. W. writes: What causes tiny, pimple like swellings on the eyelids? They rub against the eyeball and cause pain.

REPLY

You probably refer to tiny concretions that plug the openings of the glands in the eyelids. They cause the same type of irritation on the eyeball as a speck of dust or a cinder. Sometimes it is necessary to consult an eye physician when they refuse to budge and continue to irritate.

HEART ATTACKS

E. M. S. writes: Can a person with a good heart have a heart attack or is it only people with bad hearts that are afflicted?

REPLY

Most individuals who have encountered a heart attack (coronary thrombosis) have hardening of the coronary arteries. They may not realize it and think that the pumping apparatus is normal. Furthermore, tests may not demonstrate the true condition of the coronary arteries. For this reason, the victim of a heart attack may be surprised because he was unaware of what was going on behind the scenes.

Elks Lack Money For MacArthur's Cadillac; Official Offered Million Dollars To Buy Canadian Rye; Texan Reminds Churchill Of Shakespeare Quote

WASHINGTON—That shiny new Cadillac presented by the Elks Club of Houston to General MacArthur when he visited Texas still isn't paid for. The car cost $5,700 and the Elks, in their enthusiasm, figured the money would be easy to raise. So they presented the car to MacArthur and figured on paying for it later.

When the last appeal for funds was issued, however, MacArthur's popularity seemed to be on the wane, and only $1,286 of the $5,700 was in the Elks' kitty. Here is the letter sent out by Phil Hamburger, chairman of the MacArthur Gift Fund, Houston Lodge No. 151, BOP Elks:

"You doubtless are familiar with the fact that during General MacArthur's visit to Houston he received as a gift from the Elks and friends a black 7-passenger Cadillac sedan. . .

"The purchase of this car at a cost of $5,700 was undertaken by members of the Elks and friends, and at the present time we have only raised $1,286, and since we are in need of more funds the purpose of this letter is to afford you an opportunity to be listed as a contributor to the gift fund.

"The ownership certificate to the car will be forwarded to General MacArthur along with an appropriate scroll bearing the names of all contributors, and the list of names is being closed out when the amount of $5,700 is received."

Rye Speculating

A little more information has leaked out regarding the huge speculation in rye, and the sudden reversal of the Agriculture Department's ban on Canadian rye. An offer of a million dollars was dangled before Ralph Trigg, formerly in charge of all rye purchases, if he would buy Canadian rye. Trigg said no.

However, last spring, after Trigg got out, his policy was reversed and the U. S. Government bought up a large quantity of Canadian rye mixed with U. S. rye.

It is now learned that two senators pressured the Agriculture Department to bring about this change—Young of North Dakota and McCarthy of Wisconsin, both Republicans. Minnesota's two senators — Humphrey, Democrat, and Thye, Republican—sat in on one meeting regarding rye. However, they attended at the urging of McCarthy and did nothing more than put in an appearance.

Senator Young, who comes from a big rye-producing state, wanted to ban rye imports from Canada altogether. Since Canadian rye was already mixed with American rye in northwest grain elevators, however, Young agreed that the government should buy this Canadian rye in order to reduce the surplus. By getting rid of the surplus and by banning future rye shipments from Canada, Young hoped to create a better market for American rye farmers.

It was McCarthy, however, who constantly telephoned and heckled the Agriculture Department to reverse the ban on buying Canadian rye. He not only called on Secretary of Agriculture Brannan, but was continually in the Agriculture Department's hair until it knuckled under and began buying Canadian rye.

McCarthy's intense interest in Canadian rye is a puzzle. Furthermore, the million dollars dangled before Ralph Trigg and the multi-million-dollar corner on the rye market, cooked up by the big speculators, also remains a mystery.

NOTE—McCarthy has not speculated in the commodity market under his own name since the 1947 Senate investigation of the commodity market. Previously McCarthy had speculated chiefly in butter. After the 1947 investigation, however, McCarthy struck up an interesting friendship with Ralph Moore, the speculating partner of former Senator Thomas of Oklahoma. It is significant that Moore has been associated in the rye market with Dan Rice, one of the biggest speculators in Canadian rye.

Texas Entrances London

Claude Carter of Harlingen, Texas, went to Paris and London this summer to keep a date with Winston Churchill.

Mr. Carter lives down near the Mexican border, a long way from there to London, but some years ago when he was president of the Texas Bar Association, he met and entertained Winston Churchill. So the distinguished Britisher told him that if he ever came to London, he should look him up.

Claude Carter never forgot that invitation, and apparently Mr. Churchill didn't either. For this summer, wearing his broad-brimmed Texas hat in London, Mr. Carter called up the ex-Prime Minister and was invited to dine at Churchill's club.

Carter tells how he wandered into the writing room, snitched some stationery and wrote his Texas friends from the club of the ex-Prime Minister.

Later at dinner the guests started discussing which of Churchill's many famous speeches was the greatest. Most agreed that it was the "blood, sweat and tears; fight 'em on the beaches" epic. However, the gentleman from Texas interposed this idea.

"Winston," said Mr. Carter, "you made the greatest mistake of your life in that memorable speech. You quoted from many great authorities, including the beloved Kipling. But you missed by a hair's breadth the opportunity to have made the greatest speech in all English history and literature."

"Why?" asked the puzzled Churchill.

"Because you could have quoted from the immortal Shakespeare. You could have used his great line from King John — 'This England never did, nor never shall, lie at the proud foot of a conqueror.'"

Churchill seemed to like the suggestion, said he wished he had had Carter as his ghost writer during the war, even indicated that the only people who conceivably might ever conquer England were Texans.

North Dakota's Champion

For years, the big bull voice of Bill Langer, North Dakota's earthy senator, has been bellowing in the chamber demanding that the State Department name an ambassador from his state.

When, a few days ago, Thomas E. Whelan, a North Dakota business man was nominated to be U. S. ambassador to Nicaragua, the rangy Langer rose to his feet.

Across the aisle, Sen. Bill Benton of Connecticut mildly remarked: "Now that the Senator has achieved his victory, I trust he will spare us his daily oration on the ability of North Dakota's citizens. I'm sure we're all familiar with the subject.

With a broad grin, Langer nodded in agreement.

Inside Washington

WASHINGTON—Look for President Truman to pick someone out of the State Department or a career diplomat to succeed Adm. Alan G. Kirk as ambassador to Communist Russia.

Administration insiders say there is little chance that the President will select a man from private life to take over the job in Moscow, perhaps the most important diplomatic post the United States has to offer.

Best bets now are said to be Charles (Chip) Bohlen, State department Russian expert who is now minister to France, and George Kennan, another Russian expert now on leave from the department.

The President has plenty of time to decide on the new ambassador. Kirk won't retire until autumn and that gives Washington at least two months in which to choose his successor.

Legislation Possible

FIXES—The latest outbreak of exposes on basketball game fixing by Illinois and Ohio teams may soon prompt some of our national legislators to enact a federal law to correct the situation.

Such a measure would punish those who attempt to fix amateur or professional sports events, bribe athletes, and punish the athletes who succumb to bribe offers.

Additionally, the Justice Department is expected to help clean up the mess by asking the National Collegiate Athletic Association to keep its members out of arenas and away from promoters.

The department believes the NCAA should make its member teams play in their own field houses and stay away from televised sports and the lights of the "gay white way."

IQ TROUBLE—The Defense Department is seeking some way to get rid of its fancy system of dividing recruits equally among the services according to their intelligence ratings. The apportionment is just beginning, but already kinks are developing and it is pretty evident that the system won't work.

Military IQ tests divide recruits into four "mental groups," numbered 1, 2, 3, 4, according to the man's score. A score of 93 per cent rates group 1; 65 per cent rates group 2, etc.

The new system says that each service each month must get eight per cent of its recruits from group 1; 32 per cent from group 2; 39 per cent from group 3, and 21 per cent from group 4.

In the first month of the system (May), the Air Force found that more than half of its volunteers were in group 4—the group supposed to furnish only 21 per cent.

Even though shortages in a higher group can be filled from a lower group to the extent of five per cent, the AF couldn't accept all the volunteers. Recruitment fell 15 per cent below the quota, and the first AF use of the draft became almost certain. The Navy is having similar trouble.

TENNIS, ANYONE? — Washington observers generally agree that Mobilization Boss Charles E. Wilson, Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston and Price Control Chief Michael DiSalle are among the hardest workers in the capital. However, that cannot be said for some of the members of the "second layer" of officialdom in the mobilization-stabilization agencies.

For instance, there is reputed to be one group of young officials who find the presence of a set of public tennis courts outside their office windows just too hard to resist.

So, every pleasant afternoon they knock off work, change into sports clothes and have a few fast sets of tennis. Then, the story goes, they repair to the apartment of one of the players to take showers and freshen up before returning to the press of work at their offices.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Mike Quill

New York City is faced by the threat of a unionized police force led by Mike Quill. If Quill succeeds in New York, he will set out to establish a national union of the police forces of all cities in the United States. Organized by such a person, arrogant, blatant, without roots in American life and tradition, it would mean the destruction of police as servants of the people. They would become stooges of Quill's union; expulsion from the union would mean no job and therefore the union could and would dominate the police force.

Mike Quill's public history is no good. He came here an adult after a revolutionary career in Ireland. He went to work in the transit system and in 1934 organized, with the assistance of a group of public Communists, a union of transit workers. There is evidence before the House Committee on UnAmerican Activities that Quill himself was once a member of the Communist party. Quill insists that he is an anti-Communist.

It must be admitted that during Mike Quill's leadership, the wages, conditions of work and general benefits of transit workers improved greatly. But it was accomplished by the most brutal flouting of the public weal, by strikes and threats of strikes, by slowdowns and peril to the health and finances of the city. It was revolutionary trade unionism of the European type.

The police department of New York is no longer "the finest." During the LaGuardia regime, the morale of the department broke down because LaGuardia was playing politics with labor and minority groups whom he favored at the expense of law enforcement.

In the O'Dwyer administration of the city, graft in connection with gambling developed to such unusual proportions that the police department had to be investigated and numbers of the force retired. Thomas F. Murphy, prosecuting attorney in the Hiss case, was appointed police commissioner to clean up the department. He is now, however, on the federal bench. His successor, George P. Monaghan, is an able and alert lawyer.

The seriousness of the situation is that New York is a city of about 8,000,000 people which could, in wartime, fall into the hands of subversive elements who are concentrated there. This city is the heart of all Communist activity in the United States. Although Mike Quill has denounced his former colleagues, the fact that he chooses this precise moment of national peril to head the police, knowing his own record, as he must, is startling.

A police organization should be headed by a person concerning whom there is not a shadow of a doubt. Mike Quill was long associated with Harry Sacher, John Santo, and Austin Hogan in his Transport Workers Union. Harry Sacher is an outstanding Communist lawyer, one of the most obstreperous in the court over which Judge Medina presided and is now in contempt. John Santo has been ordered deported as an undesirable alien and left the country voluntarily.

Quill may have broken with his Communist associates altogether. He may be as white now as new-driven snow. It is, however, difficult to forget that he denied Communist complicity as vociferously as he does today when he was clearly associated with the Communists. It is not possible to know what is in one's heart and mind. Quill could prove his anti-communism by not aiding them to create further disturbances in any part of the United States. Then there would be no doubt as to his attitude.

As it is, he has become a threat to the largest city in our country. He is threatening it with dual control of its police force. He is threatening it with the danger of disorder in the event of a strike, let us say, on its long and important waterfront where Communists, gangsters and dope peddlers are active in various subversive and even revolutionary efforts.

This no time to condone or tolerate such perils for any reason whatsoever. Nor is it a problem limited to New York. If Quill is recognized as heading a police union, hundreds of Quills will arise over the country and they will combine into a powerful, dues-collecting, disciplined national organization. Running a police union could be the country's best racket, particularly if the union wins the usual clause of no dismissal without a trial before union officials. The no dismissal clause is making for decreased efficiency in many industries; it can wreck a police department altogether.

The other is that the line at the 38th Parallel is itself not defensible for either set of belligerents. A further point is made logically that the UN air and sea power actually control the coast lines as well as the air far north of the 38th Parallel and hence to agree to the present defense line is in effect a concession in itself to the Reds.

The climax will come when the argument on the armistice line is finally resolved. The Communists will fuss and fume and perhaps delay further the conclusion of the cease-fire agreement, but in the end they will agree.

Out of it, therefore, will come at least three "victories" for the UN from the propaganda standpoint.

The real victory for the Reds, however, will come later—when the armistice has been concluded and the negotiations for a settlement of the Korean problem begin. There will be no leverage then for either side. The Communists may threaten a resumption of fighting and the UN may imply the same. Realistically speaking, however, neither side will start fighting again when once the cease-fire has taken effect. A stalemate in the negotiations will ensue.

Can Extend Agreement

The Communists are saying they want a time limit of at least a year beyond which the negotiations shall not be carried. There is little reason for the UN to object to this, because at the end of a year, if a settlement has not been reached, the armistice agreement can be extended for an year by mutual consent.

Meanwhile, it looks as if Korea will remain divided for a long time to come, especially since the UN has formally declared that it will not use military force to secure the pacification or unifying of all Korea. If there is any leverage coming which can possibly influence the Communists to withdraw from Korea, it hasn't appeared yet, though an offer may be expected from the Reds to take all Communist troops out whenever the UN gets out. Once that happens, Korea will be subject to recurrent attacks or infiltration by a North Korean puppet faction which will be aided by the Russian as well as Chinese Communists.

The Korean problem is far away from a solution, and the status that existed in 1950 may go on indefinitely.

Hearing Planned Here On Trout Fishing Laws

The Maryland Game and Inland Fish Commission will hold a public hearing in Cumberland on October 12 at which time discussion will be concerned with the clarification of the trout laws and regulations and additional revisions which are essential to wise fishery management.

The following subjects will be submitted for discussion:

1. The extension of the present closing date on trout fishing from July 15 to November 15. In other words the trout season would be from April 15 to November 15. This appears to be a wise suggestion since there is a large hold over of trout after the season closes on July 15 which are lost due to a lack of water.

2. Change size limit on trout from 7 to 6 inches. (This does not mean a change in hatchery operations and reduction in size of fish produced).

3. Reduce creel limit, all species of trout from the present 10 to five. In extending the season for the taking of trout to November 15, the commission feels that the daily creel limit should be reduced to five inasmuch as we are stocking larger fish than our neighboring states and sportsmen will agree that five large trout per day is an ample return for the price of $1.50.

4. Clarification of existing law or policy:

(a) What trout streams should be permanently established as fishing areas from their source to a designated point down stream, all branches inclusive, (decreed annually by commission at October meeting.)

(b) What trout streams should be temporary (put and take streams) from the up-stream designated boundary to the down-stream boundary, branches inclusive.

Proposed trout stream delineation:

Garrett county — permanent streams. Entire Savage River (Watershed) source to mouth (all branches inclusive), Laurel Run watershed (Schell), Salt Block watershed, White Rock watershed, Bear Creek watershed, Mill Run watershed, Muddy Creek watershed and Puzzley Run watershed.

Temporary streams include Little Yough River, Cherry Creek, Piney Run, Shields' Run, Laurel Run (Kempton), Laurel Run (White Rock), Hoyes Run, Spring Lick Run and Glade Run.

Allegany county — permanent streams include Evitts Creek Watershed — to Route No. 40, Flintstone Creek watershed, Mill Run watershed, Winebrenner Run watershed, Staub Run watershed, Mathew Run watershed, Neff Run watershed, Koontz Run watershed, Rock Run watershed, Jennings Branch watershed — to Jennings stream on Mt. Savage Road — State Highway No. 36, Mill Stone Run watershed and Collier watershed. No temporary streams.

Two Are Rescued In House Fire

A South End woman and her young son, clad in night clothing, were rescued from their burning home by neighbors yesterday as firemen of three companies rushed to the scene.

Fire broke out about 3:15 a.m. at the six-room frame residence of Earl E. Smith, 132 East Mary Street, and flames quickly blocked escape routes for his wife and 10-year-old boy, Emory.

Taken From Porch Roof

The pair ran to a front porch roof and were evacuated by two men identified as George Weltman and J. N. Barrett.

Smith, who was seriously hurt several years ago in a fall down an elevator shaft, managed to get out of the burning structure covered with composition siding.

South End firemen answered the first alarm at 3:26 a.m. Central responded four minutes later with the pumper and hook-and-ladder trucks. Then East Side Company No. 4 was called in to aid in battling flames.

Fire fighters spent more than two hours fighting flames which originated in the southeast corner of the living room and spread through partitions to the roof top. Defective wiring was blamed.

Youth Is Paroled

Virgil Arthur Taylor, 19, of Route 3, Valley Road, drew a suspended sentence of six months in the Maryland House of Correction Wednesday when he pleaded guilty to stealing a watch valued at $25.

Police said Taylor took the watch after breaking a display window early Sunday at the Marple Jewelry Store.

Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick paroled the youth for two years and told him to make restitution for damage.

County Denies Boost In Grants To Volunteer Fire Companies

Spokesmen for the volunteer fire companies in the county were informed yesterday of the decision of the Board of Allegany County Commissioners not to grant a $200 increase in appropriations to each of the units still stands.

Nelson J. Russler, of Chapel Hill Hose Company, and Lamar Minnicks, of Bowman's Addition Volunteer Fire Company, appeared before the board yesterday.

They said the county firemen's association committee had informed them the commissioners in April said they would consider a $200 increase in September.

However, Board President William H. Lemmert pointed out the commissioners had in April appropriated $10,000 for Civil Defense and after a thorough study of each fire company's financial statement had decided then the county could not grant the requested $200 to each unit.

Delay Repair Program

In other board action, the bids for improvements to county buildings, the first in a four-year program, were tabled until the Tuesday meeting.

Only one bidder, the George Construction Company, submitted figures on the repair work.

The firm's bid for installation of a fire escape at the County Home was $5,956; repair of the south wall of the County Jail, $4,374, and repair of all the windows in the Welfare Board Building, $6,900.

Approve Jap Beetle Funds

The board also approved the appropriation of $1,132.50 for Japanese beetle control. Ralph F. McHenry county farm agent, had received information from George S. Langford, specialist in insect control for the State Horticulture Department, that state funds on this work were virtually exhausted.

Langford asked McHenry to have the county commissioners allocate money for Japanese beetle control that had been provided for in the 1951-52 appropriations for the county.

Robert Leasure, of Route 3, requested the commissioners to look into his problem of having water drain on his property from the Y intersection of the Union Grove Road, also known as Smouse's Mill Road, and Route 220.

Walker D. Chapman, county roads supervisor, was instructed to visit the scene and make recommendations.

Additional Data Asked In School Salary Study

The Legislative Council's subcommittee studying teachers wages in the state has asked the Board of Allegany County Commissioners for supplemental information on the county's situation in regards to this problem.

Dr. Carl N. Everstine, assistant director of research for the council, pointed out in his letter that after the sectional hearings were held to sound out public sentiment in the state on the question, the sub-committee desired additional information and opinions on relative matter.

The sub-committee will report its findings before the February session of the General Assembly, he stated.

Here is some of the information the sub-committee desires:

The salary range of teachers in the county with bachelor's degrees; do the commissioners think this an adequate pay, considering the needs of teachers as individuals as well as the needs of the community for good public education.

If the board does not consider the scale adequate, what would be an adequate wage in its opinion.

The assessable basis of the real property in the county; the current tax rate; how much a one-cent tax rate would raise; should the wage increase be borne by the counties or by the state.

If by the state, what form of taxation should be used to finance it; if by the state, does the board think there should be a corresponding increase in the state's control over the county public school systems.

Suggestions on the solution of the problem were also asked.

Some mine-laying ships are able to carry as many as 400 mines at one time.

Eagles To Hold Picnic September 2

The annual picnic of Cumberland Aerie No. 245, F. O. Eagles, will be held Sunday, September 2 at Fairgo.

Officials of the organization, which has 3,400 members, expect guests from 30 Aeries in this section.

The program will include balloon busting, horseshoes, softball games, pie-eating contests and several special features to be announced on the grounds.

Three Are Inducted Into Marine Corps

Three of 17 draftees who left here Monday were inducted into the Marine Corps.

They are Henry Walter Roberson, 608 Ann Place; Charles Joseph Will, 318 Prince George Street, and George Allen Smith, Winchester, Va., formerly of Route 2, Williams Road.

P. Emmett Fahey, clerk coordinator, said the "Marine inductions" were the first to be reported here.

Gay DeNike Betrothed To Frederic Brandt Griffith, Jr.

Wedding To Be September 15

Mr. and Mrs. George Edward DeNike, Winter Park, Fla., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Gay DeNike, to Frederic Brandt Griffith, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Brandt Griffith, 808 Memorial Avenue.

The wedding ceremony is to be solemnized September 15 at 7 p. m., in St. Andrews Episcopal Church, College Park, with Rev. Acton officiating.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Montgomery Blair High School, Silver Spring. She attended the University of Maryland where she was a member of Delta Delta Delta.

Her fiance is a graduate of East School, Aurora, Ill., and was attending Wentworth Military Academy, Lexington, Mo., when he was inducted in the Army Air Corps, in which he served for 18 months. Mr. Griffith was graduated from the University of Maryland last Spring. While there he was a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon. He is associated with the Department of Justice.

The wedding reception is being held in a hotel in Washington following the ceremony.

Melvin Group Plans Outing

The Women's Society of Christian Service of Melvin Methodist Church held a meeting and outing Wednesday at Constitution Park.

Mrs. Robert Golden presided at the business session. It was decided to hold the next meeting at the home of Mrs. Robert Streett, Christie Road, in the form of a corn roast, September 12.

Concluding the evening a wiener roast was held.

Those present were Rev. and Mrs. B. F. Hartman, Mrs. Streett, Mrs. Alan Speir, Mrs. Robert Eyler, Mrs. Carl Smith, Mrs. Margaret Smith, Mrs. Mary Zais, Mrs. Sally Leasure, Mrs. Grace Alderton, Mrs. Mary Valentine and Mrs. Howard Northcraft.

Visitors were Varol Newman, Mary Newman and Jeanette McDonald.

Bride-Elect Entertained

Miss Corrinne Smith was hostess for a miscellaneous shower honoring Miss Ann Cecelia Denkenberger Thursday evening. It was held at her home, Regina Avenue.

Miss Denkenberger, daughter of Mr and Mrs. Edward Denkenberger, Winchester Road, is the fiancee of Robert Hammersmith, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hammersmith, 615 Columbia Avenue. Their wedding ceremony is to be performed September 1.

The hostess carried out the bridal motif in her decorations. She had two white wedding bells tied to the chandelier in the living room. From them cascaded pink streamers to the gifts. The same theme was repeated in the dining room with silver bells and a shower of pink streamers to the table, which was centered with a tiered white cake, topped with a miniature bride.

The evening was spent informally and the hostess was assisted in serving by her mother, Mrs. Chandler F. Smith.

Guests were Miss Deloris Robertson, Miss Hilda Holt, Miss Joan Bennett, Miss Janet Keyes, Miss Joyce Mae Dick, Mrs. Ruth Grabenstein and Miss Shirley Weaver.

Marriage Announced

The marriage of Miss Merrie E. Ross, Columbus, Ohio, to Charles S. Detrick, Route 1, Ridgeley, has been announced.

Rev. J. W. Dickerhoff performed the ceremony July 31 in Winchester, Va. Mr. and Mrs. John Ross, brother-in-law and sister of the bride, were their attendants.

Prospective Bride Is Honored

Miss Mary Riggleman and Mrs. Rebecca Collins entertained in complement to Miss Mary Louise Collins with a surprise miscellaneous shower earlier in the week at Mrs. Collins' home, Maplewood Lane.

Miss Collins is the fiancee of Harry Kenneth Hensel and will become his bride tomorrow. The ceremony is to be performed in St. John's Lutheran Church by Rev. Donald F. Brake.

The hostesses used a pink and white color scheme in their decorations. A sprinkling can was suspended over the gifts with a shower of pink and white streamers cascading from it to the gifts. The same colors were repeated in the flowers centering the buffet lunch table. Candelabra of white tapers were at either end.

The evening was spent informally.

Guests were Mrs. Doris Orndorff, Mrs. Jeanette Hartung, Mrs. Howard Hensel, Mrs. Iva Kennedy, Mrs. Richard Collins, Mrs. Robert Appell, Miss Sadie McIntosh, Miss Louise Cessna, Miss Cathleen Daugherty, Miss Norma Wilson and Miss Lenore Cross.

Semi-Monthly Master Point Night Held

A two section Mitchell Movement featured the opening session of the monthly "Second Thursday Master Point Night", which was held in conjunction with the second session of the New Cumberland Country Club series. Play was at the club Thursday night, sponsored by the Cumberland Duplicate Bridge Club.

In Section A a seven table movement was used. Winning teams were North and South, Mrs. Loraine Eisenberg and Mrs. Russell Bortz; second, Robert Dezen and Richard Schwab; third, Gassaway Shores and Henry Growden, Keyser, and fourth, Rev. Leo W. Hewitt and Mrs. J. A. Griffin.

Mary Louise Collins To Be Bride Of Harry K. Hensel

Wedding To Be Performed Sunday

Miss Mary Louise Collins, daughter of Richard Collins, 308 Pennsylvania Avenue, is to become the bride of Harry Kenneth Hensel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hensel, 171 Thomas Street, tomorrow.

The wedding ceremony will be solemnized at 2:30 o'clock in St. John's Lutheran Church, with Rev. Donald F. Brake officiating. The church is being decorated with standards of white gladioli against a background of palms.

Mrs. Rebecca Collins is to be her niece's matron of honor and only attendant. Carl Reuschel will serve as Mr. Hensel's best man while Walter Orndorff and Chester Collins are the ushers.

A program of nuptial music is to be played by Miss Mary Louise Bender, who will also play the traditional wedding processional from the opera Lohengrin and Mendelssohn's recessional. She is to accompany James Hager, who will sing, "O Promise Me," "Because," and during the ceremony, "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride is wearing a white lace wedding gown fashioned with a mandarin neckline, long pointed sleeves and floor length full skirt. Her waist length veil of white lace, trimmed with seed pearls is held by a cornet of pearls. Completing her costume she is carrying a bouquet of assorted white flowers.

Her matron of honor is wearing a pink net gown trimmed in lace. She will have a headdress of net and natural flowers, matching her bouquet of assorted flowers.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Fort Hill High School and is employed in the office of the Cumberland Transit Company.

Her fiancee is a graduate of Fort Hill High School and is employed by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company.

Mr. Collins is entertaining with a wedding reception for his daughter and her bridal party at the Ali Ghan City Club, immediately following the ceremony. Standards of white flowers are being used in the decorations and the bridal motif is to be carried out in the tiered wedding cake, adorned with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

For traveling the bride has chosen a gray and yellow costume. Upon their return from their wedding trip Mr. Hansel and his bride will reside at 15 North Lee Street.

Receives Fellowship

Mrs Glenn H. Blayney, Jr., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Arthur Statler, 215 Maryland Avenue, has been awarded the Fulbright Fellowship by the Government, for research at Oxford University, England. The fellowship to study English Literature in the United Kingdom is the most coveted of the Fulbright awards.

A graduate of Fort Hill High School, Mrs. Blayney received her B. A., Summa Cum Laude, from Western Maryland College in 1947; and her M. A. from the University of Pennsylvania in 1949. She has been teaching English language and literature at the University of Colorado, Boulder, since September 1949. In September 1950 her article, "The Analogues of Chaucer's Prioress' Tall," was published by the Modern Language Association.

Gay DeNike Betrothed To Frederic Brandt Griffith, Jr.

Wedding To Be September 15

Mr. and Mrs. George Edward DeNike, Winter Park, Fla., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Gay DeNike, to Frederic Brandt Griffith, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Brandt Griffith, 808 Memorial Avenue.

The wedding ceremony is to be solemnized September 15 at 7 p. m., in St. Andrews Episcopal Church, College Park, with Rev. Acton officiating.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Montgomery Blair High School, Silver Spring. She attended the University of Maryland where she was a member of Delta Delta Delta.

Her fiance is a graduate of East School, Aurora, Ill., and was attending Wentworth Military Academy, Lexington, Mo., when he was inducted in the Army Air Corps, in which he served for 18 months. Mr. Griffith was graduated from the University of Maryland last Spring. While there he was a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon. He is associated with the Department of Justice.

The wedding reception is being held in a hotel in Washington following the ceremony.

Melvin Group Plans Outing

The Women's Society of Christian Service of Melvin Methodist Church held a meeting and outing Wednesday at Constitution Park.

Mrs. Robert Golden presided at the business session. It was decided to hold the next meeting at the home of Mrs. Robert Streett, Christie Road, in the form of a corn roast, September 12.

Concluding the evening a wiener roast was held.

Those present were Rev. and Mrs. B. F. Hartman, Mrs. Streett, Mrs. Alan Speir, Mrs. Robert Eyler, Mrs. Carl Smith, Mrs. Margaret Smith, Mrs. Mary Zais, Mrs. Sally Leasure, Mrs. Grace Alderton, Mrs. Mary Valentine and Mrs. Howard Northcraft.

Visitors were Varol Newman, Mary Newman and Jeanette McDonald.

Bride-Elect Entertained

Miss Corrinne Smith was hostess for a miscellaneous shower honoring Miss Ann Cecelia Denkenberger Thursday evening. It was held at her home, Regina Avenue.

Miss Denkenberger, daughter of Mr and Mrs. Edward Denkenberger, Winchester Road, is the fiancee of Robert Hammersmith, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hammersmith, 615 Columbia Avenue. Their wedding ceremony is to be performed September 1.

The hostess carried out the bridal motif in her decorations. She had two white wedding bells tied to the chandelier in the living room. From them cascaded pink streamers to the gifts. The same theme was repeated in the dining room with silver bells and a shower of pink streamers to the table, which was centered with a tiered white cake, topped with a miniature bride.

The evening was spent informally and the hostess was assisted in serving by her mother, Mrs. Chandler F. Smith.

Guests were Miss Deloris Robertson, Miss Hilda Holt, Miss Joan Bennett, Miss Janet Keyes, Miss Joyce Mae Dick, Mrs. Ruth Grabenstein and Miss Shirley Weaver.

Marriage Announced

The marriage of Miss Merrie E. Ross, Columbus, Ohio, to Charles S. Detrick, Route 1, Ridgeley, has been announced.

Rev. J. W. Dickerhoff performed the ceremony July 31 in Winchester, Va. Mr. and Mrs. John Ross, brother-in-law and sister of the bride, were their attendants.

Prospective Bride Is Honored

Miss Mary Riggleman and Mrs. Rebecca Collins entertained in complement to Miss Mary Louise Collins with a surprise miscellaneous shower earlier in the week at Mrs. Collins' home, Maplewood Lane.

Miss Collins is the fiancee of Harry Kenneth Hensel and will become his bride tomorrow. The ceremony is to be performed in St. John's Lutheran Church by Rev. Donald F. Brake.

The hostesses used a pink and white color scheme in their decorations. A sprinkling can was suspended over the gifts with a shower of pink and white streamers cascading from it to the gifts. The same colors were repeated in the flowers centering the buffet lunch table. Candelabra of white tapers were at either end.

The evening was spent informally.

Guests were Mrs. Doris Orndorff, Mrs. Jeanette Hartung, Mrs. Howard Hensel, Mrs. Iva Kennedy, Mrs. Richard Collins, Mrs. Robert Appell, Miss Sadie McIntosh, Miss Louise Cessna, Miss Cathleen Daugherty, Miss Norma Wilson and Miss Lenore Cross.

Coroner's Jury In Parsons Fails To Reach Verdict

Cause Of Man's Death Unsettled

PARSONS, W. Va.—A coroner's jury, after holding three sessions at the Court House here, was unable to reach a verdict as to the cause of the death of Robert Rexrode, 81, whose badly-decomposed body was found June 25 on a hill near here.

Six-Man Jury

The six-man jury returned its inconclusive verdict yesterday. Members of the jury were John Wade, foreman; R. B. Kyle, Harold Lanham, Carl Lanham, W. J. Bonner and James E. Little.

Justice of the Peace Stark Coberly, who acted as coroner at the jury's three sessions, said another jury will be called, probably next week.

Rexrode, who had been a patient in Nelle Rest Home here, had been missing since April 7.

Three Witnesses

Three witnesses testified before the coroner's jury. They were Dr. Guy H. Michael, county health officer, who viewed the body; Miss Selma Swearington, former nurse's aide at the rest home, who first identified the body, and Charles Junior Loughry, 13-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Loughry. Young Loughry told the jurors that he and others had played and had erected a shed near the place where Rexrode's body was found. He stated that they had played there during May and the first week of June and had not seen Rexrode's body during that time.

Sheriff D. E. Crosten has received a report from J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, that microscopic and chemical examination of a hole discovered in Rexrode's pants failed to disclose any powder refuse which would indicate that a gunshot had caused the hole.

Prizes Given In Doll Show

WESTERNPORT — Seven prizes were awarded at a parade and doll show Thursday at Dixon Park Playground, Oak View.

The program opened with a parade led by the Junior Band, sponsored by the Potomac Fire Company and directed by Charles Ducas.

Also in the parade were decorated bicycles, tricycles, dolls and cars. Selections were played by the band on its return to the playground.

Couple Wed At Church In Mt. Savage

MT. SAVAGE—In an impressive ceremony solemnized Monday evening in St. George's Episcopal Church here, Miss Mary Frances Best, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Best, became the bride of Private First Class Thomas Adams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Adams, Sr.

Rev. Stanley Schwind, rector, officiated. Ronald Neder was the acolyte.

The altar was decorated with white gladioli and tall lighted candles. The church choir sang "I Am Not Worthy Holy Lord," and "O Perfect Love." Miss Margaret Uhl was the organ accompanist.

Miss Patricia Adams was the bridesmaid and only attendant. William Best, brother of the bride, was best man. Robert Crump and John Williams were ushers.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a gown of silk organdy and lace, with a fitted bodice and a long sweeping train. Her veil was held in place with a cap of net and pearls. She caried a bouquet of white roses and a handkerchief that belonged to her paternal grandmother. Her only ornament was a double strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

The bridesmaid wore a gown of pale green lace and net, cap sleeves and very full skirt. Her hat matched the dress and she carried yellow roses. All the men attendants wore white coats with black trousers and boutionier of red rose buds.

Mrs. Best, mother of the bride, chose an egg-shell Handmaucher suit with pink accessories and a corsage of orchids.

Mrs. Adams, the groom's mother, chose a floral print dress with blue accessories and a corsage of orchids.

Phone Company Seeks Rate Hike In West Virginia

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Aug. 10 (AP)—The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company's petition for a fifth post-war rate increase in West Virginia will be heard here Monday.

The Public Service Commission today set the case for 10 a. m. on that day. The new scale, which the company had sought to make effective July 23, is designed to produce an additional $3,500,000 in annual revenues.

The company sought the new boost June 21, shortly after signing a new wage contract with its employes. C. H. Johnson, vice president and general manager, said the agreement had increased the concern's annual cost of operation by $1,200,000.

With the exception of Bluefield, Welch and Princeton, C. and P. serves virtually all of West Virginia's principal cities and towns.

Last May 2, the Public Service Commission granted authority for a fourth post-war boost which the state agency estimated would bring in an additional $1,173,427 in new revenues.

Altogether since the war, the company has obtained boosts totaling about $5,596,000.

Tucker County Board Approves Levy

PARSONS, W. Va.—The Tucker County Board of Education met on Tuesday evening and approved the levy estimate for the school year of 1951-1952.

Tucker County has six fewer teachers than last year, due to the decrease in state aid received. This county received $13,557.00 less state aid due to a decrease in school population and valuation of property.

Three schools, Ewin, Wolfe, and Mt. View were closed. Mt. View students will attend Flanagan Hill School; Wolfe School students will be transported to Brushy Fork and Ewin students to Parsons Grade and Parsons Junior High School. Hobson students will be taken to St. George instead of Parsons as was done last year.

Church Youth Will Convene At Keyser

Meeting Planned Next Tuesday

MOOREFIELD, W. Va. — Ten young persons from each of the 43 charges of the Methodist Church of the Moorefield District are expected to attend a training meeting of the MYF at Keyser Grace Church Tuesday afternoon, August 14, at 2:30 p. m.

The young people will gather from the 165 churches of the district for the purpose of learning the procedures for the conduct of "The Friendly Survey" in each of the communities of the Moorefield District where there is a Methodist Church.

The training session will be under the leadership of Dr. Ross Linger, district superintendent, and representatives of the Board of Evangelism of the Methodist Church of Nashville, Tenn. Young people will gather information regarding church affiliations of the community served by their churches and this will be used for the United Evangelistic Mission Sept. 21-30. During this period each church in the district will be host to a guest minister who will preach each night and direct lay visitors in a visitation evangelism program.

A short meeting of the youth council for the district has been called by Bill Dryfield, president of the district, for the purpose of formulating plans for the youth rally to be held in Moorefield on September 22 as a part of the United Evangelistic Mission.

Parsons Opens Drive For Lights At Christmas

PARSONS, W. Va. — Two deposits of $20 each have been made toward the drive now underway in Parsons to have the streets lighted at Christmas time.

The streets of Parsons have not been lighted during the holidays for the past eight years. In previous years the lights were rented but this year the committee composed of William Bennett, R. K. McClain and Robert Minear are making a drive to purchase their own lights and equipment.

The business establishments are now being solicited for funds and individual citizens of the town are asked to make their donations so that funds may be ready to purchase their lights prior to the holiday season. The Parsons Volunteer Fire Department has voted to assist in the construction of the lights over the streets of their city.

Coroner's Jury In Parsons Fails To Reach Verdict

Cause Of Man's Death Unsettled

PARSONS, W. Va.—A coroner's jury, after holding three sessions at the Court House here, was unable to reach a verdict as to the cause of the death of Robert Rexrode, 81, whose badly-decomposed body was found June 25 on a hill near here.

Six-Man Jury

The six-man jury returned its inconclusive verdict yesterday. Members of the jury were John Wade, foreman; R. B. Kyle, Harold Lanham, Carl Lanham, W. J. Bonner and James E. Little.

Justice of the Peace Stark Coberly, who acted as coroner at the jury's three sessions, said another jury will be called, probably next week.

Rexrode, who had been a patient in Nelle Rest Home here, had been missing since April 7.

Three Witnesses

Three witnesses testified before the coroner's jury. They were Dr. Guy H. Michael, county health officer, who viewed the body; Miss Selma Swearington, former nurse's aide at the rest home, who first identified the body, and Charles Junior Loughry, 13-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Loughry. Young Loughry told the jurors that he and others had played and had erected a shed near the place where Rexrode's body was found. He stated that they had played there during May and the first week of June and had not seen Rexrode's body during that time.

Sheriff D. E. Crosten has received a report from J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, that microscopic and chemical examination of a hole discovered in Rexrode's pants failed to disclose any powder refuse which would indicate that a gunshot had caused the hole.

Church Youth Will Convene At Keyser

Meeting Planned Next Tuesday

MOOREFIELD, W. Va. — Ten young persons from each of the 43 charges of the Methodist Church of the Moorefield District are expected to attend a training meeting of the MYF at Keyser Grace Church Tuesday afternoon, August 14, at 2:30 p. m.

The young people will gather from the 165 churches of the district for the purpose of learning the procedures for the conduct of "The Friendly Survey" in each of the communities of the Moorefield District where there is a Methodist Church.

The training session will be under the leadership of Dr. Ross Linger, district superintendent, and representatives of the Board of Evangelism of the Methodist Church of Nashville, Tenn. Young people will gather information regarding church affiliations of the community served by their churches and this will be used for the United Evangelistic Mission Sept. 21-30. During this period each church in the district will be host to a guest minister who will preach each night and direct lay visitors in a visitation evangelism program.

A short meeting of the youth council for the district has been called by Bill Dryfield, president of the district, for the purpose of formulating plans for the youth rally to be held in Moorefield on September 22 as a part of the United Evangelistic Mission.

Parsons Opens Drive For Lights At Christmas

PARSONS, W. Va. — Two deposits of $20 each have been made toward the drive now underway in Parsons to have the streets lighted at Christmas time.

The streets of Parsons have not been lighted during the holidays for the past eight years. In previous years the lights were rented but this year the committee composed of William Bennett, R. K. McClain and Robert Minear are making a drive to purchase their own lights and equipment.

The business establishments are now being solicited for funds and individual citizens of the town are asked to make their donations so that funds may be ready to purchase their lights prior to the holiday season. The Parsons Volunteer Fire Department has voted to assist in the construction of the lights over the streets of their city.

Westernport Eliminated From State Legion Tournament

Demaret Posts 136, Sets Pace In World Golf

Hogan And Heafner Trail With 137s At The Halfway Mark

CHICAGO, Aug. 10 (AP) — Nine first-rate pros, led by Jimmy Demaret with a 36-hole total of eight-under par 136, remained separated by only two strokes today in a blanket race for the $12,500 first prize in the Tam O'Shanter "World" Golf championship.

Jimmy Demaret

While lesser lights in the field of 74 players who participated in the first round par-wrecking frolic yesterday faded at the halfway mark, Demaret kept his stride by coupling 69 with an opening 67 over the standard 36-36—72 route.

Grouped at 137 were two of the game's toughest competitors, Ben Hogan and Clayton Heafner.

Six more were piled into the 138 bracket — Johnny Palmer, who defeated Demaret in a playoff for the 1949 "world" title; Bob Hamilton, the 1944 national PGA king; Al Brosch, whose 60 in the Texas open stands as a PGA record round; Lawson Little, kink-armed Ed Furgol and Herman Barron.

Barron, a one-time tourney veteran who won Tam's All-American crown in 1946, is making his first tournament appearance of the season. He left the circuit to devote full time as a club pro at White Plains, N. Y.

Heafner and Palmer pounded on the pace with 68's, low rounds of the day. Hogan, Hamilton, Barron and Furgol shot 69's. Little had 70 and Brosch a 71.

Alone at 139 with a second round 71 was 32-year-old Glenn Teal of Knoxville, Tenn.

Crowded into the 140 group were Earl Stewart of Dallas; Sam Snead; Shelly Mayfield of Cedarhurst, N. Y.; Pete Cooper of White Plains, N. Y.; Ted Kroll, New Hartford, N. Y., and Frank Stranahan.

Among ten amateurs in the field, Stranahan had a three stroke lead over Phil Scrutton of London, England.

Betsy Rawls, 23-year-old professional from Austin, Tex., who was a Phi Beta Kappa physics major at the University of Texas, headed the women's "world" tournament with par 76 for a midway card of 147—five under regulation.

Two strokes behind at 149 in the race for the $2,100 top award came Patty Berg with a second round of 75. Babe Zaharias, the defending champion, ballooned to 79 for 151 and third in the field of 20.

Senators Urge Boxing Probe

Case Of Matthews Given As Example

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP) — Senator Magnuson (D-Wash) introduced a bill in the Senate today calling for an investigation of professional boxing and wrestling.

He asked that a Senate committee be assigned to determine:

1. "The extent of monopolies now existing in these two sports."

2. "If there are any connections between promoters and any persons connected with rackets or any illegal enterprises."

Magnuson thus got the jump on Senators Cain (R-Wash) and Welker (R-Idaho), who said they would introduce a resolution Monday calling for an inquiry into "any monopolistic practices" in pro boxing.

Last Monday, Rep. Clemente (D-NY) asked the house to do the same thing.

The two Republican lawmakers said the proposed inquiry would deal particularly with the International Boxing Club, which stages bouts at Madison Square Garden in New York and has outlets in Detroit and Chicago.

They contend that boxers not tied in with that group fail to get a chance at big-time fights.

Both Senators mentioned Harry Matthews, Seattle, Wash. light-heavyweight title contender, as an example. But they said he is only one of many boxers who could be cited.

On Wednesday the attorney generals of Washington and Idaho buttonholed U. S. Attorney General McGrath in Seattle at a convention and discussed Matthews' failure to get a chance at the crown.

The dispute that may lead to a wide-open investigation of pro boxing by Congress was precipitated when the International Boxing Association matched "Irish" Bob Murphy, of California, against champion Joey Maxim, of Cleveland, for a title later this month.

This didn't set with supporters of Matthews. They believed that Matthews should get the shot at the crown because he knocked off Murphy in his lone Madison Square Garden bout recently.

As Welker put it, Matthews "knocked the head" off Murphy "and now Matthews is out in the bushes fighting fourth raters while Murphy gets a crack at the title."

Moose, Hyndman Play Two Games Here Tomorrow

Manager Joe Geatz's Cumberland Loyal Order of Moose tossers, current pace setters in the Interstate Baseball League race, will play a doubleheader with the Hyndman V.F.W. on Sunday at 1:30 p. m. at Penn Avenue Field.

The Moose team leads Moorefield by a half game in the pennant race which ends two weeks from tomorrow.

Moorefield is host to the Cumberland Black Sox and Romney plays at Centerville tomorrow.

Northcraft's Two-Run Triple Deciding Blow, 40 Players Participate

A two-run triple by Glenn Northcraft featured a three-run rally in the sixth inning and gave the Stoves, piloted by Earl Nonnenman and Bill Underdonk, a 4 to 1 victory over the Hots, skippered by Jim Stevenson, in the first annual all-star game of the Cumberland Hot Stove Baseball League last night at Penn Avenue Field.

Approximately 1,700 persons saw the well played nocturnal nine-inning battle in which forty players of the eight league teams participated, including eight pitchers.

Bobby Lewis of the Optimist Club received credit for the win while "Pooch" Lewis, of the Jaycees, was charged with the defeat.

The Hots' lone tally was registered in the eighth inning when Gerald Bean of the Rotary Club, pilfered second and third and came home on a fielder's choice by Ed Widdows of the Lions Club.

Win Game In 6th

Both teams went scoreless during the first five frames but in the 6th the Stovers sewed it up by chasing three runners over the platter. Galen McGregor of the Exchange Club opened with a two base hit. Ronnie Twigg of the Optimists got a life on an infield error. After Frank Page of the Times-News struck out, Dale Merrill (Kiwanis) hit to third and McGregor was cut down at the plate. Then Glenn Northcraft of the Times-News larruped a triple to deep right field, scoring Twigg and Merrill. Dick Alderton (Kiwanis) banged a single to right scoring Northcraft and giving the Stovers a 3-0 advantage.

The Stovers scored their final marker in the 7th. Terry Jackson (Kiwanis) walked and moved to third on a single to right by Tommy Reed of the Optimist Club. Then Gerald Bean made a nifty catch of Bobby Lewis' fly in deep left center and Jackson raced home after the catch.

Held To Three Bingles

The Hots were limited to three hits by Carl Grimes (Times-News), Galen McGregor (Exchange Club), Bobby Lewis (Optimist Club) and Ronnie Reynolds (Kiwanis Club). This quartet struck out 13 and issued five bases on balls. Rhoe had two of the losers' bingles.

Bobby Dawson (Lions), Don Paye (Rotary), Joe Conroy (B'nai B'rith) and "Pooch" Lewis (Jaycees) gave up nine safeties, four of which were shared by Alderton and Reed, and fanned 13 and issued three passes.

The victorious team comprised players of the Optimist Club, Times-News, Kiwanis and Exchange clubs. The Hots included tossers of the Lions Club, B'nai B'rith, Rotary Club and Jaycees. The box:

Fox And Keiles Clash For Title At Mt. Lake Park

Bassett And Fennessey Play In Women's Final

MT. LAKE PARK, Md., Aug. 10 (AP) — Malcolm Fox, defending champion of Baltimore, defeated Doyle Royal of Washington, 7-5, 7-5, today and will meet Alex Keiles of Silver Spring tomorrow in the men's finals of the Western Maryland Open Tennis Championship.

Fox will be gunning for his third straight championship.

Keiles went into the finals yesterday by defeating Phil Neff of Washington, 6-4, 3-6, 7-5.

Meeting in the women's singles finals tomorrow will be two Washingtonians, Frances Bassett and Ann Fennessey.

In the mens doubles today Fox and Neff defeated Keiles and Royal, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3, 7-5.

In the finals of the veterans doubles, for players 45 years of age and older, Jennings Randolph of Washington and Walter Pollard of Hagerstown defeated Jack Potter of Fort Belvoir, Va., and J. P. Beacom, of Fairmont, W. Va., 6-2, 4-6, 6-2.

Tomorrow, Keiles and Bassett will team up against Fox and Fennessey in the mixed doubles finals.

Ken McGregor Upset By Rose At Newport

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 10—(INS)—Youthful Mervin Rose upset Australian Davis Cup teammate Ken McGregor in five sets today to lead a contingent of two Aussies and two Americans into the semi-finals of the Newport Invitation Tennis Tournament.

Advancing with Rose were Frank Sedgman of Australia, Gardnar Mulloy of Coral Gables, Fla., and Herb Flam of Beverly Hills, Cal. Sedgman plays Mulloy and Flam meets Rose tomorrow.

Rose came from behind to surprise McGregor, 2-6, 0-6, 7-5, 6-0, 7-5. Sedgman breezed past Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, 6-3, 6-4, 7-5. Flam topped Paul Remy of France, 3-6, 6-2, 7-5, 6-4. Mulloy whipped Sidney Schwartz of Brooklyn, 6-3, 6-1, 6-3.

Mize Is Hero As Yanks Win Over A's, 3-1

Cleveland Wins, 6-4, Stays Tied For Lead

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 10 (AP) — Clutch hitting Johnny Mize drove in two runs and smashed his tenth homerun of the season tonight to give the New York Yankees a 3 to 1 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics before 17,204 at Shibe Park.

Lefty Ed Lopat, master of the slow curves, chalked up his 15th win of the campaign against six defeats as he limited the seventh place Philadelphians to six hits, struck out eight and walked only three. The stocky sidewinder weakened momentarily in the sixth when the A's scored their only run on a center field double by Allie Clark and a single off the bat of Gus Zernial.

Gehringer Will Take Over Tiger Job Immediately

Succeeds Billy Evans As General Manager

DETROIT, Aug. 10 (AP)—Charley Gehringer took over today as general manager of the Detroit Tigers, seven weeks earlier than he had anticipated, so that he can start building for next year.

A surprise announcement from Tiger owner Walter O. Briggs said that Gehringer, an all-time Detroit great, would assume his duties "immediately," replacing Billy Evans.

Briggs said that the move was to enable Gehringer "to start the task of strengthening the Detroit baseball club for the 1952 season." Briggs said the 67-year-old Evans ended his duties with the club "as of this date."

Evans' contract was scheduled to run through Oct. 1, but it was announced on July 28 that he would be succeeded at the end of the season by Gehringer.

Gehringer, 39 years old, said that the new move was "to let me get a better look at the ball club, and also to do anything I think necessary now."

"I don't plan to do anything much this year," he added, "although I probably will bring up a few boys."

The move was interpreted as indicative of owner Briggs' continued dissatisfaction with the 1951 club, now in the fifth place in the American League standings. It has won 49 and lost 55 games.

Evans has been severely criticized in some quarters because few trades were made to strengthen the team. It finished second in last year's pennant race, but now has some of the oldest players in the majors.

As general manager, Evans' salary was reported as $52,000 a year. The salary of Gehringer, his replacement, has not been announced.

Gehringer played with the Tigers for 19 seasons, ending in 1942. Most of the time, he was at second base and his virtually flawless fielding earned him the title of "baseball's mechanical man."

In 1937, he was selected the American League's most valuable player, and in 1947 he was named to Baseball's Hall of Fame. His lifetime batting average is .321.

Since retiring from active play, he has been a partner in the firm of Gehringer and Forsyth, manufacturers' agents. He expects to continue his interest in the firm.

U. S. Tennis Team Beats Canadians

Trabert, Savitt Win Davis Cup Singles

MONTREAL, Aug. 10 (AP) — America's Davis Cup forces made it quick and mercifully painless today as they crushed Canada's best without the loss of a set in the first two singles matches of the North American Zone finals at the Mount Royal Tennis Club.

Tony Trabert, the 20-year-old from Cincinniati, trounced Lorne Main, 6-1, 6-2, 6-3, and Dick Savitt, bellwether of Captain Frank Shield's team from Orange, N. J., overwhelmed Brendan Macken, champion of Canada, 6-3, 6-1, 6-1.

In neither instance was the crowd of 3,000 ever treated to anything resembling a contest. From start to finish the two Americans were on top, and it was a sad disappointment to Canadian fans who had felt faint stirrings of hope after having watched their boys crunch Cuba 5-0 last weekend.

Chances are it will be over after tomorrow's doubles match, in which Trabert and Budge Patty of Los Angles will cross racquets with Macken and Henri Rochon.

The winning team in the current series has a date to play Sweden in the inter-zone finals at Melbourne, Australia, next December.

Amvets Capture Pair; Cunningham's Defeats Trozzo's In 1-0 Tilt

The Amvets won both ends of a doubleheader from the Sports Shoppe, 4-0 and 5-2, Cunningham's Grocers topped Trozzo's Sports in a 1-0 thriller and Morris Wholesalers downed the Old Germans, 3-1, in City Recreation Softball League games played yesterday.

In the second game of the twin bill, Woodson had yielded only one hit until one out in the 7th when he loaded the bases on passes and yielded two safeties that netted five runs and the ball game for the Amvets. Jack Stotler shut out the Sports Shoppe in the opener, yielding only two blows.

One run scored in the second frame gave Cunningham's its victory over Trozzo's Spots. R. Klavuhn obtained two of the three hits credited to the losers. Ronnie Cage had two safeties for Cunningham's.

Jack Livengood had three of the five hits credited to the Morris Wholesalers. Clauson limited the Old Germans to three safeties. Scores:

Rice's Tops East Side, 2-1, In 9-Inning Playoff Final

Lover's Leap Wallops Carver, 17-5; Winners To Battle For Title

Rice's Grocery and Lover's Leap are the finalists in the battle for the championship of the Queens Softball League after they eliminated East Side Maids and Carver from the running yesterday by taking the "rubber" games in best-of-three series.

The big surprise of the day was provided by Rice's Market which defeated East Side in a nine-inning thriller at Community Park by the score of 2-1.

In this contest, Doris Adams and Rosalie Bowers hooked up in a neat pitching duel and the latter emerged the victor in the second overtime stanza when Elsie McKee walked, reached second on True's fielder's choice and came home on Jean Clontz's single to left field.

Bowers tossed a four-hitter and two of the hits were credited to Mary Ann Naughton. Bowers and Clontz shared four of the winners' eight safeties. Leatherman, East Side catcher, turned in the best fielding play when she snared an overthrow while backing up first base and put out the runner.

Lover's Leap scored 12 runs in the fourth inning and trounced Carver by the score of 17-5. During the explosion in the 4th the winners racked up nine hits.

Eileen Hite kept Carver's eight hits well spaced while her teammates collected 20, including home runs by Dot Heavener, Betsy Often and Virginia Stratton in the first, third and fourth frames.

The championship series, best-of-three games, is expected to get under way Monday. Yesterday's scores:

Soap Box Derby Set For Sunday

141 Boys To Compete In 14th Akron Meet

AKRON, O., Aug. 10 (AP)—Contestants for the 14th Soap Box Derby championship Sunday got through their test runs today with only one so-called "casualty."

Edward Leibenguth, 13, of Allentown, Pa., was "rushed" to the emergency room in Akron in City Hospital with an upset stomach.

Hospital attaches believe the attack was due to excitement and too much eating. They said he is in good shape.

The soap box racer owned by the German contestant, Kurt Warncke, was temporarily disqualified. The vehicle didn't fit the specifications, but Kurt will be able to make all necessary alterations by Sunday.

The last driver to register was Billy Carraway, 12, of Bristol, a community on the dividing line between Tennessee and Virginia. Billy has the distinction of being the only contestant to represent two states.

The 141 contestants have a busy entertainment schedule ahead of them between now and Sunday, Derby Day.

Most of this will take place in Derby Town at Camp Y-Noah where the youngsters can ride horseback, pitch horse shoes, build model airplanes, swim and go boating.

Ricardo Mellon will represent Cumberland in the annual event at Akron tomorrow.

Hyndman Sweeps Pen-Mar Series

Hyndman trounced Corriganville, 12-0, yesterday at Hyndman to sweep its Pen-Mar Little League playoff series in two games.

Rain halted the game after four innings had been completed.

Hyndman warped Corriganville on Wednesday, 13-1.

In yesterday's abbreviated affair, Paul Martz yielded one hit and struck out eight.

Charley Twigg rapped a triple and single, Jamison a double and single and Lehman two singles for the victors. Bob Burkett garnered the losers' lone safety.

The final best-of-three series between Barrelville and Hyndman will get underway Monday at 6 p.m. at Hyndman. Barrelville eliminated Ellerslie in two straight games. Yesterday's score:

CORRIGANVILLE ..... 000 0— 0 1 4
HYNDMAN ..... 912 0—12 8 1
Eisentrout, Fleegle (6) and D. Thomas. P. Martz and Jamison.

The undefeated Phillies extended their winning streak to 17 games in the Dapper Division of the Little League by defeating the Red Sox yesterday at East Side Field by the score of 10-4.

The Phils can make it a perfect season if they defeat the Red Sox today in the season's finale at Allegany at 9:30 a. m.

Tommy Smith went the route for the Phillies, yielded five hits and fanned nine to post his 4th win of the campaign. Matt Mullaney was nicked for 12 hits and he struck out eight. Eight of the Phils' hits were for extra bases.

Bill Hanekamp hit two triples and a double, Ronnie Diehl belted a homer, three-bagger and single and Art Washington homered and tripled for the winners. Mullaney socked a 4-bagger, "Buddy" Campbell garnered two hits and Eddie Weaver starred afield for the Red Sox.

Bill Buzzard's Dodgers, champions of the Dan Division, made it 13 wins in 16 starts by edging the Braves at Community Park yesterday, 7-6.

Roy "Sonny" Lafferty's homer with two aboard in the 5th with the score knotted at 4-4 decided the issue. Lafferty also rapped a two-bagger and Roby of the Dodgers had three hits in four trips. Beck, Wolford and Weltman had two hits each for the Braves.

The Senators, winners in the Whiz Kids Division race, trounced the lady place Giants at Fort Hill, 12-3.

Howard Wolfe and Jim Moreland directed the Senators in the absence of Manager Bob DeHaven.

The winners got nine hits including a triple by "Duck" Page and a two-bagger by Ed Parsons. Moreland, the Senators' starting pitcher, became ill in the 4th and was supplanted by Ed McKenney. The pair struck out a total of 12 Giants.

The Pirates took the measure of the Yankees at Campobello, 9 to 2. The scores:

Silver Spring, Parkville Beat Victory Outfit

Mt. District Champs Lose, 7-0 And 10-9; Finals Set Sunday

BALTIMORE, Aug. 10 (AP) —The Silver Spring Cissel-Saxon post team and the Parkville Post No. 103 nine fought their way into the finals of the Maryland American Legion junior baseball championship tourney today.

Parkville nipped Westernport's Victory Post 10 to 9 in a free swinging opener, and the Silver Spring club handed the Mountain District entry its second setback in the double elimination series by a score of 7 to 0.

Russell Duffy and Dick Burke teamed up on the mound for a two-hit nightcap in the second game.

Parkville and the Southern Maryland nine meet tomorrow afternoon as the tournament awaits its first non-Baltimore winner since 1934.

The concluding contests will be moved to the Stadium Sunday. Today's games were played on the Bloomingdale oval.

Duffy, who started the second game against Westernport, gave way to Burke in the fourth because of a sore arm. Burke fanned the last five batters.

Bobby Raines worked parts of both games for Westernport, but an ailing stomach forced him to shift to the outfield.

The author of seven shutouts this summer, Raines flipped the first three games against Parkville, went to the outfield, came back to the mound for the eighth and ninth, then chucked the first five innings of the afterpiece before retiring.

Before he shifted the first time, Raines gave reliefer Jack Keller a 5 to 2 lead, but sparked by Butch Yingling the winners swung freely and climbed to a 9 to 8 margin going into the eighth.

Both teams scored in the eighth and Westernport put the tying run on third in the final frame. A double steal worked, but umpires ruled interference on one base runner, waved the other back to third, and Sonny Kyle's effort at bat failed.

Queen Blanks Chicago Cubs

Mel Posts Fourth Win Of Season, 3-0

CHICAGO, Aug. 10 (AP) — Surviving a shaky start, Mel Queen posted his first shutout in the National League as the Pittsburgh Pirates edged the Chicago Cubs 3 to 0 before 7,703 today.

Tagged for four hits in the first three innings, Queen limited the Cubs to two hits and a walk the rest of the way to post his fourth victory against seven defeats. Five of his 13 wins in the circuit have been at the expense of the Cubs.

Cal McLish had tamed the Pirates without a hit until two were out in the seventh inning. Then Ralph Kiner slammed a liner to left center field that Frankie Baumholtz misjudged into a double.

Moments later Bill Howerton rapped a clean single over short to score Kiner with what proved to be the winning run. Box:

Hogan And Heafner Trail With 137s At The Halfway Mark

CHICAGO, Aug. 10 (AP) — Nine first-rate pros, led by Jimmy Demaret with a 36-hole total of eight-under par 136, remained separated by only two strokes today in a blanket race for the $12,500 first prize in the Tam O'Shanter "World" Golf championship.

Jimmy Demaret

While lesser lights in the field of 74 players who participated in the first round par-wrecking frolic yesterday faded at the halfway mark, Demaret kept his stride by coupling 69 with an opening 67 over the standard 36-36—72 route.

Grouped at 137 were two of the game's toughest competitors, Ben Hogan and Clayton Heafner.

Six more were piled into the 138 bracket — Johnny Palmer, who defeated Demaret in a playoff for the 1949 "world" title; Bob Hamilton, the 1944 national PGA king; Al Brosch, whose 60 in the Texas open stands as a PGA record round; Lawson Little, kink-armed Ed Furgol and Herman Barron.

Barron, a one-time tourney veteran who won Tam's All-American crown in 1946, is making his first tournament appearance of the season. He left the circuit to devote full time as a club pro at White Plains, N. Y.

Heafner and Palmer pounded on the pace with 68's, low rounds of the day. Hogan, Hamilton, Barron and Furgol shot 69's. Little had 70 and Brosch a 71.

Alone at 139 with a second round 71 was 32-year-old Glenn Teal of Knoxville, Tenn.

Crowded into the 140 group were Earl Stewart of Dallas; Sam Snead; Shelly Mayfield of Cedarhurst, N. Y.; Pete Cooper of White Plains, N. Y.; Ted Kroll, New Hartford, N. Y., and Frank Stranahan.

Among ten amateurs in the field, Stranahan had a three stroke lead over Phil Scrutton of London, England.

Betsy Rawls, 23-year-old professional from Austin, Tex., who was a Phi Beta Kappa physics major at the University of Texas, headed the women's "world" tournament with par 76 for a midway card of 147—five under regulation.

Two strokes behind at 149 in the race for the $2,100 top award came Patty Berg with a second round of 75. Babe Zaharias, the defending champion, ballooned to 79 for 151 and third in the field of 20.

Senators Urge Boxing Probe

Case Of Matthews Given As Example

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP) — Senator Magnuson (D-Wash) introduced a bill in the Senate today calling for an investigation of professional boxing and wrestling.

He asked that a Senate committee be assigned to determine:

1. "The extent of monopolies now existing in these two sports."

2. "If there are any connections between promoters and any persons connected with rackets or any illegal enterprises."

Magnuson thus got the jump on Senators Cain (R-Wash) and Welker (R-Idaho), who said they would introduce a resolution Monday calling for an inquiry into "any monopolistic practices" in pro boxing.

Last Monday, Rep. Clemente (D-NY) asked the house to do the same thing.

The two Republican lawmakers said the proposed inquiry would deal particularly with the International Boxing Club, which stages bouts at Madison Square Garden in New York and has outlets in Detroit and Chicago.

They contend that boxers not tied in with that group fail to get a chance at big-time fights.

Both Senators mentioned Harry Matthews, Seattle, Wash. light-heavyweight title contender, as an example. But they said he is only one of many boxers who could be cited.

On Wednesday the attorney generals of Washington and Idaho buttonholed U. S. Attorney General McGrath in Seattle at a convention and discussed Matthews' failure to get a chance at the crown.

The dispute that may lead to a wide-open investigation of pro boxing by Congress was precipitated when the International Boxing Association matched "Irish" Bob Murphy, of California, against champion Joey Maxim, of Cleveland, for a title later this month.

This didn't set with supporters of Matthews. They believed that Matthews should get the shot at the crown because he knocked off Murphy in his lone Madison Square Garden bout recently.

As Welker put it, Matthews "knocked the head" off Murphy "and now Matthews is out in the bushes fighting fourth raters while Murphy gets a crack at the title."

Moose, Hyndman Play Two Games Here Tomorrow

Manager Joe Geatz's Cumberland Loyal Order of Moose tossers, current pace setters in the Interstate Baseball League race, will play a doubleheader with the Hyndman V.F.W. on Sunday at 1:30 p. m. at Penn Avenue Field.

The Moose team leads Moorefield by a half game in the pennant race which ends two weeks from tomorrow.

Moorefield is host to the Cumberland Black Sox and Romney plays at Centerville tomorrow.

Northcraft's Two-Run Triple Deciding Blow, 40 Players Participate

A two-run triple by Glenn Northcraft featured a three-run rally in the sixth inning and gave the Stoves, piloted by Earl Nonnenman and Bill Underdonk, a 4 to 1 victory over the Hots, skippered by Jim Stevenson, in the first annual all-star game of the Cumberland Hot Stove Baseball League last night at Penn Avenue Field.

Approximately 1,700 persons saw the well played nocturnal nine-inning battle in which forty players of the eight league teams participated, including eight pitchers.

Bobby Lewis of the Optimist Club received credit for the win while "Pooch" Lewis, of the Jaycees, was charged with the defeat.

The Hots' lone tally was registered in the eighth inning when Gerald Bean of the Rotary Club, pilfered second and third and came home on a fielder's choice by Ed Widdows of the Lions Club.

Win Game In 6th

Both teams went scoreless during the first five frames but in the 6th the Stovers sewed it up by chasing three runners over the platter. Galen McGregor of the Exchange Club opened with a two base hit. Ronnie Twigg of the Optimists got a life on an infield error. After Frank Page of the Times-News struck out, Dale Merrill (Kiwanis) hit to third and McGregor was cut down at the plate. Then Glenn Northcraft of the Times-News larruped a triple to deep right field, scoring Twigg and Merrill. Dick Alderton (Kiwanis) banged a single to right scoring Northcraft and giving the Stovers a 3-0 advantage.

The Stovers scored their final marker in the 7th. Terry Jackson (Kiwanis) walked and moved to third on a single to right by Tommy Reed of the Optimist Club. Then Gerald Bean made a nifty catch of Bobby Lewis' fly in deep left center and Jackson raced home after the catch.

Held To Three Bingles

The Hots were limited to three hits by Carl Grimes (Times-News), Galen McGregor (Exchange Club), Bobby Lewis (Optimist Club) and Ronnie Reynolds (Kiwanis Club). This quartet struck out 13 and issued five bases on balls. Rhoe had two of the losers' bingles.

Bobby Dawson (Lions), Don Paye (Rotary), Joe Conroy (B'nai B'rith) and "Pooch" Lewis (Jaycees) gave up nine safeties, four of which were shared by Alderton and Reed, and fanned 13 and issued three passes.

The victorious team comprised players of the Optimist Club, Times-News, Kiwanis and Exchange clubs. The Hots included tossers of the Lions Club, B'nai B'rith, Rotary Club and Jaycees. The box:

Fox And Keiles Clash For Title At Mt. Lake Park

Bassett And Fennessey Play In Women's Final

MT. LAKE PARK, Md., Aug. 10 (AP) — Malcolm Fox, defending champion of Baltimore, defeated Doyle Royal of Washington, 7-5, 7-5, today and will meet Alex Keiles of Silver Spring tomorrow in the men's finals of the Western Maryland Open Tennis Championship.

Fox will be gunning for his third straight championship.

Keiles went into the finals yesterday by defeating Phil Neff of Washington, 6-4, 3-6, 7-5.

Meeting in the women's singles finals tomorrow will be two Washingtonians, Frances Bassett and Ann Fennessey.

In the mens doubles today Fox and Neff defeated Keiles and Royal, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3, 7-5.

In the finals of the veterans doubles, for players 45 years of age and older, Jennings Randolph of Washington and Walter Pollard of Hagerstown defeated Jack Potter of Fort Belvoir, Va., and J. P. Beacom, of Fairmont, W. Va., 6-2, 4-6, 6-2.

Tomorrow, Keiles and Bassett will team up against Fox and Fennessey in the mixed doubles finals.

Ken McGregor Upset By Rose At Newport

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 10—(INS)—Youthful Mervin Rose upset Australian Davis Cup teammate Ken McGregor in five sets today to lead a contingent of two Aussies and two Americans into the semi-finals of the Newport Invitation Tennis Tournament.

Mize Is Hero As Yanks Win Over A's, 3-1

Cleveland Wins, 6-4, Stays Tied For Lead

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 10 (AP) — Clutch hitting Johnny Mize drove in two runs and smashed his tenth homerun of the season tonight to give the New York Yankees a 3 to 1 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics before 17,204 at Shibe Park.

Lefty Ed Lopat, master of the slow curves, chalked up his 15th win of the campaign against six defeats as he limited the seventh place Philadelphians to six hits, struck out eight and walked only three. The stocky sidewinder weakened momentarily in the sixth when the A's scored their only run on a center field double by Allie Clark and a single off the bat of Gus Zernial.

Rice's Tops East Side, 2-1, In 9-Inning Playoff Final

Lover's Leap Wallops Carver, 17-5; Winners To Battle For Title

Rice's Grocery and Lover's Leap are the finalists in the battle for the championship of the Queens Softball League after they eliminated East Side Maids and Carver from the running yesterday by taking the "rubber" games in best-of-three series.

The big surprise of the day was provided by Rice's Market which defeated East Side in a nine-inning thriller at Community Park by the score of 2-1.

In this contest, Doris Adams and Rosalie Bowers hooked up in a neat pitching duel and the latter emerged the victor in the second overtime stanza when Elsie McKee walked, reached second on True's fielder's choice and came home on Jean Clontz's single to left field.

Bowers tossed a four-hitter and two of the hits were credited to Mary Ann Naughton. Bowers and Clontz shared four of the winners' eight safeties. Leatherman, East Side catcher, turned in the best fielding play when she snared an overthrow while backing up first base and put out the runner.

Lover's Leap scored 12 runs in the fourth inning and trounced Carver by the score of 17-5. During the explosion in the 4th the winners racked up nine hits.

Eileen Hite kept Carver's eight hits well spaced while her teammates collected 20, including home runs by Dot Heavener, Betsy Often and Virginia Stratton in the first, third and fourth frames.

The championship series, best-of-three games, is expected to get under way Monday. Yesterday's scores:

Soap Box Derby Set For Sunday

141 Boys To Compete In 14th Akron Meet

AKRON, O., Aug. 10 (AP)—Contestants for the 14th Soap Box Derby championship Sunday got through their test runs today with only one so-called "casualty."

Edward Leibenguth, 13, of Allentown, Pa., was "rushed" to the emergency room in Akron in City Hospital with an upset stomach.

Hospital attaches believe the attack was due to excitement and too much eating. They said he is in good shape.

The soap box racer owned by the German contestant, Kurt Warncke, was temporarily disqualified. The vehicle didn't fit the specifications, but Kurt will be able to make all necessary alterations by Sunday.

The last driver to register was Billy Carraway, 12, of Bristol, a community on the dividing line between Tennessee and Virginia. Billy has the distinction of being the only contestant to represent two states.

The 141 contestants have a busy entertainment schedule ahead of them between now and Sunday, Derby Day.

Most of this will take place in Derby Town at Camp Y-Noah where the youngsters can ride horseback, pitch horse shoes, build model airplanes, swim and go boating.

U. S. Tennis Team Beats Canadians

Trabert, Savitt Win Davis Cup Singles

MONTREAL, Aug. 10 (AP) — America's Davis Cup forces made it quick and mercifully painless today as they crushed Canada's best without the loss of a set in the first two singles matches of the North American Zone finals at the Mount Royal Tennis Club.

Tony Trabert, the 20-year-old from Cincinniati, trounced Lorne Main, 6-1, 6-2, 6-3, and Dick Savitt, bellwether of Captain Frank Shield's team from Orange, N. J., overwhelmed Brendan Macken, champion of Canada, 6-3, 6-1, 6-1.

In neither instance was the crowd of 3,000 ever treated to anything resembling a contest. From start to finish the two Americans were on top, and it was a sad disappointment to Canadian fans who had felt faint stirrings of hope after having watched their boys crunch Cuba 5-0 last weekend.

Chances are it will be over after tomorrow's doubles match, in which Trabert and Budge Patty of Los Angles will cross racquets with Macken and Henri Rochon.

The winning team in the current series has a date to play Sweden in the inter-zone finals at Melbourne, Australia, next December.

Amvets Capture Pair; Cunningham's Defeats Trozzo's In 1-0 Tilt

The Amvets won both ends of a doubleheader from the Sports Shoppe, 4-0 and 5-2, Cunningham's Grocers topped Trozzo's Sports in a 1-0 thriller and Morris Wholesalers downed the Old Germans, 3-1, in City Recreation Softball League games played yesterday.

In the second game of the twin bill, Woodson had yielded only one hit until one out in the 7th when he loaded the bases on passes and yielded two safeties that netted five runs and the ball game for the Amvets. Jack Stotler shut out the Sports Shoppe in the opener, yielding only two blows.

One run scored in the second frame gave Cunningham's its victory over Trozzo's Spots. R. Klavuhn obtained two of the three hits credited the losers. Ronnie Cage had two safeties for Cunningham's.

Jack Livengood had three of the five hits credited to the Morris Wholesalers. Clauson limited the Old Germans to three safeties. Scores:

Hyndman Sweeps Pen-Mar Series

Hyndman trounced Corriganville, 12-0, yesterday at Hyndman to sweep its Pen-Mar Little League playoff series in two games.

Rain halted the game after four innings had been completed.

Hyndman warped Corriganville on Wednesday, 13-1.

In yesterday's abbreviated affair, Paul Martz yielded one hit and struck out eight.

Charley Twigg rapped a triple and single, Jamison a double and single and Lehman two singles for the victors. Bob Burkett garnered the losers' lone safety.

The final best-of-three series between Barrelville and Hyndman will get underway Monday at 6 p.m. at Hyndman. Barrelville eliminated Ellerslie in two straight games. Yesterday's score:

The undefeated Phillies extended their winning streak to 17 games in the Dapper Division of the Little League by defeating the Red Sox yesterday at East Side Field by the score of 10-4.

The Phils can make it a perfect season if they defeat the Red Sox today in the season's finale at Allegany at 9:30 a. m.

Tommy Smith went the route for the Phillies, yielded five hits and fanned nine to post his 4th win of the campaign. Matt Mullaney was nicked for 12 hits and he struck out eight. Eight of the Phils' hits were for extra bases.

Bill Hanekamp hit two triples and a double, Ronnie Diehl belted a homer, three-bagger and single and Art Washington homered and tripled for the winners. Mullaney socked a 4-bagger, "Buddy" Campbell garnered two hits and Eddie Weaver starred afield for the Red Sox.

Bill Buzzard's Dodgers, champions of the Dan Division, made it 13 wins in 16 starts by edging the Braves at Community Park yesterday, 7-6.

Roy "Sonny" Lafferty's homer with two aboard in the 5th with the score knotted at 4-4 decided the issue. Lafferty also rapped a two-bagger and Roby of the Dodgers had three hits in four trips. Beck, Wolford and Weltman had two hits each for the Braves.

The Senators, winners in the Whiz Kids Division race, trounced the lady place Giants at Fort Hill, 12-3.

Howard Wolfe and Jim Moreland directed the Senators in the absence of Manager Bob DeHaven.

The winners got nine hits including a triple by "Duck" Page and a two-bagger by Ed Parsons. Moreland, the Senators' starting pitcher, became ill in the 4th and was supplanted by Ed McKenney. The pair struck out a total of 12 Giants.

The Pirates took the measure of the Yankees at Campobello, 9 to 2. The scores:

Tri-State Cleaners Beat Bennett's 12-11

With Dave Ritter hitting and Jackie Rice sparkling in the field, the Tri-State Cleaners beat Bennett's Transfer yesterday at Taylor Field by the score of 12-11.

Ritter rapped a homer, double and single. Fred Wolford had three hits for the Movingmen.

Rice handled nine chances at second base without a miss.

Jim MacDonald who relieved Hughes in the first inning received credit for win No. 11 against one loss. The victory moved the Cleaners closer to first place. They have won 18 and lost 3. Score:

Silver Spring, Parkville Beat Victory Outfit

Mt. District Champs Lose, 7-0 And 10-9; Finals Set Sunday

BALTIMORE, Aug. 10 (AP) —The Silver Spring Cissel-Saxon post team and the Parkville Post No. 103 nine fought their way into the finals of the Maryland American Legion junior baseball championship tourney today.

Parkville nipped Westernport's Victory Post 10 to 9 in a free swinging opener, and the Silver Spring club handed the Mountain District entry its second setback in the double elimination series by a score of 7 to 0.

Russell Duffy and Dick Burke teamed up on the mound for a two-hit nightcap in the second game.

Parkville and the Southern Maryland nine meet tomorrow afternoon as the tournament awaits its first non-Baltimore winner since 1934.

The concluding contests will be moved to the Stadium Sunday. Today's games were played on the Bloomingdale oval.

Duffy, who started the second game against Westernport, gave way to Burke in the fourth because of a sore arm. Burke fanned the last five batters.

Bobby Raines worked parts of both games for Westernport, but an ailing stomach forced him to shift to the outfield.

The author of seven shutouts this summer, Raines flipped the first three games against Parkville, went to the outfield, came back to the mound for the eighth and ninth, then chucked the first five innings of the afterpiece before retiring.

Before he shifted the first time, Raines gave reliefer Jack Keller a 5 to 2 lead, but sparked by Butch Yingling the winners swung freely and climbed to a 9 to 8 margin going into the eighth.

Both teams scored in the eighth and Westernport put the tying run on third in the final frame. A double steal worked, but umpires ruled interference on one base runner, waved the other back to third, and Sonny Kyle's effort at bat failed.

Queen Blanks Chicago Cubs

Mel Posts Fourth Win Of Season, 3-0

CHICAGO, Aug. 10 (AP) — Surviving a shaky start, Mel Queen posted his first shutout in the National League as the Pittsburgh Pirates edged the Chicago Cubs 3 to 0 before 7,703 today.

Tagged for four hits in the first three innings, Queen limited the Cubs to two hits and a walk the rest of the way to post his fourth victory against seven defeats. Five of his 13 wins in the circuit have been at the expense of the Cubs.

Cal McLish had tamed the Pirates without a hit until two were out in the seventh inning. Then Ralph Kiner slammed a liner to left center field that Frankie Baumholtz misjudged into a double.

Moments later Bill Howerton rapped a clean single over short to score Kiner with what proved to be the winning run. Box:

Gehringer Will Take Over Tiger Job Immediately

Succeeds Billy Evans As General Manager

DETROIT, Aug. 10 (AP)—Charley Gehringer took over today as general manager of the Detroit Tigers, seven weeks earlier than he had anticipated, so that he can start building for next year.

A surprise announcement from Tiger owner Walter O. Briggs said that Gehringer, an all-time Detroit great, would assume his duties "immediately," replacing Billy Evans.

Briggs said that the move was to enable Gehringer "to start the task of strengthening the Detroit baseball club for the 1952 season." Briggs said the 67-year-old Evans ended his duties with the club "as of this date."

Evans' contract was scheduled to run through Oct. 1, but it was announced on July 28 that he would be succeeded at the end of the season by Gehringer.

Gehringer, 39 years old, said that the new move was "to let me get a better look at the ball club, and also to do anything I think necessary now."

"I don't plan to do anything much this year," he added, "although I probably will bring up a few boys."

The move was interpreted as indicative of owner Briggs' continued diss

Yankees Capture Lead In Frostburg League

FROSTBURG, Aug. 10 — The Yankees took a one-game lead in the second half championship race of the Frostburg Little League by defeating the Giants today by the score of 4-1.

The Yankees, first half champions, led the race with a 4-1 record. The Giants are second with 3-2.

Pete Wilson, Yankees' hurler, fanned 11 and yielded four hits, two of which were credited to Connie Filsinger. Jack Fisher, who relieved Zumpano, Giants' starter, in the first inning, struck out 13. The Yankees obtained only two hits, singles by Miller and Wilson. Score:

YANKEES	200	110	4 2 2

Wilson and Winfield. Zumpano, Fisher (1) and Nolan.

"Voice" Says Polish School Girls Undergo Basic Military Training

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The Voice of America told overseas listeners Polish school girls are undergoing basic infantry training.

A State Department broadcast told of this development in attempting to expose "the Soviet brand of peace being peddled" throughout the world.

Spotlighting military preparations in other Eastern European areas, the Voice said an armored force of nearly 25,000 men is now being built up by Russia within the so-called East German police force.

The broadcast also reported that a former aircraft factory in the Romanian city of Brasov is "busily producing engines and other parts for German V-2 rockets."

The Voice broadcast told of these other developments:

1. About 432,000 men are now under arms in Romania in complete violation of peace treaty commitments.

2. A new air base is being built by Russia in Hungary.

3. New airfields are being constructed in Czechoslovakia "behind the screen of Bohemian forests."

4. About 400,000 men have been mobilized in Bulgaria, 120,000 more than allowed under the peace treaty. Russia also has placed 120 yak fighters and 160 bombers at Bulgaria's disposal.

5. Two Soviet fighter squadrons are reported to have arrived at Targusor in Romania last May in order to build up the Romanian air force.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By SHEPARD BARCLAY
"The Authority on Authorities"

BEATS TRUMPING ACE

IT IS traditional among bridge players that trumping your partner's ace carelessly is the worst of all bonehead plays. There are several worse ones, however, most of them due not to faulty logic, but to failure to notice what is going on. Among these is the exact reverse of the ace-trumping monstrosity. You probably have not seen it, but if you play enough with careless players, just be patient. After a long enough period, you may see it done. Let's hope it will be by an opponent, rather than your partner or yourself

	♠ J 8 4 3 ♥ K J 5 2 ♦ 8 4 2 ♣ 7 5

West led the club Q to the K. Declarer, seeing the certainty of one loser in hearts, plus one each possible in spades and diamonds, led the heart Q, intending to overtake it with dummy's K. He saw West ruff, however, with the spade 2. East, though, saw no such thing. He was all ready to put his heart A on the trick, and did it anyway. He had ACED his partner's TRUMP.

Needless to say, that boner enabled South to make his contract, though both finesses failed, in spades and diamonds.

If East had kept his eyes open, South would have been down one by normal play, as the defenders would have taken tricks with West's spade K, diamond K and ruff, and East would have scored his heart A on a later trick.

Of course, on this freakish hand, South's contract would have been safe against any defense if he had refused to take any finesse, leading his spade A and Q after winning the first trick, taking any return, removing West's final trump and then playing the rest any way he wished. But few would have failed to try the trump finesse, seeking to use a heart for entry to the dummy, since everybody likes to make an extra trick if he can. But that would have been the sounder play in rubber bridge, protecting South against a heart void.

What is usually the most devastating opening lead if you hold a goodly bunch of the declarer's trump suit, including an honor or two, and a pretty fair long side suit?

HOW TO RIDE A BIKE IN SIX EASY LESSONS

1. Be sure the bicycle fits you. It is difficult and unsafe to ride a bicycle that is too big or too small for you.

2. Find a nice flat place, free from traffic and other interferences, to practice.

3. Remember — to balance on a bicycle you must have forward motion. A coin will not stand on edge while it is stationary But when it is rolled it stands on edge very well. This is the same principle on which bicycle works.

4. If you are learning on a small bicycle—one with 16 or 20-inch wheel diameter, a pair of outrigger wheels will make it much simpler.

5. If you don't use outriggers have another person hold the wheel and help you balance until you "get the feel" of the wheel. Confidence after that comes very fast.

6. And always remember — a bicycle is not a toy but a full-fledged vehicle subject to same traffic rules as an automobile. Always "Do it the safe way."

"Voice" Says Polish School Girls Undergo Basic Military Training

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The Voice of America told overseas listeners Polish school girls are undergoing basic infantry training.

A State Department broadcast told of this development in attempting to expose "the Soviet brand of peace being peddled" throughout the world.

Spotlighting military preparations in other Eastern European areas, the Voice said an armored force of nearly 25,000 men is now being built up by Russia within the so-called East German police force.

The broadcast also reported that a former aircraft factory in the Romanian city of Brasov is "busily producing engines and other parts for German V-2 rockets."

The Voice broadcast told of these other developments:

1. About 432,000 men are now under arms in Romania in complete violation of peace treaty commitments.
2. A new air base is being built by Russia in Hungary.
3. New airfields are being constructed in Czechoslovakia "behind the screen of Bohemian forests."
4. About 400,000 men have been mobilized in Bulgaria, 120,000 more than allowed under the peace treaty. Russia also has placed 120 yak fighters and 160 bombers at Bulgaria's disposal.
5. Two Soviet fighter squadrons are reported to have arrived at Targusor in Romania last May in order to build up the Romanian air force.

News In Brief

The Vera Blinn Missionary Society of Bethany UB Church will meet at the summer cottage of Mrs. John S. Cook, near Fort Ashby, Tuesday for a covered dish supper dinner at 6' o'clock. Each member is asked to bring a covered dish.

The condition of Cyril B. Geare, 321 Fayette Street, remained unchanged last night in Memorial Hospital where he was admitted Tuesday.

HOW TO RIDE A BIKE IN SIX EASY LESSONS

1. Be sure the bicycle fits you. It is difficult and unsafe to ride a bicycle that is too big or too small for you.
2. Find a nice flat place, free from traffic and other interferences, to practice.
3. Remember — to balance on a bicycle you must have forward motion. A coin will not stand on edge while it is stationary But when it is rolled it stands on edge very well. This is the same principle on which bicycle works.
4. If you are learning on a small bicycle—one with 16 or 20-inch wheel diameter, a pair of outrigger wheels will make it much simpler.
5. If you don't use outriggers have another person hold the wheel and help you balance until you "get the feel" of the wheel. Confidence after that comes very fast.
6. And always remember — a bicycle is not a toy but a full-fledged vehicle subject to same traffic rules as an automobile. Always "Do it the safe way."

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By SHEPARD BARCLAY
"The Authority on Authorities"

BEATS TRUMPING ACE

IT IS traditional among bridge players that trumping your partner's ace carelessly is the worst of all bonehead plays. There are several worse ones, however, most of them due not to faulty logic, but to failure to notice what is going on. Among these is the exact reverse of the ace-trumping monstrosity. You probably have not seen it, but if you play enough with careless players, just be patient. After a long enough period, you may see it done. Let's hope it will be by an opponent, rather than your partner or yourself.

	♠ J 8 4 3 ♥ K J 5 2 ♦ 8 4 2 ♣ 7 5
♠ K 7 2 ♥ None ♦ K J 9 5 3 ♣ Q J 8 6 4	N W E S	♠ 9 ♥ A 8 7 6 3 ♦ 10 7 6 ♣ 10 9 3 2
	♠ A Q 10 6 5 ♥ Q 10 9 4 ♦ A Q ♣ A K

(Dealer South. North-South vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
2 NT	Pass	3 ♥	Pass
3 ♠	Pass	4 ♠

West led the club Q to the K. Declarer, seeing the certainty of one loser in hearts, plus one each possible in spades and diamonds, led the heart Q, intending to overtake it with dummy's K. He saw West ruff, however, with the spade 2. East, though, saw no such thing. He was all ready to put his heart A on the trick, and did it anyway. He had ACED his partner's TRUMP.

Needless to say, that boner enabled South to make his contract, though both finesses failed, in spades and diamonds.

If East had kept his eyes open, South would have been down one by normal play, as the defenders would have taken tricks with West's spade K, diamond K and ruff, and East would have scored his heart A on a later trick.

Of course, on this freakish hand, South's contract would have been safe against any defense if he had refused to take any finesse, leading his spade A and Q after winning the first trick, taking any return, removing West's final trump and then playing the rest any way he wished. But few would have failed to try the trump finesse, seeking to use a heart for entry to the dummy, since everybody likes to make an extra trick if he can. But that would have been the sounder play in rubber bridge, protecting South against a heart void.

Your Week-end Question

What is usually the most devastating opening lead if you hold a goodly bunch of the declarer's trump suit, including an honor or two, and a pretty fair long side suit?

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By DOROTHY MANNERS
(Substituting for Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 10—(INS)—After playing a couple of nice guy roles, Richard Widmark returns to the violence and mayhem which shot him to stardom in "Hard Luck Diggins"... (Title will be changed).

Richard Widmark

This unusual story by Jack Vance will be produced by Robert Jacks — the first production fling of Darryl Zanuck's son-in-law. Jacks, a very fine and serious minded young man, a Navy veteran, has been boning up on firm production through practically every department at 20th for over two years.

For his debut as a full-fledged producer, he has selected this exciting story which combines murder mystery excitement with this new fangled science fiction stuff.

• — • — •

Marilyn Monroe takes her classy chassis across town from 20th to RKO for one of her best and sexiest roles in "Clash By Night."

By the time you read this, her bosses at 20th will have okayed Marilyn's loan for the picture Harriett Parsons is producing for Wald and Krasna. Certainly this is one of the top casts of the season with Barbara Stanwyck, Paul Douglas and (they're keeping their fingers crossed) a Charlton Heston in the line-up.

Barbara plays a woman who marries a Monterey fisherman (Douglas) for security—then falls insecurely in love with another man. When the chips are down—she chooses home, husband and child as against a romantic fling.

• — • — •

Gary Merrill, a really fine actor in his own right, was dubbed "Mr. Bette Davis number four" in several columns and the chit-chatterers have developed a "fix" on Liz Taylor's loss of weight—"makes her look wan and ill," they say.

• — • — •

These daughters of movie stars seem to be doing okay in television. Marlene Dietrich's lovely offspring, Marie, is already launched as one of the most enticing eyefuls in TV.

Now, Carol Ann Beery, daughter of the late Wally, is set for a series called "Write Your Own Ticket."

Speaking of daughters — Leon Gordon, MGM producer, is hand raising his future screen stars right in his own home. His lovely teenage daughter, Gloria, has been signed at 20th Century-Fox—not Papa's home studio, you'll note.

Gordon's younger child, Gay, has been selected by Norman Taurog to play one of Cary Grant's and Betsy Drake's children in "Room For One More" at Warners.

Their father is proud that his progeny are sufficiently talented to step out and make a name for themselves on other studio lots.

Hollywood in shorts:

Russell Nype arrives Sunday for his MGM picture and Doris and Jules Stein are welcoming him to Hollywood with a Sunday brunch.

Got my first glimpse of Betsy Von Furstenberg, the socialite-actress, who has kicked up so much dust on Broadway and in assorted masculine hearts. I must says she's vividly attractive and different. She was with handsome Ralph Fields—and they seemed to like each other.

One of Red Skelton's first visitors at his Hamshire House suite in New York was the one-and-only Toots Shor. Toots extended Red an invitation to dine at his "overcrowded, over-smoky" restaurant.

"Why should I?" replied Red, gesturing toward all of Central Park on display from his windows, "when I have all this fresh air and privacy practically for a front lawn."

Toots took a look at the park. "If it's so all-fired private," he said, "why don't you get all those people off your front lawn?"

Frances Langford won't be in "Brave Warrior" with Jon Hall after all. Sam Katzman doesn't think the role is big enough for her.

Patricia Neal has taken up bicycling in La Jolla. Pat, who may or may not have been with Gary Cooper when he was pinched for speeding, will never get a ticket on a bike.

Louise Beavers, the fine negro actress, is coming out of semi-retirement to play one of her fine comedy roles with Res Allen in "Colorado Sundoyn" at Republic.

That's all today. See you Monday.

Do you know how to make an exquisite presentation of yourself? The secret lies in correcting your flaws!

SECRETS OF CHARM

By JOHN ROBERT POWERS

Take it from the Powers Girls who were not born with perfect beauty but learned how to be perfectly beautiful, Pygmalion is more than a myth. As Pygmalion's cold, inanimate statue of a maiden was given life by Aphrodite, so you can create an exquisite presentation of yourself.

Any distracting irregularity you were born with should be considered your challenge. To make the most of it, all you have to do is turn it into an attraction!

Gain In Individuality

Whenever you take the trouble to change for the better, whatever you least like about your face, you are sure to gain in individuality.

Maybe it's a very minor variation of bone structure like an ill-proportioned brow. Then, the sooner you get to work to bring that brow into proportion, the sooner you will increase your beauty—and achieve distinction.

If your brow is too high, put your trust in the nearest scissors expert that you can locate. In your restyling, be sure the two of you agree on the inclusion of a slick look at the temples, a flat top, and bangs on the forehead. Be most particular about the styling of your bangs; they can influence the shape of your jaw! Cutting straight across will counteract a pointed chin but intensify a square one. Yet, a symmetrical shaping will prove foolproof no matter what the contour of your face may be. Depending on how much softening your bony structure can take, have your bangs curled or groomed to lie flat.

You can further enhance an exaggerated brow by tweezing or pencilling your eyebrows into a high arched oval of a generous width. Use just a little shadow and mascara to give your eyes the kind of importance that they not only deserve but that will draw attention from your brown. Brush plenty of curve into your lipline for the same reason—and wear the new high-fashion hat that sits straight across the brow.

Creating Beauty

The too-low brow attains the illusion of height when the bangs are extended from a part along the front-quarter section of your crown to just barely cover your hairline. If this is too frou-frou for you, choose high-riding waves set diagonally to your crown or a center part with wings of curls arranged high on either side.

And use a lighter foundation on your forehead than on the rest of your face. Keep your eyebrows straight across as possible; hold your lipstick application to the shape of your mouth, and let no millinery fashion trick you into covering your hairline.

Let any irregularity serve as an inspiration for individuality. By counterbalancing it, you have a perfect springboard to arresting interest!

YOUR STEPS TO A SUCCESSFUL CAREER

HOLLYWOOD

(Substituting for Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 10—(INS)—After playing a couple of nice guy roles, Richard Widmark returns to the violence and mayhem which shot him to stardom in "Hard Luck Diggins"... (Title will be changed).

Richard Widmark

This unusual story by Jack Vance will be produced by Robert Jacks — the first production fling of Darryl Zanuck's son-in-law. Jacks, a very fine and serious minded young man, a Navy veteran, has been boning up on firm production through practically every department at 20th for over two years.

For his debut as a full-fledged producer, he has selected this exciting story which combines murder mystery excitement with this new fangled science fiction stuff.

• — • — •

Marilyn Monroe takes her classy chassis across town from 20th to RKO for one of her best and sexiest roles in "Clash By Night."

By the time you read this, her bosses at 20th will have okayed Marilyn's loan for the picture Harriett Parsons is producing for Wald and Krasna. Certainly this is one of the top casts of the season with Barbara Stanwyck, Paul Douglas and (they're keeping their fingers crossed) a Charlton Heston in the line-up.

Barbara plays a woman who marries a Monterey fisherman (Douglas) for security—then falls insecurely in love with another man. When the chips are down—she chooses home, husband and child as against a romantic fling.

• — • — •

Gary Merrill, a really fine actor in his own right, was dubbed "Mr. Bette Davis number four" in several columns and the chit-chatterers have developed a "fix" on Liz Taylor's loss of weight—"makes her look wan and ill," they say.

• — • — •

These daughters of movie stars seem to be doing okay in television. Marlene Dietrich's lovely offspring, Marie, is already launched as one of the most enticing eyefuls in TV.

Now, Carol Ann Beery, daughter of the late Wally, is set for a series called "Write Your Own Ticket."

Speaking of daughters — Leon Gordon, MGM producer, is hand raising his future screen stars right in his own home. His lovely teenage daughter, Gloria, has been signed at 20th Century-Fox—not Papa's home studio, you'll note.

Gordon's younger child, Gay, has been selected by Norman Taurog to play one of Cary Grant's and Betsy Drake's children in "Room For One More" at Warners.

Their father is proud that his progeny are sufficiently talented to step out and make a name for themselves on other studio lots.

Hollywood in shorts:

Russell Nype arrives Sunday for his MGM picture and Doris and Jules Stein are welcoming him to Hollywood with a Sunday brunch.

Got my first glimpse of Betsy Von Furstenberg, the socialite-actress, who has kicked up so much dust on Broadway and in assorted masculine hearts. I must says she's vividly attractive and different. She was with handsome Ralph Fields—and they seemed to like each other.

One of Red Skelton's first visitors at his Hamshire House suite in New York was the one-and-only Toots Shor. Toots extended Red an invitation to dine at his "overcrowded, over-smoky" restaurant.

"Why should I?" replied Red, gesturing toward all of Central Park on display from his windows, "when I have all this fresh air and privacy practically for a front lawn."

Toots took a look at the park. "If it's so all-fired private," he said, "why don't you get all those people off your front lawn?"

Frances Langford won't be in "Brave Warrior" with Jon Hall after all. Sam Katzman doesn't think the role is big enough for her.

Patricia Neal has taken up bicycling in La Jolla. Pat, who may or may not have been with Gary Cooper when he was pinched for speeding, will never get a ticket on a bike.

Louise Beavers, the fine negro actress, is coming out of semi-retirement to play one of her fine comedy roles with Res Allen in "Colorado Sundoyn" at Republic.

That's all today. See you Monday.

Do you know how to make an exquisite presentation of yourself? The secret lies in correcting your flaws!

SECRETS OF CHARM

By JOHN ROBERT POWERS

Take it from the Powers Girls who were not born with perfect beauty but learned how to be perfectly beautiful, Pygmalion is more than a myth. As Pygmalion's cold, inanimate statue of a maiden was given life by Aphrodite, so you can create an exquisite presentation of yourself.

Any distracting irregularity you were born with should be considered your challenge. To make the most of it, all you have to do is turn it into an attraction!

Gain In Individuality

Whenever you take the trouble to change for the better, whatever you least like about your face, you are sure to gain in individuality.

Maybe it's a very minor variation of bone structure like an ill-proportioned brow. Then, the sooner you get to work to bring that brow into proportion, the sooner you will increase your beauty—and achieve distinction.

If your brow is too high, put your trust in the nearest scissors expert that you can locate. In your restyling, be sure the two of you agree on the inclusion of a slick look at the temples, a flat top, and bangs on the forehead. Be most particular about the styling of your bangs;they can influence the shape of your jaw! Cutting straight across will counteract a pointed chin but intensify a square one. Yet, a symmetrical shaping will prove foolproof no matter what the contour of your face may be. Depending on how much softening your bony structure can take, have your bangs curled or groomed to lie flat.

You can further enhance an exaggerated brow by tweezing or pencilling your eyebrows into a high arched oval of a generous width. Use just a little shadow and mascara to give your eyes the kind of importance that they not only deserve but that will draw attention from your brown. Brush plenty of curve into your lipline for the same reason—and wear the new high-fashion hat that sits straight across the brow.

Creating Beauty

The too-low brow attains the illusion of height when the bangs are extended from a part along the front-quarter section of your crown to just barely cover your hairline. If this is too frou-frou for you, choose high-riding waves set diagonally to your crown or a center part with wings of curls arranged high on either side.

And use a lighter foundation on your forehead than on the rest of your face. Keep your eyebrows straight across as possible; hold your lipstick application to the shape of your mouth, and let no millinery fashion trick you into covering your hairline.

Let any irregularity serve as an inspiration for individuality. By counterbalancing it, you have a perfect springboard to arresting interest!

YOUR STEPS TO A SUCCESSFUL CAREER

P. S. from J. R. P.

A worthwhile investment in charm for every girl starting a business career — every girl or woman now in business who is eager to reach top-flight success. It tells you how to make that important "good impression" to get your job . . . reveals secrets on how to hold your job. See how easy it is to choose a suitable wardrobe. Save time — uncertainty — needless worry through these short cut steps in charm that lead to YOUR SUCCESS. Radio And Television

By JOHN CROSBY

Brave New World

In Aldous Huxley's "Brave New World," there was a stirring chapter about the conditioning of infants to acceptance of the life they would eventually lead as adults, the social class they were about to assume. A good chapter it was. I'll never forget one small scene where a platoon of babies are spurred across a nursery floor to a row of electrified books. Each one got the shock of his life as he touched a book which taught him to stay away from books the rest of his life.

John Crosby

It seemed at the time like a comic exaggeration, a satiric elaboration. It doesn't any more, the book business being at the moment absolutely lousy. Television, you know. Man hasn't time to read a book. It's a deplorable condition not only for the book business but for the country at large. Books, even without batteries attached to him, have an electric charge of their own. They condition us in a more complex way than electric shock to acceptance or rejection—especially rejection—of the environment around us.

• — • — •

The sort of conditioning that radio or television accomplishes is of a rather different nature. Go out and buy it now. Immediately. Don't waste a second. You'd be surprised how many people do rush right out and buy it now, too. A couple of years back I received a letter from an attendant of a lunatic asylum. She complained that the inmates in some cases had to be forcibly restrained from rushing right off the grounds to buy it now.

Almost everything that is said on the air is taken seriously, every word sinks into some brain more deeply than is intended. Years ago the disk jockeys ran into a peck of trouble with a song, whose title eludes me but which was popularly known as the suicide song. People would call up and request it and commit suicide while it was on the air. Well, suicide must have been on their minds before hearing the record but the slight change in—shall we say—the emotional atmosphere brought about by the song very likely had a lot to do with the large difference between thinking about suicide and actually committing it. Radio can be a dangerous toy.

• — • — •

Arthur Godfrey, in a jesting mood, once was illustrating how to open a pack of Chesterfields and he said that the cellophane top could be used as fish bait. A young girl I know took him up on it right away. (Caught a two-pound bass, Arthur, so I guess it works). On another occasion Godfrey was asked how peanut butter could be ingested without sticking to the roof of your mouth. "Turn the bread upside down," suggested Arthur. Uncounted thousands of small boys did just that and got the peanut butter stuck to their tongues where it's even harder to get rid of. You can't make jokes on the radio which contain even a hint of advice.

The small fry are especially susceptible to suggestion. My own small son not only sings "Brush your teeth with Colgate's" but insists on doing it. He can't read yet so we palm off any toothpaste that happens to be around. But later, after he has been exposed to the perils of an education, he'll demand Colgate's—having, as it were, got that electric shock so early in life.

Since the youngsters (along with the asylum inmates) are so easily propelled toward the nearest drugstore, the demands made on them are increasing every day and the kids are having trouble keeping up with consumption. I have a letter right at my elbow from a lady who has Howdy Doody trouble. Bob Smith had repeatedly invited her daughter to buy Snickers and the girl had followed this plea so faithfully she got sick eating the candy bars.

"Now," writes the lady in some despair, "she buys the bars, throws the candy away and keeps the wrappers."

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Radio And Television

By JOHN CROSBY

Brave New World

In Aldous Huxley's "Brave New World," there was a stirring chapter about the conditioning of infants to acceptance of the life they would eventually lead as adults, the social class they were about to assume. A good chapter it was. I'll never forget one small scene where a platoon of babies are spurred across a nursery floor to a row of electrified books. Each one got the shock of his life as he touched a book which taught him to stay away from books the rest of his life.

John Crosby

It seemed at the time like a comic exaggeration, a satiric elaboration. It doesn't any more, the book business being at the moment absolutely lousy. Television, you know. Man hasn't time to read a book. It's a deplorable condition not only for the book business but for the country at large. Books, even without batteries attached to him, have an electric charge of their own. They condition us in a more complex way than electric shock to acceptance or rejection—especially rejection—of the environment around us.

• — • — •

The sort of conditioning that radio or television accomplishes is of a rather different nature. Go out and buy it now. Immediately. Don't waste a second. You'd be surprised how many people do rush right out and buy it now, too. A couple of years back I received a letter from an attendant of a lunatic asylum. She complained that the inmates in some cases had to be forcibly restrained from rushing right off the grounds to buy it now.

Almost everything that is said on the air is taken seriously, every word sinks into some brain more deeply than is intended. Years ago the disk jockeys ran into a peck of trouble with a song, whose title eludes me but which was popularly known as the suicide song. People would call up and request it and commit suicide while it was on the air. Well, suicide must have been on their minds before hearing the record but the slight change in—shall we say—the emotional atmosphere brought about by the song very likely had a lot to do with the large difference between thinking about suicide and actually committing it. Radio can be a dangerous toy.

• — • — •

Arthur Godfrey, in a jesting mood, once was illustrating how to open a pack of Chesterfields and he said that the cellophane top could be used as fish bait. A young girl I know took him up on it right away. (Caught a two-pound bass, Arthur, so I guess it works). On another occasion Godfrey was asked how peanut butter could be ingested without sticking to the roof of your mouth. "Turn the bread upside down," suggested Arthur. Uncounted thousands of small boys did just that and got the peanut butter stuck to their tongues where it's even harder to get rid of. You can't make jokes on the radio which contain even a hint of advice.

The small fry are especially susceptible to suggestion. My own small son not only sings "Brush your teeth with Colgate's" but insists on doing it. He can't read yet so we palm off any toothpaste that happens to be around. But later, after he has been exposed to the perils of an education, he'll demand Colgate's—having, as it were, got that electric shock so early in life.

Since the youngsters (along with the asylum inmates) are so easily propelled toward the nearest drugstore, the demands made on them are increasing every day and the kids are having trouble keeping up with consumption. I have a letter right at my elbow from a lady who has Howdy Doody trouble. Bob Smith had repeatedly invited her daughter to buy Snickers and the girl had followed this plea so faithfully she got sick eating the candy bars.

"Now," writes the lady in some despair, "she buys the bars, throws the candy away and keeps the wrappers."

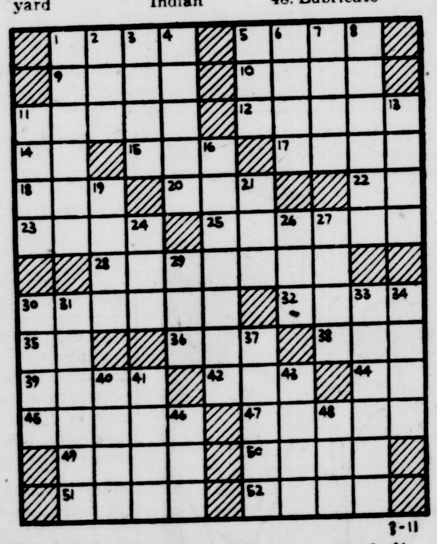
Yesterday's Answer



DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

Card Of Thanks

The family of the late Laurence McKenzie desire to extend our heartfelt thanks to all those who aided and comforted us during our recent sad bereavement, the death of our father. Especially do we thank the pallbearers, those who donated the use of their cars, those who sent floral tributes, the Revs. George Pugh and Charles Quinn, the altar boys, the choir and the Sisters.
The McKenzie Family

We acknowledge with grateful appreciation the kind expressions of sympathy shown us in our recent bereavement, the death of our wife, mother and sister, Isabel Conrad Ward. We are indeed thankful for the many floral tributes, the help rendered in the home, the cars donated, the pallbearers and Rev. Donald Vosseler.

Card Of Thanks

The family of the late Laurence McKenzie desire to extend our heartfelt thanks to all those who aided and comforted us during our recent sad bereavement, the death of our father. Especially do we thank the pallbearers, those who donated the use of their cars, those who sent floral tributes, the Revs. George Pugh and Charles Quinn, the altar boys, the choir and the Sisters.
The McKenzie Family

We acknowledge with grateful appreciation the kind expressions of sympathy shown us in our recent bereavement, the death of our wife, mother and sister, Isabel Conrad Ward. We are indeed thankful for the many floral tributes, the help rendered in the home, the cars donated, the pallbearers and Rev. Donald Vosseler.
Earl E. Ward & Son, Earl Jr.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

ANNE FRANCIS GARNETT, PLAINTIFF, VS. CARL MAURICE GARNETT, DEFENDANT NO. 22300 EQUITY IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR ALLEGANY COUNTY, MARYLAND.

The object of this suit is to procure a decree of divorce a vinculo matrimonii by the plaintiff from the defendant.

The Bill states that the parties were married in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, on January 19, 1940; that two children were born of the marriage, that the defendant deserted the plaintiff without just cause, that the desertion has continued uninterruptedly since October, 1942, that it was deliberate and final and that there is no hope of a reconciliation; that the plaintiff is a resident of Allegany County, Maryland, and has resided therein for many years; that the defendant is a non-resident of this state and is believed to be a resident of the State of Michigan.

It is thereupon this 27th day of July, 1951, ordered by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Md., that the plaintiff, by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper, published in Allegany County, once a week for four successive weeks before the 29th day of August, 1951, give notice to the said absent defendant of the object and substance of this bill, warning him to appear in this Court in person or by solicitor, on or before the 15th day of September next, to show cause, if any he have, why a decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

NOTICE OF TAX COLLECTOR'S REPORT OF SALE

W. A. Strother, Tax Collector, vs. Continental Trust Company and H. D. Bahr, No. 2743 Miscellaneous, in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

W. A. Strother, Tax Collector, having made a report to this Court of the Sale of all that real estate in Election District No. 1, and being parts of the same properties conveyed unto the said Continental Trust Company by United States Trust Company by Deed, dated the 14th day of July A. D., 1914 and recorded in Liber No. 114, folio 715, one of the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland, together with all the proceedings had in relation thereto, and said proceedings having been examined by this Court, and the same appearing to be regular and the provisions of the law in relation thereto appearing to have been complied with it, it is thereupon this 3rd day of August, 1951, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, adjudged and ordered that notice be given by advertisement published once a week for three successive weeks in one daily newspaper published in Cumberland, Allegany County, Maryland, before the 27th day of August, 1951, commanding all persons interested in said property to be and appear in this Court on or before the 11th day of September, 1951, to show cause, if any they have why said sale should not be ratified and confirmed. The report states the amount of sale to be $165.00.

$50,000 Damage Suit Is Filed

A local waitress, who claims she was disabled in a crash on Greene Street last fall, yesterday entered suit in Allegany County Circuit Court for $50,000 damages against an Offutt Street man.

Velma E. Wilfong, 28 Mullen Street, through her attorney, William L. Wilson, Jr., is suing William E. Davis, 117 Offutt Street.

The petition declares that the woman was a passenger in the auto being driven south on Greene Street on September 10, 1950, by Davis.

She declared that he was driving at a "high, unlawful and dangerous rate of speed" and as he approached the underpass of the B. and O. Railroad, the auto was turned sharply to the left side of the street where it struck a telephone pole.

The suit stated that the woman suffered a severe fracture of the lower right leg and lost some of her front teeth.

As a result of the injury, the petition declares, she was hospitalized for 17 days. Mrs. Wilfong also stated that she was forced to wear a cast for a considerable length of time.

She claims that she is still unable to walk without the aid of crutches and therefore is unable to work in her job as a waitress.

PAD Still Considering Gas Limitation Order

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP)—The Petroleum Administration for Defense said today it probably will issue a natural gas limitation order next week or drop the matter entirely.

The agency indicated, however, that the order very likely will be issued to take effect in the near future.

C. P. Rather, assistant deputy administrator, told a news conference that "we have explored the situation completely, and if we can't make up our minds to issue an order next week we ought to quit."

Area Men Named To Church Positions

Two Cumberland district men were elected to offices at the 75th annual conference of Southwestern Pennsylvania District of the Mennonite Churches held at Holsopple, Pa., this week.

M. J. Livengood, of Pinto, was named head of the publications committee, and Rev. Robert Dayton, of Ridgeley, will head the Johnstown Bible School Board.

Springs Mennonite Church near Meyersdale was selected as the site of next year's district conference.

Western Maryland Operating Costs Up

The cost of operating the Western Maryland Railway caused a reduction in the profit last month although revenues increased.

Gross operating revenues of the railway for July were estimated at $3,499,000, an increase of $219,000 or 7 per cent over the same month last year.

But operating expenses for last month increased more than gross revenues, so net income for July dipped to an estimated $246,000 from $346,267 a year earlier.

Revenues from coal traffic, figured at $1,030,000 for last month, dipped 16 per cent compared with last year, but this drop was more than offset by a rise of 20 per cent in other freight revenues which were estimated at $2,294,000. Ore business was exceptionally heavy during the past month.

For the first seven months of 1951, net income was tentatively figured at $3,137,000, after taxes and charges. This was equal to $17.68 a share on the 177,420 shares of 7 per cent cumulative first preferred stock, in arrears as to dividends.

For the seventh months of last year net income was $2,623,712 or $14.79 a share on the first preferred stock.

Gross operating revenues for the period from January 1 to July 31 was estimated at $27,652,000, up 25 per cent compared with $22,079,000 a year earlier. Coal freight revenues at $9,566,000 were up 11 per cent, and other freight receipts at $16,769,000 increased 34 per cent compared with last year.

Stock Market Drifts Lower Despite Some Strong Spots

NEW YORK, Aug. 10 (AP)—In the quitest trading in more than three weeks, the stock market today drifted lower despite occasional strong spots.

Chrysler, third most active issue, was an upside standout with a gain of 1⅞ at 70⅜. Buying was based on the fact that a $2 dividend was declared, the same as the past two quarters, and there was only a comparatively small drop in earnings, despite the tax squeeze now on the whole motor industry.

General Motors, fifth most active, was up ¼ at 50.

There were indications from Washington that price increases for automobiles are being readied.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined 20 cents at $96.20 with the industrial component off 30 cents, rails off 20 cents, and utilities unchanged.

The market encompassed 1,087 individual issues, lowest of the week, of which 341 advanced and 484 declined with 18 new highs and 10 new lows for the year established.

Trading contracted to 1,260,000 shares, lowest since July 19. Yesterday's total was 1,500,000 shares.

National Power & Light topped the most active list up ⅛ at 2⅜. A total of 102,200 shares changed hands, including one block of 20,000 shares which went at 2¼. Pepsi-Cola was second most active up ½ at 9⅞.

Going lower were New York Central off ⅛ at 18½ (14th most active stock in the list and the most active railroad), Allied Chemical ¾ at 74¾, U. S. Steel ½ at 41, Goodyear 1 at 91, Douglas Aircraft 1¼ at 49¾, Burlington Mills ½ at 19¼, Standard Oil (NJ) ⅜ at 69¼, Johns Manville ⅞ at 61½, Monsanto Chemical 2 at 96½, and Shell Oil 1 at 63.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

ANNE FRANCIS GARNETT, PLAINTIFF, VS. CARL MAURICE GARNETT, DEFENDANT NO. 32300 EQUITY IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR ALLEGANY COUNTY, MARYLAND.

The object of this suit is to procure a decree of divorce a vinculo matrimonii by the plaintiff from the defendant.

The Bill states that the parties were married in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, on January 19, 1940; that two children were born of the marriage, that the defendant deserted the plaintiff without just cause, that the desertion has continued uninterruptedly since October, 1942, that it was deliberate and final and that there is no hope of a reconciliation; that the plaintiff is a resident of Allegany County, Maryland, and has resided therein for many years; that the defendant is a non-resident of this state and is believed to be a resident of the State of Michigan.

It is thereupon this 27th day of July, 1951, ordered by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Md., that the plaintiff, by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper, published in Allegany County, once a week for four successive weeks before the 29th day of August, 1951, give notice to the said absent defendant of the object and substance of this bill, warning him to appear in this Court in person or by solicitor, on or before the 15th day of September next, to show cause, if any he have, why a decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

$50,000 Damage Suit Is Filed

A local waitress, who claims she was disabled in a crash on Greene Street last fall, yesterday entered suit in Allegany County Circuit Court for $50,000 damages against an Offutt Street man.

Velma E. Wilfong, 28 Mullen Street, through her attorney, William L. Wilson, Jr., is suing William E. Davis, 117 Offutt Street.

The petition declares that the woman was a passenger in the auto being driven south on Greene Street on September 10, 1950, by Davis.

She declared that he was driving at a "high, unlawful and dangerous rate of speed" and as he approached the underpass of the B. and O. Railroad, the auto was turned sharply to the left side of the street where it struck a telephone pole.

The suit stated that the woman suffered a severe fracture of the lower right leg and lost some of her front teeth.

As a result of the injury, the petition declares, she was hospitalized for 17 days. Mrs. Wilfong also stated that she was forced to wear a cast for a considerable length of time.

She claims that she is still unable to walk without the aid of crutches and therefore is unable to work in her job as a waitress.

PAD Still Considering Gas Limitation Order

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP)—The Petroleum Administration for Defense said today it probably will issue a natural gas limitation order next week or drop the matter entirely.

The agency indicated, however, that the order very likely will be issued to take effect in the near future.

C. P. Rather, assistant deputy administrator, told a news conference that "we have explored the situation completely, and if we can't make up our minds to issue an order next week we ought to quit."

Area Men Named To Church Positions

Two Cumberland district men were elected to offices at the 75th annual conference of Southwestern Pennsylvania District of the Mennonite Churches held at Holsopple, Pa., this week.

M. J. Livengood, of Pinto, was named head of the publications committee, and Rev. Robert Dayton, of Ridgeley, will head the Johnstown Bible School Board.

Springs Mennonite Church near Meyersdale was selected as the site of next year's district conference.

Western Maryland Operating Costs Up

The cost of operating the Western Maryland Railway caused a reduction in the profit last month although revenues increased.

Gross operating revenues of the railway for July were estimated at $3,499,000, an increase of $219,000 or 7 per cent over the same month last year.

But operating expenses for last month increased more than gross revenues, so net income for July dipped to an estimated $246,000 from $346,267 a year earlier.

Revenues from coal traffic, figured at $1,030,000 for last month, dipped 16 per cent compared with last year, but this drop was more than offset by a rise of 20 per cent in other freight revenues which were estimated at $2,294,000. Ore business was exceptionally heavy during the past month.

For the first seven months of 1951, net income was tentatively figured at $3,137,000, after taxes and charges. This was equal to $17.68 a share on the 177,420 shares of 7 per cent cumulative first preferred stock, in arrears as to dividends.

For the seventh months of last year net income was $2,623,712 or $14.79 a share on the first preferred stock.

Gross operating revenues for the period from January 1 to July 31 was estimated at $27,652,000, up 25 per cent compared with $22,079,000 a year earlier. Coal freight revenues at $9,566,000 were up 11 per cent, and other freight receipts at $16,769,000 increased 34 per cent compared with last year.

Stock Market Drifts Lower Despite Some Strong Spots

NEW YORK, Aug. 10 (AP)—In the quitest trading in more than three weeks, the stock market today drifted lower despite occasional strong spots.

Chrysler, third most active issue, was an upside standout with a gain of 1⅞ at 70⅜. Buying was based on the fact that a $2 dividend was declared, the same as the past two quarters, and there was only a comparatively small drop in earnings, despite the tax squeeze now on the whole motor industry.

General Motors, fifth most active, was up ¼ at 50.

There were indications from Washington that price increases for automobiles are being readied.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined 20 cents at $96.20 with the industrial component off 30 cents, rails off 20 cents, and utilities unchanged.

The market encompassed 1,087 individual issues, lowest of the week, of which 341 advanced and 484 declined with 18 new highs and 10 new lows for the year established.

Trading contracted to 1,260,000 shares, lowest since July 19. Yesterday's total was 1,500,000 shares.

National Power & Light topped the most active list up ⅛ at 2⅜. A total of 102,200 shares changed hands, including one block of 20,000 shares which went at 2¼. Pepsi-Cola was second most active up ½ at 9⅞.

Going lower were New York Central off ⅛ at 18½ (14th most active stock in the list and the most active railroad), Allied Chemical ¾ at 74¾, U. S. Steel ½ at 41, Goodyear 1 at 91, Douglas Aircraft 1¼ at 49¾, Burlington Mills ½ at 19¼, Standard Oil (NJ) ⅜ at 69¼, Johns Manville ⅞ at 61⅛, Monsanto Chemical 2 at 96½, and Shell Oil 1 at 63.

Schurg Dies; Wife May Face Murder Charge

Bullet Wound Is Fatal To Welder

George A. Schurg, 27, died last night in Frostburg, the victim of a shooting Monday at his Hoffman home. Authorities said his 22-year-old wife, Shirley, probably would face a murder charge.

Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, said Schurg died at 7:20 p.m. in Miners Hospital, Frostburg. An autopsy was planned to determine the exact cause of death.

Schurg was admitted to the hospital at 1:30 a.m. Monday after being shot through the right side of the chest with a .22 caliber rifle.

Doctors gave him little chance of recovery. They said the bullet had passed through a lung and had caused severe internal hemorrhage.

Mrs. Schurg has been in custody since the shooting, which police said occurred about 1:15 a.m. Monday in the living room of the Schurg home.

Was Hit In Chest

Trooper First Class William F. Baker, State Police criminal investigator, said Schurg had just returned home and that his wife apparently was angry because he had been out late.

Baker said Mrs. Schurg fired one shot from Schurg's .22 caliber pump gun. The bullet struck Schurg in the chest.

Schurg took the weapon, discharged a remaining bullet into the floor to empty the gun, then climbed into his car and drove to the hospital.

His wife was arrested shortly afterward at the hospital where she had followed Schurg. She saw him briefly before being taken to jail.

Will Be Charged

Last night, the State's Attorney's Office said a murder charge would "in all probability" be filed against her.

Schurg, a welder at the Big Savage Refractories Corporation plant in Zihlman, was a son of George Schurg, Spring Street, Frostburg, and the late Martha Donius Schurg.

He is survived, besides his widow, the former Miss Shirley Meek, by seven brothers, Harry and Francis, Cumberland; John, Detroit, and Elmer, Clarence, Carl and Eugene, all of Frostburg; four sisters, Mrs. Alverna Eckhart, Los Angeles, Calif.; Mrs. Dorothy Pappas and Mrs. Alva Lewis, Frostburg, and Miss Helen Schurg, at home, and two daughters, Pamla Jean and Shela.

The body will be at the Hafer Funeral Home, Frostburg.

HORSE SHOW WINNER—Ringmaster Charles Scott is shown preparing to pin the winner's ribbon on Lady Alice, who won the three gaited stake class prize at the Cumberland Horse Show last year. Seated on Lady Alice is the owner, Lorraine Kinskey, Hill View Farms, Washington, Pa., who has entered Lady Alice in this year's show. She has also entered two other horses, Ring Win's Magic and Conquistador. Standing nearby is Miss Betty Jo Ward, Miss Frostburg of 1950, who was present at last year's event. The Cumberland Lions Club will again sponsor the fifth annual horse show September 14 to 16 for the benefit of underprivileged blind and crippled children.

Youth, 18, Dies When Crushed Under Tractor

Samuel L. Jones Was Working On Farm

An 18-year-old Hartmansville, W. Va., youth died instantly about 1 p. m. yesterday when his head was crushed beneath a heavy tractor he was operating on his father's farm.

Samuel Lester Jones was killed when the farm vehicle he was driving went over a platform near a barn on the Grant County property, tilted over, throwing him off the tractor against the barn. The tractor then toppled from the platform upon young Jones crushing him to death.

The boy was helping his father Lester Edward Jones when the accident occurred.

Besides his father he is survived by his mother, Mrs. Edna Lee Sager Jones, two sisters, Wilma and Velma Jones, three brothers, Glen, Eugene and Kermit Jones, all at home; three grandparents, William Sager, Mathias, W. Va., and Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Jones, Gormania, W. Va.

Funeral service will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. (EST) from the Mt. Storm Methodist Church and interment will be in the Lahmansville Cemetery.

The body will be at the residence near Hartmansville.

A native of Maysville, Grant County, W. Va., young Jones was born August 6, 1933 and attended Bayard, W. Va., High School.

Trooper F. W. Bowley, West Virginia State Police detachment from Keyser, W. Va., is investigating.

NEW TEACHERS—These two local residents will begin teaching in the Allegany County public school system when classes are resumed next month. The young man at the left is Joseph H. Pellerzi, 517 Linden Street, a Frostburg State Teachers College graduate, who will teach at Cresaptown. The young woman, Miss Gwendolyn Pierce, 42 Virginia Avenue, will be on the faculty at Johnson Heights School. She is a graduate of Western Maryland College in Westminster.

Judge Refuses Reduction In Meyers Bail

Men Will Appear In Court Tuesday

BALTIMORE, Aug. 0. (AP)—After noting that "facilities for travel have improved," a federal judge refused today to grant immediate reductions in the bail of three men charged with conspiring to advocate overthrow of the government.

Judge W. Calvin Chestnut indicated he may grant some reduction next week after a further hearing on petitions for release of the men.

Two Communists and an attorney who has represented Communists, they are now being held under $75,000 bail each.

Defense Counsel argued today that they were arrested without adequate basis, that they were not given an immediate opportunity to hire lawyers and the bail is "excessive and arbitrary."

Harold Buchman, attorney for George A. Meyers and Maurice L. Braverman, contended the amount of bail was equivalent to "throwing them in jail and throwing away the key."

Meyers is chairman of the Maryland Branch of the Communist Party. The FBI says Braverman has been the official attorney for the branch.

Joseph Forer, Washington attorney representing Roy Wood, argued that the $75,000 bail was, in effect, no bail and therefore violated his client's rights under the Eighth Constitutional Amendment.

None of the defendants appeared in court today, but at the suggestion of the Judge, U. S. District Attorney Bernard J. Flynn agreed to produce them at the next hearing at 12 p. m. (EDT) Tuesday.

Flynn argued that, in view of the recent bail-jumping by four of 11 top-level Communists, the figure set here is necessary to assure the presence of the defendants at their trial.

Defense Counsel estimated that $5,000 would be more reasonable for Meyers and Woods, but Braverman should be released on his recognizance because he is a lawyer.

Judge Chestnut said he felt neither the $75,000 nor the figures advanced by the defense seemed to be reasonable. Next week he'll use the "artillery practice to get closer to the target," he added.

"We should bear in mind, however," he said, "that the Eighth Amendment was written in 1791, x x x that the value of money has changed since then, and x x x that facilities of travel have greatly improved since then."

Senate Group Okays Local Flood Money

$1,000,000 Allotted For Construction

The Senate Appropriations Committee yesterday approved $1,000,000 for flood control construction in Cumberland and Ridgeley, W. Va., for the current fiscal year. This is the amount voted by the House June 13 in its appropriations bill for Army civil functions.

Local engineers, who stated $2,400,000 had been requested in order to start the next phase of construction of the flood program here, believe the severe cut will greatly hamper amount of work which can be done when the current contract is completed.

The Senate as a body still has to vote on the measure and steps may be taken to increase the amount before final passage, engineers here ventured.

Present flood work is expected to be completed before December, they added.

Area 4-H Leaders Receive Awards At College Park

Mrs. Roland Among Four Honored

Four adult leaders from Allegany and Garrett Counties, who combined have served as 4-H Club sponsors for a total of 90 years, were honored in ceremonies yesterday at College Park as Maryland's 4-H clubbers neared the end of their week of study and play at the University of Maryland.

Emerald pins and certificates denoting 25 years as 4-H club sponsors went to Mrs. Elsie Hill Roland, of Flintstone, in Allegany County, and Miss Margaret Ringler, of Garrett County.

20 Year Pins

Twenty-year pins went to Miss Elizabeth Workman, of Frostburg, and Miss Lola King, of Deer Park, in Garrett County.

No other adult leaders from elsewhere in the state were able to qualify for the service awards.

The awards were announced at yesterday's "Thank You" assembly. Mrs. Roland, principal of Flintstone High School, received her pin and certificate from Guy Gienger. He once was president of her 4-H Club and is now on the agricultural engineering faculty at the College of Agriculture.

Horseback Show

The 1,200 boys and girls attending the Club Week were treated to a horseback riding demonstration during the morning program yesterday. It was sponsored by the Maryland Horsebreeders Association with a suggestion that some of the club members might want to think about raising and training horses as a profitable farm project.

Last night the club members wound up their week's outing with a dedication service and the annual pageant staged by the All-Star Club, an honor society of outstanding members from the various counties.

The youngsters will return to their homes by bus after breakfast this morning.

Firemen Sign Pension Forms

Forty-two of the city's 50 firemen have signed applications for inclusion in the State Employes Retirement System, City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson announced yesterday.

Deadline for applications is Wednesday. This will allow time for the local Fire Department to be included in the period beginning September 1.

Under the new plan, the present city program will be discontinued before the firemen switch over to the state system.

Observers explained that the city has agreed to changeover only if the present city program is discontinued and if firemen will release the city of all claims under the present system.

Entrance of the local department into the system would set a precedent in that it would be the first paid fire department in the state to enter.

Other city employes, however, are covered by the state plan. The Police Department still has its own pension system.

West Virginian Seeks $5,000

A Wiley Ford, W. Va., man filed a $5,000 suit yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court against a Fort Ashby, W. Va., man who he alleges wrongfully assaulted him on Virginia Avenue.

The suit was docketed for Harry E. Abe by Attorney Edward J. Ryan against Earl M. See.

Abe charged in the suit that he suffered severe and permanent injuries about 6 p. m. June 7 when See maliciously assaulted him.

Ryan said that his client sustained extensive injuries to his right arm, which have resulted in partial paralysis of the limb. He added that the assault occurred on the sidewalk in the 500 block of Virginia Avenue.

See drew a fine in Trial Magistrate's Court on an assault charge, Ryan asserted.

Both Abe and See are employed by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad in the South Cumberland yards.

3,600 Disabled Vets Entitled To Grants

Nearly 3,600 seriously disabled veterans have established their right to Federal grants for "wheelchair" homes, the Veterans Administration said.

The grants were authorized by an act first passed by Congress in 1948 and later amended, under which VA defrays 50 per cent of the cost of such homes for eligible veterans up to a maximum grant of $10,000.

Originally, only paralyzed veterans of war or peacetime service since 1898, whose service-connected disabilities result in the loss, or loss of use, of both legs.

Two Properties Sold For $10,000

Two Frostburg properties were sold for a total of about $10,000 according to deeds recorded in the office of the clerk of the Circuit Court.

Anna L. Crowe sold property on west side of College Avenue and south side of Locust Street in Frost's Heir's Addition, Frostburg, to Joseph M. Myers and Margaret R. Myers for about $5,000.

Mary Theresa Byrnes sold property on Maple Street in Beall's First Addition, Frostburg, to Albert W. Capel and Beatrice Capel for about $5,000.

Paper Collection Set

A paper collection will be held Monday on all streets north of Baltimore Street and Baltimore Avenue, including the Bedford and Frederick Street sections. Bundles should be placed on curbs before 9 a.m.

City Officials Report Progress On New Budget

Group Meets Again Monday Morning

Satisfactory progress was noted in yesterday's preliminary meeting of the Mayor and City Council on the city budget for the fiscal year which began July 1, Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor, said yesterday.

Facing the possibility of having to increase this year's tax rate, the mayor and council, along with Gibson and City Solicitor W. Earle Cobey, reviewed their problem at a three-hour meeting yesterday morning in the Mayor's office.

Original requests totaled $66,000 more than the city could expect to collect for operating expenses in this fiscal year, Gibson explained, and after yesterday's meeting the deficit was pared down to approximately $35,000, he went on.

With more than half of the budget list still to be reviewed, Gibson declared, the city officials had been able to shave off about $30,000 and was expected to get within the limit at their next meeting following Monday's morning public council session.

Gibson said he was well pleased with the efforts of the commissioners to tighten their requests to get within the expectable income of $1,027,000 which, officials said, is based on a five cent tax increase.

Allowed only 95 cents of the tax rate for operating expenses by law, the city must fall back on other sources of revenue to meet the increasingly higher demands for money to run the municipality.

With raised salaries and high costs of living and operation, the city can expect to garner only about $617,000 additional from property taxes on the city's assessable basis of $65,000,000, Gibson remarked.

The current tax rate is $1.27.

Rate Boost Termed Great Disappointment

BALTIMORE, Aug. 10 (AP)—The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad estimated today it will get only $5,000,000 in additional revenue this year as the result of the freight rate increase authorized by the Interstate Commerce Commission on Wednesday.

Roy B. White, president of the road, pointed out that the nine per cent increase approved on Wednesday includes a four per cent increase already put into effect on a temporary basis in April.

The earlier four per cent increase provided the B&O an estimated $10,200,000 in additional revenue annually. White said the current traffic volume indicates the new order will produce another $17,100,000 on an annual basis.

The B&O president said at the time of the Wednesday announcement that the increase would not be sufficient to cover the higher costs of wages and materials. He called it a "great disappointment."

Weather

Yesterday began as a sunny summer day, but clouds formed an overcast in early afternoon. Temperatures soared into the 90s with humidity making the air sticky. A few drops of rain fell in late afternoon, and the mercury began to fall rapidly at about 7 p. m. The high temperature was reported as 94 degrees by the weather station at Constitution Park. The low was 68, and at 8 p. m., the thermometer leveled at 77 degrees. The humidity was recorded as 58 per cent. The Weather Bureau predicts some cloudiness, warm and humid today with scattered afternoon or evening thundershowers.

County Leads In Industrial Employment

Allegany County has more industrial workers in proportion to its population than any other section of the state, according to figures compiled by the Maryland State Planning Commission.

The Commission said 152.9 persons in every 1,000 Allegany Countians are industrial workers. This is nearly twice the national average of 79.1. The state average is 81.1.

Second in Baltimore County, where 148.5 of every 1,000 are industrial workers. Washington County is fifth with 105.6, and Charles County is lowest, with 5.4. The Baltimore City figure is 103.8 per 1,000.

Betty Twigg Wins Contest In Cresaptown

Miss Betty Twigg was crowned "Miss Cresaptown" at a teen-age dance last night at the Cresaptown Volunteer Fire Company hall. The naming of the queen was part of the three-day celebration held annually by the fire company.

Runnersup were Miss Frances Winters and Miss Betty Wolford. Cash prizes awarded the winners were donated by the fire company and its auxiliary.

The three winners will ride in the parade tonight which will climax the affair beginning at 7:30 p. m. Approximately 22 units will be in the line of march with prizes to be awarded best appearing band, drum corps and fire company and best auxiliary.

Members of the Cresaptown Lions Club were judges in last night's contest in which the participants vied for honors in evening gowns. Another dance will close out the celebration tonight following the parade.

Will Probated In Court Here

The will of Henry Orlando Barncord, 81, Corriganville, who died July 26, was admitted to probate yesterday in Allegany County Orphans Court.

A son, John Mitchell Barncord, RFD 5, Vocke Road, qualified as executor of the estate.

The will, dated Sept. 28, 1946, provides that Barncord's real estate on the Cumberland-Mt. Savage Road, at Corriganville, should be shared equally by his four children. They are William Carl Barncord, Corriganville; Mrs. Elsie Heretta Hensel, Corriganville; David Henry Barncord, this city, and John Mitchell Barncord.

All the rest of his property is to be held in trust by John Mitchell Barncord. During the life of the elder Barncord's widow, Mrs. Mary Ann Barncord, all of the profits from the trust are to go to her. After her death the four children are to share the revenue from the trust.

Naval Reserve Rules Explained

Eligibility requirements for acceptance in the U. S. Naval Reserve were explained yesterday by Lt. Commander W. E. Woodson, Jr., inspector-instructor, Naval Reserve, for this area.

Male applicants who have attained their 19th but not their 26th birthday are eligible for acceptance, Comdr. Woodson said, if they are classified by their Selective Service Boards as IV-A or if they are classified III-A and have less than four dependents.

Others acceptable for membership include members of the Naval Reserve who upon expiration of their current enlistments desire to reenlist immediately, and Naval or Coast Guard veterans with a minimum of six months active service who are eligible for enlistment or re-enlistment in the Naval Reserve in pay grade E-2 or higher.

The latter group consists of veterans who because of limited previous active service are liable for induction training and service under the Selective Service Act, but whose Naval and Coast Guard training will permit utilization of their services without recruit training.

Elderly Man Hit By Automobile

Urner Carl, 71, Mt. Savage Road, was struck by an automobile yesterday about 12:40 p. m. at the intersection of Baltimore and Centre Streets. He was taken to Allegany Hospital where attaches said X-rays were taken.

Police preferred charges of failure to give right of way to a pedestrian against Richard Louis Close, 34, Ellerslie, driver of the car.

Recruiting Drive Opened By Navy Here

The Navy Recruiting Substation here has announced the opening of an extensive recruiting drive. The Navy's urgent need of men has resulted in an order for the local recruiting substation to remain open from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m. daily.

Volunteers for the Navy have fallen off in the last month necessitating a step up in recruiting operations to keep pace with recruit quotas assigned for this area.

There is no limit on the number of men that can be accepted for enlistment, and no waiting period between completing application and actual enlistment and transfer to the Naval Training Center.

$31,500 Involved In Property Sales

North End Wins 3 Classes In Volleyball Semifinals

North End Playground teams took three top spots yesterday in the Intracity Volleyball Tournament semifinals for northern and western city playgrounds.

The North Enders trounced Columbia Street 15-6 to win the Class A lead (boys 16-17). They also took the lead in Class D (boys 9-12) and Class E (girls 9-12).

Columbia Street's Class B team (boys 13-15) came back with a 15-8 victory over North End to win the class semifinals.

Centre Street won in Class C (girls 13-16) with a 15-10 victory over East Side Playground.

Winners in each class will meet South End's during the Intracity Playground Picnic Friday at Constitution Park.

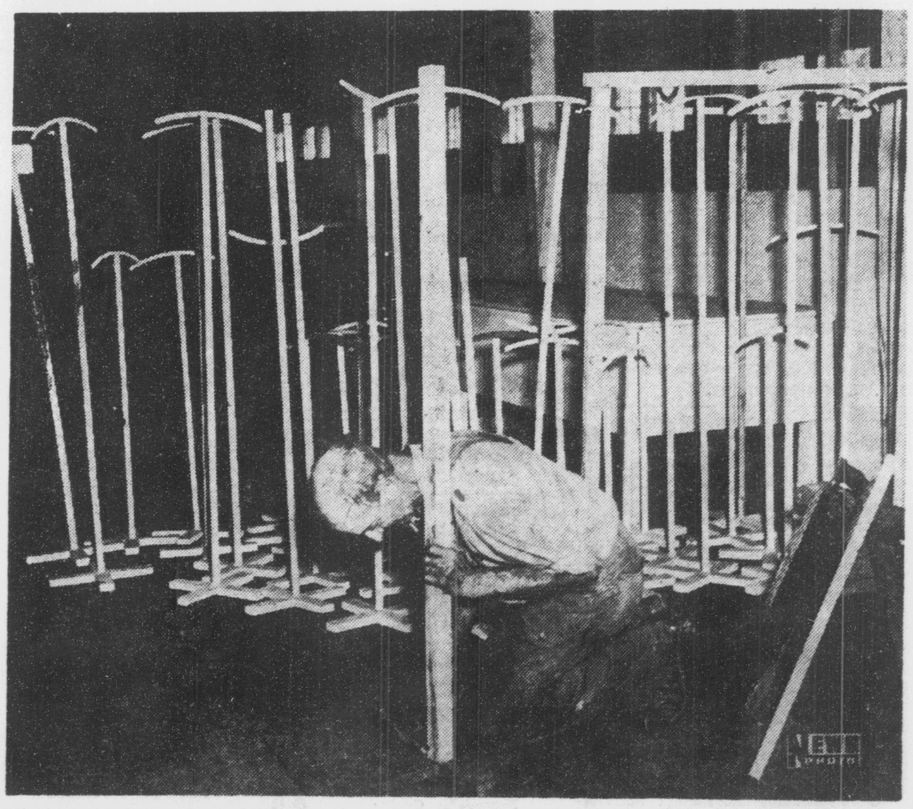
Medals will be presented to members of the top team in each class, and runners-up will be awarded points toward the city playground banner.

Yesterday's semifinals were played at North End Playground.

A beauty contest will be held Friday at North End for girls in three age groups.

Prizes will be awarded to children in these groups: 1-2 years; 3-4 years, and 5-6 years. Aspirants for crowns in any of the classes may register with the playleaders.

The playground will also hold a boat race Tuesday, August 21, in the wading pool.



GETTING READY FOR FAIR—Eston D. Fultz, a carpenter, is one of the many workmen who are busy at Fairgo making the necessary preparations for the 34th annual Cumberland Fair, which will be held from August 20 through August 25. Fultz is making hangers on which 4-H Club girls will display clothing which they have made. When August 20 arrives they will be laden with wearing apparel.

Schurg Dies; Wife May Face Murder Charge

Bullet Wound Is Fatal To Welder

George A. Schurg, 27, died last night in Frostburg, the victim of a shooting Monday at his Hoffman home. Authorities said his 22-year-old wife, Shirley, probably would face a murder charge.

Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, said Schurg died at 7:20 p.m. in Miners Hospital, Frostburg. An autopsy was planned to determine the exact cause of death.

Schurg was admitted to the hospital at 1:30 a.m. Monday after being shot through the right side of the chest with a .22 caliber rifle.

Doctors gave him little chance of recovery. They said the bullet had passed through a lung and had caused severe internal hemorrhage.

Mrs. Schurg has been in custody since the shooting, which police said occurred about 1:15 a.m. Monday in the living room of the Schurg home.

Was Hit In Chest

Trooper First Class William F. Baker, State Police criminal investigator, said Schurg had just returned home and that his wife apparently was angry because he had been out late.

Baker said Mrs. Schurg fired one shot from Schurg's .22 caliber pump gun. The bullet struck Schurg in the chest.

Schurg took the weapon, discharged a remaining bullet into the floor to empty the gun, then climbed into his car and drove to the hospital.

His wife was arrested shortly afterward at the hospital where she had followed Schurg. She saw him briefly before being taken to jail.

Will Be Charged

Last night, the State's Attorney's Office said a murder charge would "in all probability" be filed against her.

Schurg, a welder at the Big Savage Refractories Corporation plant in Zihlman, was a son of George Schurg, Spring Street, Frostburg, and the late Martha Donius Schurg.

He is survived, besides his widow, the former Miss Shirley Meek, by seven brothers, Harry and Francis, Cumberland; John, Detroit, and Elmer, Clarence, Carl and Eugene, all of Frostburg; four sisters, Mrs. Alverna Eckhart, Los Angeles, Calif.; Mrs. Dorothy Pappas and Mrs. Alva Lewis, Frostburg, and Miss Helen Schurg, at home, and two daughters, Pamla Jean and Shela.

The body will be at the Hafer Funeral Home, Frostburg.

HORSE SHOW WINNER—Ringmaster Charles Scott is shown preparing to pin the winner's ribbon on Lady Alice, who won the three gaited stake class prize at the Cumberland Horse Show last year. Seated on Lady Alice is the owner, Lorraine Kinskey, Hill View Farms, Washington, Pa., who has entered Lady Alice in this year's show. She has also entered two other horses, Ring Win's Magic and Conquistador. Standing nearby is Miss Betty Jo Ward, Miss Frostburg of 1950, who was present at last year's event. The Cumberland Lions Club will again sponsor the fifth annual horse show September 14 to 16 for the benefit of underprivileged blind and crippled children.

Youth, 18, Dies When Crushed Under Tractor

Samuel L. Jones Was Working On Farm

An 18-year-old Hartmansville, W. Va., youth died instantly about 1 p. m. yesterday when his head was crushed beneath a heavy tractor he was operating on his father's farm.

Samuel Lester Jones was killed when the farm vehicle he was driving went over a platform near a barn on the Grant County property, tilted over, throwing him off the tractor against the barn. The tractor then toppled from the platform upon young Jones crushing him to death.

The boy was helping his father Lester Edward Jones when the accident occurred.

Besides his father he is survived by his mother, Mrs. Edna Lee Sager Jones, two sisters, Wilma and Velma Jones, three brothers, Glen, Eugene and Kermit Jones, all at home; three grandparents, William Sager, Mathias, W. Va., and Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Jones, Gormania, W. Va.

Funeral service will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. (EST) from the Mt. Storm Methodist Church and interment will be in the Lahmansville Cemetery.

The body will be at the residence near Hartmansville.

A native of Maysville, Grant County, W. Va., young Jones was born August 6, 1933 and attended Bayard, W. Va., High School.

Trooper F. W. Bowley, West Virginia State Police detachment from Keyser, W. Va., is investigating.

NEW TEACHERS—These two local residents will begin teaching in the Allegany County public school system when classes are resumed next month. The young man at the left is Joseph H. Pellerzi, 517 Linden Street, a Frostburg State Teachers College graduate, who will teach at Cresaptown. The young woman, Miss Gwendolyn Pierce, 42 Virginia Avenue, will be on the faculty at Johnson Heights School. She is a graduate of Western Maryland College in Westminster.

Judge Refuses Reduction In Meyers Bail

Men Will Appear In Court Tuesday

BALTIMORE, Aug. 0. (AP)—After noting that "facilities for travel have improved," a federal judge refused today to grant immediate reductions in the bail of three men charged with conspiring to advocate overthrow of the government.

Judge W. Calvin Chestnut indicated he may grant some reduction next week after a further hearing on petitions for release of the men.

Two Communists and an attorney who has represented Communists, they are now being held under $75,000 bail each.

Defense Counsel argued today that they were arrested without adequate basis, that they were not given an immediate opportunity to hire lawyers and the bail is "excessive and arbitrary."

Harold Buchman, attorney for George A. Meyers and Maurice L. Braverman, contended the amount of bail was equivalent to "throwing them in jail and throwing away the key."

Meyers is chairman of the Maryland Branch of the Communist Party. The FBI says Braverman has been the official attorney for the branch.

Joseph Forer, Washington attorney representing Roy Wood, argued that the $75,000 bail was, in effect, no bail and therefore violated his client's rights under the Eighth Constitutional Amendment.

None of the defendants appeared in court today, but at the suggestion of the Judge, U. S. District Attorney Bernard J. Flynn agreed to produce them at the next hearing at 12 p. m. (EDT) Tuesday.

Flynn argued that, in view of the recent bail-jumping by four of 11 top-level Communists, the figure set here is necessary to assure the presence of the defendants at their trial.

Defense Counsel estimated that $5,000 would be more reasonable for Meyers and Woods, but Braverman should be released on his recognizance because he is a lawyer.

Judge Chestnut said he felt neither the $75,000 nor the figures advanced by the defense seemed to be reasonable. Next week he'll use the "artillery practice to get closer to the target," he added.

"We should bear in mind, however," he said, "that the Eighth Amendment was written in 1791, x x x that the value of money has changed since then, and x x x that facilities of travel have greatly improved since then."

Senate Group Okays Local Flood Money

$1,000,000 Allotted For Construction

The Senate Appropriations Committee yesterday approved $1,000,000 for flood control construction in Cumberland and Ridgeley, W. Va., for the current fiscal year. This is the amount voted by the House June 13 in its appropriations bill for Army civil functions.

Local engineers, who stated $2,400,000 had been requested in order to start the next phase of construction of the flood program here, believe the severe cut will greatly hamper amount of work which can be done when the current contract is completed.

The Senate as a body still has to vote on the measure and steps may be taken to increase the amount before final passage, engineers here ventured.

Present flood work is expected to be completed before December, they added.

Area 4-H Leaders Receive Awards At College Park

Mrs. Roland Among Four Honored

Four adult leaders from Allegany and Garrett Counties, who combined have served as 4-H Club sponsors for a total of 90 years, were honored in ceremonies yesterday at College Park as Maryland's 4-H clubbers neared the end of their week of study and play at the University of Maryland.

Emerald pins and certificates denoting 25 years as 4-H club sponsors went to Mrs. Elsie Hill Roland, of Flintstone, in Allegany County, and Miss Margaret Ringler, of Garrett County.

20 Year Pins

Twenty-year pins went to Miss Elizabeth Workman, of Frostburg, and Miss Lola King, of Deer Park, in Garrett County.

No other adult leaders from elsewhere in the state were able to qualify for the service awards.

The awards were announced at yesterday's "Thank You" assembly. Mrs. Roland, principal of Flintstone High School, received her pin and certificate from Guy Gienger. He once was president of her 4-H Club and is now on the agricultural engineering faculty at the College of Agriculture.

Horseback Show

The 1,200 boys and girls attending the Club Week were treated to a horseback riding demonstration during the morning program yesterday. It was sponsored by the Maryland Horsebreeders Association with a suggestion that some of the club members might want to think about raising and training horses as a profitable farm project.

Last night the club members wound up their week's outing with a dedication service and the annual pageant staged by the All-Star Club, an honor society of outstanding members from the various counties.

The youngsters will return to their homes by bus after breakfast this morning.

City Officials Report Progress On New Budget

Group Meets Again Monday Morning

Satisfactory progress was noted in yesterday's preliminary meeting of the Mayor and City Council on the city budget for the fiscal year which began July 1, Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor, said yesterday.

Facing the possibility of having to increase this year's tax rate, the mayor and council, along with Gibson and City Solicitor W. Earle Cobey, reviewed their problem at a three-hour meeting yesterday morning in the Mayor's office.

Original requests totaled $66,000 more than the city could expect to collect for operating expenses in this fiscal year, Gibson explained, and after yesterday's meeting the deficit was pared down to approximately $35,000, he went on.

With more than half of the budget list still to be reviewed, Gibson declared, the city officials had been able to shave off about $30,000 and was expected to get within the limit at their next meeting following Monday's morning public council session.

Gibson said he was well pleased with the efforts of the commissioners to tighten their requests to get within the expectable income of $1,027,000 which, officials said, is based on a five cent tax increase.

Allowed only 95 cents of the tax rate for operating expenses by law, the city must fall back on other sources of revenue to meet the increasingly higher demands for money to run the municipality.

With raised salaries and high costs of living and operation, the city can expect to garner only about $617,000 additional from property taxes on the city's assessable basis of $65,000,000, Gibson remarked.

The current tax rate is $1.27.

Weather

Yesterday began as a sunny summer day, but clouds formed an overcast in early afternoon. Temperatures soared into the 90s with humidity making the air sticky. A few drops of rain fell in late afternoon, and the mercury began to fall rapidly at about 7 p. m. The high temperature was reported as 94 degrees by the weather station at Constitution Park. The low was 68, and at 8 p. m., the thermometer leveled at 77 degrees. The humidity was recorded as 58 per cent. The Weather Bureau predicts some cloudiness, warm and humid today with scattered afternoon or evening thundershowers.

Area Teachers To Get Degrees

Aden G. Lewis, 64 McCulloh Street, Frostburg, and Anne W. Tennant, 313 Greene Street, city, will be among the 261 students graduated with master's degrees this morning by Pennsylvania State College at State College, Pa.

Lewis, an instrumental music teacher in Allegany County who specializes in piano ,and Miss Tennant both will receive degrees of master of education in education.

Dr. Paul R. Anderson, president of Pennsylvania College for Women, Pittsburgh, Pa., will speak at the exercises at 10:30 a. m. today while Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, president of the State College, will confer degrees and doctorates among 563 students.

Other area students who will be graduated today from the Pennsylvania college are Ruth A. Brice, Bedford, Pa., master of education in education; Homer F. Mazer, Hyndman, Pa., bachelor of science in agricultural education; Anna M. Keyser, Schellsburg, Pa., master of education in education; Joseph M. Ream, Berlin, Pa., bachelor of arts in arts and letters; Carrie E. Moser, Meyersdale, Pa., master of education in education; and Francis A. Showalter, Salisbury, Pa., master of education in social studies.

Betty Twigg Wins Contest In Cresaptown

Miss Betty Twigg was crowned "Miss Cresaptown" at a teen-age dance last night at the Cresaptown Volunteer Fire Company hall. The naming of the queen was part of the three-day celebration held annually by the fire company.

Runnersup were Miss Frances Winters and Miss Betty Wolford. Cash prizes awarded the winners were donated by the fire company and its auxiliary.

The three winners will ride in the parade tonight which will climax the affair beginning at 7:30 p. m. Approximately 22 units will be in the line of march with prizes to be awarded best appearing band, drum corps and fire company and best auxiliary.

Members of the Cresaptown Lions Club were judges in last night's contest in which the participants vied for honors in evening gowns. Another dance will close out the celebration tonight following the parade.

Will Probated In Court Here

The will of Henry Orlando Barncord, 81, Corriganville, who died July 26, was admitted to probate yesterday in Allegany County Orphans Court.

A son, John Mitchell Barncord, RFD 5, Vocke Road, qualified as executor of the estate.

The will, dated Sept. 28, 1946, provides that Barncord's real estate on the Cumberland-Mt. Savage Road, at Corriganville, should be shared equally by his four children. They are William Carl Barncord, Corriganville; Mrs. Elsie Heretta Hensel, Corriganville; David Henry Barncord, this city, and John Mitchell Barncord.

All the rest of his property is to be held in trust by John Mitchell Barncord. During the life of the elder Barncord's widow, Mrs. Mary Ann Barncord, all of the profits from the trust are to go to her. After her death the four children are to share the revenue from the trust.

Institute Held By B'Nai B'Rith

Robert Kaplon, city, has returned from attending the District Grand Lodge No. 5 of B'nai B'rith fourth annual Institute of Judaism held at Wildacres, Little Switzerland, N. C., August 1 to 5. He was a member of the Institute committee.

The theme of the institute was "Judaism Through the Ages." Outstanding authorities in Orthodox, Conservative and Reformed Jewish religion were among the speakers.

Rabbi Oscar Z. Fasman lectured on "The Method of the Talmud" "What Is Orthodox Judaism?" and "The Influence of the Talmud on the Personality of the Jew." He is president of the Hebrew Theological College, Chicago, and is a former Canadian Army chaplain, an author and lecturer.

Dr. Shalom Spiegel, professor of medieval literature at the Jewish Theological Seminary of America, spoke on "What Is Conservative Judaism?" "The Bible Through the Ages," and "The Bible Today." Dr. Spiegel received his Ph. D., in 1922 from the University of Vienna and served as professor of Biblical Literature at the Jewish Institute of Religion.

"What Is Reform Judaism?" "The Romance of Polish Jewry," and "The Saga of German Jewry," were discussed by Rabbi Solomon B. Freehof, of Rodef Shalom Temple, Pittsburgh. A graduate of the University of Cincinnati and Hebrew Union College, where he later served as a professor, he served as chaplain with the AEF during World War I. He has been president of the Central Conference of American Rabbis.

Naval Reserve Rules Explained

Eligibility requirements for acceptance in the U. S. Naval Reserve were explained yesterday by Lt. Commander W. E. Woodson, Jr., inspector-instructor, Naval Reserve, for this area.

Male applicants who have attained their 19th but not their 26th birthday are eligible for acceptance, Comdr. Woodson said, if they are classified by their Selective Service Boards as IV-A or if they are classified III-A and have less than four dependents.

Others acceptable for membership include members of the Naval Reserve who upon expiration of their current enlistments desire to reenlist immediately, and Naval or Coast Guard veterans with a minimum of six months active service who are eligible for enlistment or re-enlistment in the Naval Reserve in pay grade E-2 or higher.

The latter group consists of veterans who because of limited previous active service are liable for induction training and service under the Selective Service Act, but whose Naval and Coast Guard training will permit utilization of their services without recruit training.

Recruiting Drive Opened By Navy Here

The Navy Recruiting Substation here has announced the opening of an extensive recruiting drive. The Navy's urgent need of men has resulted in an order for the local recruiting substation to remain open from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m. daily.

Volunteers for the Navy have fallen off in the last month necessitating a step up in recruiting operations to keep pace with recruit quotas assigned for this area.

There is no limit on the number of men that can be accepted for enlistment, and no waiting period between completing application and actual enlistment and transfer to the Naval Training Center.

Firemen Sign Pension Forms

Forty-two of the city's 50 firemen have signed applications for inclusion in the State Employes Retirement System, City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson announced yesterday.

Deadline for applications is Wednesday. This will allow time for the local Fire Department to be included in the period beginning September 1.

Under the new plan, the present city program will be discontinued before the firemen switch over to the state system.

Observers explained that the city has agreed to changeover only if the present city program is discontinued and if firemen will release the city of all claims under the present system.

Entrance of the local department into the system would set a precedent in that it would be the first paid fire department in the state to enter.

Other city employes, however, are covered by the state plan. The Police Department still has its own pension system.

West Virginian Seeks $5,000

A Wiley Ford, W. Va., man filed a $5,000 suit yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court against a Fort Ashby, W. Va., man who he alleges wrongfully assaulted him on Virginia Avenue.

The suit was docketed for Harry E. Abe by Attorney Edward J. Ryan against Earl M. See.

Abe charged in the suit that he suffered severe and permanent injuries about 6 p. m. June 7 when See maliciously assaulted him.

Ryan said that his client sustained extensive injuries to his right arm, which have resulted in partial paralysis of the limb. He added that the assault occurred on the sidewalk in the 500 block of Virginia Avenue.

See drew a fine in Trial Magistrate's Court on an assault charge, Ryan asserted.

Both Abe and See are employed by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad in the South Cumberland yards.

Rate Boost Termed Great Disappointment

BALTIMORE, Aug. 10 (AP)—The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad estimated today it will get only $5,000,000 in additional revenue this year as the result of the freight rate increase authorized by the Interstate Commerce Commission on Wednesday.

Roy B. White, president of the road, pointed out that the nine per cent increase approved on Wednesday includes a four per cent increase already put into effect on a temporary basis in April.

The earlier four per cent increase provided the B&O an estimated $10,200,000 in additional revenue annually. White said the current traffic volume indicates the new order will produce another $17,100,000 on an annual basis.

The B&O president said at the time of the Wednesday announcement that the increase would not be sufficient to cover the higher costs of wages and materials. He called it a "great disappointment."

County Leads In Industrial Employment

Allegany County has more industrial workers in proportion to its population than any other section of the state, according to figures compiled by the Maryland State Planning Commission.

The Commission said 152.9 persons in every 1,000 Allegany Countians are industrial workers. This is nearly twice the national average of 79.1. The state average is 81.1.

Second in Baltimore County, where 148.5 of every 1,000 are industrial workers. Washington County is fifth with 105.6, and Charles County is lowest, with 5.4. The Baltimore City figure is 103.8 per 1,000.

Man Is Sentenced In Parole Violation

Bradford M. Oster, this city, was sentenced to six months in the Maryland House of Correction in Trial Magistrates Court yesterday for violation of parole. He pleaded guilty to the charge.

He was sentenced July 17 for drunkeness, but the sentence was suspended, and he was paroled for two years on the condition that he refrain from the use of intoxicants.

Mt. Savage Woman Receives Watch

Ida E. Griffith, Mt. Savage, was presented a wrist watch yesterday by H. C. Givens Jr., Amcelle plant manager, for 25 years service with the Celanese Corporation of America.

John Bestwick, superintendent of spinning and auxiliary, presented her with a 25 year certificate and pin. She started working at the Amcelle plant August 10, 1926 in spun-stores, an auxiliary of spinning, and is now a forewoman in the department.

Elderly Man Hit By Automobile

Urner Carl, 71, Mt. Savage Road, was struck by an automobile yesterday about 12:40 p. m. at the intersection of Baltimore and Centre Streets. He was taken to Allegany Hospital where attaches said X-rays were taken.

Police preferred charges of failure to give right of way to a pedestrian against Richard Louis Close, 34, Ellerslie, driver of the car.

$31,500 Involved In Property Sales

Deeds filed yesterday in the office of the clerk of Circuit Court listed three transactions in which a total of $31,500 was involved.

J. Milton Twigg, Esther B. Twigg, Peter M. Shoenadel and Katherine Shoenadel sold three parcels on the south side of National Road, about five miles west of Cumberland, to the Baland Corporation for about $15,000.

Robert W. McColley and Dorothy Lee McColley sold property on the west side of Louisiana Avenue to John R. McVicker and Verna C. McVicker for about $11,000.

Algino J. Nicolato, Jr., and Catherine A. Nicolato transferred ownership of property on the west side of McMullen Highway, about a half mile north of McCoole, to Frank C. Foster and Mildred L. Foster for about $5,500.

3,600 Disabled Vets Entitled To Grants

Nearly 3,600 seriously disabled veterans have established their right to Federal grants for "wheelchair" homes, the Veterans Administration said.

The grants were authorized by an act first passed by Congress in 1948 and later amended, under which VA defrays 50 per cent of the cost of such homes for eligible veterans up to a maximum grant of $10,000.

Originally, only paralyzed veterans of war or peacetime service since 1898, whose service-connected disabilities result in the loss, or loss of use, of both legs.

Two Properties Sold For $10,000

Two Frostburg properties were sold for a total of about $10,000 according to deeds recorded in the office of the clerk of the Circuit Court.

Anna L. Crowe sold property on west side of College Avenue and south side of Locust Street in Frost's Heir's Addition, Frostburg, to Joseph M. Myers and Margaret R. Myers for about $5,000.

Mary Theresa Byrnes sold property on Maple Street in Beall's First Addition, Frostburg, to Albert W. Capel and Beatrice Capel for about $5,000.

Paper Collection Set

A paper collection will be held Monday on all streets north of Baltimore Street and Baltimore Avenue, including the Bedford and Frederick Street sections. Bundles should be placed on curbs before 9 a.m.

North End Wins 3 Classes In Volleyball Semifinals

North End Playground teams took three top spots yesterday in the Intracity Volleyball Tournament semifinals for northern and western city playgrounds.

The North Enders trounced Columbia Street 15-6 to win the Class A lead (boys 16-17). They also took the lead in Class D (boys 9-12) and Class E (girls 9-12).

Columbia Street's Class B team (boys 13-15) came back with a 15-8 victory over North End to win the class semifinals.

Centre Street won in Class C (girls 13-16) with a 15-10 victory over East Side Playground.

Winners in each class will meet South End's during the Intracity Playground Picnic Friday at Constitution Park.

Medals will be presented to members of the top team in each class, and runners-up will be awarded points toward the city playground banner.

Yesterday's semifinals were played at North End Playground.

A beauty contest will be held Friday at North End for girls in three age groups.

Prizes will be awarded to children in these groups: 1-2 years; 3-4 years, and 5-6 years. Aspirants for crowns in any of the classes may register with the playleaders.

The playground will also hold a boat race Tuesday, August 21, in the wading pool.

Shaw Receives Thanks For Garden Seeds

Thanks for garden seeds sent to England through the All American Friendship League has been received by Ross Shaw, Oldtown.

Some 350 packets of garden seeds collected in the Oldtown area were distributed in England through the Women's Volunteer Services.

Four Area Men Enlist In Marines, Navy

Four area men enlisted into the armed forces this week.

Raymond Joseph Wempe, 614 Elwood Street, and Donald Edward Largent, Paw Paw, W. Va., enlisted in the Marine Corps. They will go to Parris Island, S .C., for training.

Willard Dale Swain, RFD No. 1, Hancock, and James Richard Blue, 118 Bedford Street, were sworn into the Navy Tuesday and were dispatched to Bainbridge.

GETTING READY FOR FAIR—Eston D. Fultz, a carpenter, is one of the many workmen who are busy at Fairgo making the necessary preparations for the 34th annual Cumberland Fair, which will be held from August 20 through August 25. Fultz is making hangers on which 4-H Club girls will display clothing which they have made. When August 20 arrives they will be laden with wearing apparel.

Holt Reunion To Be Held Tomorrow

The second annual reunion of the descendants of Joseph and Eliza Holt will be held tomorrow at an all-day meeting at the Hyndman Camp grounds, beginning at 9 a.m.

Joseph Stuckey, Hyndman, is chairman and William Iser, Oldtown, secretary.

There will be a business meeting and entertainment including recreational games. A picnic dinner and supper will be held.

Terminal Meeting Set

A Cumberland Terminal meeting will be held Tuesday at 1:30 p.m. in the council chamber at City Hall.

Weather Forecast

Some cloudiness, warm and humid today with scattered thundershowers.

CEASE-FIRE TALKS REACH CRISIS

Refuses To Quash Contempt Charges

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP)—The Senate gave a virtual vote of confidence today to its crime committee's practice of televising some of its major hearings.

It refused by a roll-call vote of 38 to 13 to withdraw contempt of Congress charges against two witnesses who said they would not testify while television, radio and newsreel were operating.

Accusing the crime committee of running wild and putting on "headline hunting" spectacles and extravaganzas, Sen. Cain (R-Wash.) had asked the Senate to reconsider contempt citations voted March 30 against Morris Kleinman and Louis Rothlopf of Cleveland.

Welker Backs Cain

He was backed by Sen. Welker (R-Idaho), who denounced "the startling reality of a quasi court of law (the committee)" demanding that American citizens testify under oath before an array of microphones and cameras.

Welker said he doubted whether courts would find a witness in contempt for refusing to testify in such a blare of publicity.

But the crime committee claimed its televised hearings are "of great benefit to the people." The Senate apparently supported this view when the roll was called.

Kleinman and Rothkopf were linked by the crime investigators with a big interstate gambling syndicate. Their refusal to testify occurred March 26.

Today's vote cleared the way for the contempt citations to be sent to the U. S. attorney here for presentation to a grand jury. The penalty on conviction for contempt is up to one year in jail and a $1,000 fine.

Full Legal Test Possible

If Kleinman and Rothlopf base their defense on the presence of television and other recording equipment in the hearing room, the television issue may be given a full legal test.

The attack by Cain and Welker led the committee to issue a policy statement which said the televising of its hearings brought home to the public "a clear picture of the character and ramifications of organized interstate crime."

The committee explained it had taken careful measures to prevent any exploitation or commercialization of the hearings.

It intends to permit television broadcasts of a renewed investigation of crime conditions in New York City next week. The hearings will open here next Wednesday and run for about three days.

Death Toll In Rail Crash Set At Eight

Troop Train Wrecked In Collision With Streamliner

Three cars of a troop train carrying more than 300 Marines are shown wrecked and burning after the train crashed head-on with the Southern Belle, of the Kansas City Southern Railroad, operator of both trains. Eight persons were reported killed and more than 60 injured in the crash near Simmesport, La.

Marines' Train And Streamliner Collide Head-On

60 Injured In Wreck Near Simmespoort, La.

SIMMESPORT, La., Aug. 10 (AP)—A Marine troop train and a Kansas City Southern streamliner crashed head-on and burned near here today.

Kansas City Southern officials put the toll at eight dead including one Marine, and one missing. More than 60 were injured.

Railroad officials said the troop train crew for an unknown reason ignored an order to put the train on a side track to allow the streamlined Southern Belle to pass on the main track.

Kansas City Southern officials first put the death toll at 14 but said later they had learned that reports that two marines, a negro brakeman and four negro civilian passengers had been killed were incorrect.

Water Poured On Wreckage

The crash occurred about 7 a. m. (CST) on a double bend in flat cotton and timber country some 60 miles northeast of Baton Rouge.

Railroad workmen tonight were pouring streams of water from a tank car on the flaming trains to cool the twisted wreckage before cutting into the trains with acetylene torches in search for the bodies of other possible dead.

R. R. Sutter, KCS superintendent of transportation at Shreveport, said the railroad's financial loss would amount to $700,000 exclusive of possible death and personal injury claims.

"Just why the crew of the troop train failed to switch it to the siding is something we may never know since most of those who might be able to give a reason are already dead," Sutter said.

Probably Going 55 MPH

He said that authorized speed of the two trains was 55 miles per hour, adding, "I have no reason to believe that either train was traveling much slower than that at the time."

Maj. Dunkle said the more seriously injured Marines were flown to Fort Sam Houston, Tex., and Camp Polk, La., for hospitalization.

Dr. J. C. Roberts, Pointe Coupee Parish (county) coroner at Morganza, La., said one Marine burned to death and another was so badly injured his left arm and leg had to be amputated before he was flown to Fort Sam Houston.

Uninjured Marines aboard the troop train were taken to Baton Rouge where they were to be housed at the U. S. Naval Training Center tonight unless the Kansas City Southern was able to supply another troop train.

Argument Delays Vote On Military Construction Bill

Project In Truman's Home County Rapped

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP) — An argument over locating a new $19,000,000 Air Force installation in President Truman's home county today brought a weekend delay in House action on a $5,768,000,000 military construction bill.

The $19,000,000 would be used to expand the airport at Grandview, in Jackson County, Mo. Grandview was the home of Mr. Truman's mother and he used its airport on various trips back home.

Rep. Gross (R-Iowa) sought to knock out the Grandview item, pointing out there is an Air Force Field at nearby Sedalia, Mo., and suggested it be used instead. He said the Grandview field is a tiny one, and to spend millions building it up would amount "to a glorified WPA project."

Gross Motion Defeated

Gross' motion to strike out the item was defeated, 56 to 15, after Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) and Rep. Kilday (D-Tex) of the House Armed Services Committee said that Grandview was to be fitted into plans for a centralized location for control of air reserves. (Later it was learned from committee sources that it is proposed to move headquarters to the Continental Air Command from Mitchell Field, Long Island, to Grandview. The Air National Guard is under direction of this command.)

After his defeat, Gross moved to send the whole bill back to the committee with instructions to remove the Grandview item. Leaders decided to take a vote on this Monday and, assuming that Gross would lose again, to vote on the bill Tuesday.

U. S. No Longer Secure

Most of the projects in the $5,768,000,000 construction bill were asked to help keep the U. S. safe from Soviet atom bombs. Vinson reminded the House that in the last war, the U. S. was quite secure, and added:

"Today we face a vastly different situation. Russia has the atom bomb and the capability to drop it within the continental United States.

"Against that threat, it is mandatory that we provide for the air defense of this nation."

Vinson's statement was challenged by Rep. Cole (R-NY) who told the House that as a member of the Senate-House Atomic Committee he had "no information" that Russia had the A-bomb.

Vinson retorted that Cole was the only man in the country who doesn't think Russia has it.

Reds Refuse To Shift From Buffer Issue

Allied Negotiators Return To Kaesong

U. N. ADVANCE HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Saturday, Aug. 11 (AP)—United Nations negotiators today returned to the Korean armistice talks in an atmosphere of crisis.

The Communist delegation at Friday's resumption of the meetings set in stony silence. It refused to talk about anything but the 38th parallel, or to budge from its position that the buffer zone must be drawn there. The Allies want the line north of the parallel.

The stubborn attitude of the Communist delegation pushed the deadlocked talks to the most critical point since they began a month ago.

The United Nations delegation reached Kaesong at 10:45 a. m. (7:45 p. m. Friday, E.S.T.) by helicopter for the 21st meeting with the North Korean and Chinese Communist delegation.

Sitting Contest

For two hours and 11 minutes of Friday's four-hour and 15-minute session not a word was exchanged between the Allied and Red truce teams. And it wasn't because the Allies were not willing to talk.

Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, chief United Nations delegate, had proposed—as he had in the past—that a cease-fire buffer zone be established generally along the present battlefront—which is mainly inside North Korea. He said the Allies were willing to discuss "possible adjustments" of such a zone.

Lt. Gen. Nam Il, chairman of the Red delegation, said nothing.

And so they sat. The Reds fidgeted and whispered among themselves. The Allies looked bored.

Finally, after the sitting contest had gone two hours and 11 minutes, Joy suggested they talk about something else—inspection behind rival lines in event of an armistice. Evidently having anticipated this suggestion, Nam read a prepared statement of refusal, still harping on parallel 38 as the center of a buffer zone.

Reds Renew Protests

However, another meeting was set for today.

Friday's meeting—the 20th since the talks began July 10—was the fruitless resumption of negotiations after a five-day suspension.

The Peiping radio Saturday morning said the Red delegation had renewed in writing on Friday its protests of Thursday alleging that the Allies had violated the neutrality of the conference area.

The broadcast said that Adm. Joy's reply to their first protests was "entirely unsatisfactory."

Joy had told them one protest, involving alleged strafing of a truck, on Tuesday, was "completely without validity" and that the other about a small ground action was raised tardily but was being given "such consideration as it deserves."

Truman Backs Industrial Plant Dispersal Policy

Is Defying Congress, Rep. Martin Declares

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP) — President Truman gave his blessing today to an "industrial dispersion policy" designed to spread out industrial plants against the danger of concentrated atomic attacks.

Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, House Republican leader, immediately protested that the President was "flagrantly" defying Congress, which recently refused to approve such a policy.

Some critics of dispersal have expressed fear it would be a blow to existing industrial areas.

The policy statement approved by Mr. Truman said:

"Since 1945, we have experienced a period of unprecedented industrial expansion, but except for a few examples, there has been no pronounced trend away from these concentrations (of industry).

"Some eighteen billions in new plants and equipment were spent annually during the past four years, largely in areas already highly industrialized.

"Although we are increasing our defense efforts, the danger of atomic attack grows and demands that new and more positive policies be put into effect to obtain added security for our industrial establishment without jeopardizing its productive efficiency."

Jack Gorrie, acting chairman of the National Security Resources Board, issued an illustrated booklet explaining the new program. It was based on a study conducted in Seattle by representatives of industry, labor and local government.

Martin was one of the leaders in the congressional movement which brought about defeat of similar proposals as an amendment to the recently extended Defense Production Act.

There has been widespread resistance to dispersing plants, based in part on fears of losses to the community.

Senate OKs Bradley

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP)—The Senate approved today another two years term for Gen. Omar Bradley as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

WCTU Withdraws Its Support Of U. N. As Peace Agency

BOSTON, Aug. 10 (AP)—The 400,000-member Women's Christian Temperance Union today withdrew its support of the United Nations as "a vital instrument for peace" but pledged wider use of U. N. channels for relief work and education.

The action was taken wthout comment or debate from the floor of the WCTU's 77th annual convention.

A clause pledging the national WCTU to "increasing use of the United Nations as a channel in fighting hunger, want, disease and ignorance" was retained.

Spokesmen said dropping of the support clause does not mean opposition to the U. N.

Red Youths Defy West Berlin Ban

BERLIN, Aug. 10 (AP)—Tens of thousands of Communist blue shirts strayed from East Berlin's world youth festival into West Berlin as sightseers today and boosted the total of such visitors during the week to a quarter million.

Red leaders didn't like it. The youths defied Communist orders in surrendering to the temptation to see how the West does things. The steady stream made a mockery of the iron curtain.

East German leaders were reported seeking new ways to keep the blue shirts from exposure to Western industry, enterprise, hearty welcomes, good food and luxuries.

A crackdown against a few selected boys and girls backfired somewhat. A young girl, bitterly attacked in East Berlin for her trip, fled back to the West and tried to commit suicide by slashing her wrists. She was hurried into a West Berlin hospital and promised haven as a political refugee.

Other youths were reprimanded, German sources said, and some even sent home. The incidents became common knowledge among the 500,000 or more roaming the hodgepodge of programs in East Berlin and stirred up discontent.

Grounds For Divorce

CARLISLE, Eng., Aug. 10 (AP)—James Knox got a divorce today on charges of cruelty: His wife made him share their home with her father, her uncle and her pet pig.

Condon, Once Called Security Risk, Resigns Standards Post

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP)—Dr. Edward U. Condon, long a target of critics who called him a security risk, resigned today as director of the National Bureau of Standards.

The Corning Glass Company announced his appointment as director of research and development at its Corning, N. Y., laboratories.

Condon's letter of resignation made no mention of his being a target of a House Un-American Activities Subcommittee three years ago. The committee described Condon as "one of the weakest links in our atomic security." Condon vigorously defended his loyalty then and asked for a hearing. None was held. A number of congressmen and officials upheld his loyalty.

Condon wrote Mr. Truman that "I can no longer afford to accept the severe financial sacrifice involved." Condon had been drawing $14,000 a year; the Corning company refused to say how much it will pay him.

As word of Condon's action reached the Capitol, Reps. Vail and Velde, Illinois Republicans, said in a statement his "resignation under fire is too significant to justify confidence in the assigned reasons."

The statement added that Congress had been impeded in its investigation of Condon "by the action of the President in impounding the FBI file recording his activities, notwithstanding almost unanimous House passage of a House resolution requesting the surrender of said file."

Velde said that on July 30 he received a letter from Secretary of Commerce Sawyer stating that information "with reference to Dr. Condon" had been turned over for review to the department's security officers with instructions that "it was to be carefully studied and if such course were justified, turned over to the department loyalty board for consideration."

Asked about the statement by the two congressmen, Sawyer released further quotes from his letter which he noted had not been made public by Velde.

"As you of course know," he wrote, "Doctor Condon's case was presented to the loyalty board of this department the early part of 1948, prior to my assuming office as secretary, at which time a favorable finding was rendered.

"His case was again referred to the board toward the end of 1948 on receipt of some additional information bearing on the case. Again the findings of the board were favorable (to Condon)."

"Mother Bloor," Noted Red, Dies

QUAKERTOWN, Pa., Aug. 10 (AP)—Mrs. Ella Reeve Bloor Omholt, 88-year-old Communist pioneer known around the world as "Mother Bloor," died today at a convalescent home.

She had been a hospital patient since last March when she injured her spine in a fall at her farm home in this quiet rural area 40 miles north of Philadelphia. Her death, due to a stroke, was first announced by Communist Party headquarters in New York.

A militant fighter for the Marxist and Communist theories, Mother Bloor wrote in her biography several years ago that the day in 1919 when she became a charter member of the Communist Party in the United States "is one I shall remember and be proud of all my life."

Only semi-conscious much of the time in the last few months of her life, she was unable to recognize many of the people from all parts of the country who came to the hospital to see her. But nurses reported she sang very often, and almost always it was "The Star Spangled Banner."

40% Of World War II War Dead Returned

NEW YORK, Aug. 10 (AP)—Approximately 40 per cent of America's World War II dead have been returned to this country at the request of relatives, an official said today.

Harold A. Keats, member of the U. S. Commission on Battle Monuments, said that by the choice of next-of-kin the other 60 per cent will remain at U. S. cemeteries overseas.

Cow Struck By Car Strikes Aged Man

WAUKESHA, Wis., Aug. 10 (AP)—Edwin Sherwell, 87, was in critical condition today after being struck by a dead cow.

A car hit the cow on a highway near here. The cow, killed instantly, was hurled 15 feet to the side of the road where it struck Sherwell, a pedestrian. He suffered a broken leg, internal injuries and shock.

Harrington Upsets Compromise Report

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10. (AP)—Cornelius J. Harrington today upset reports there might be a compromise between President Truman and Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) over Harrington's nomination to the Chicago federal bench.

The hearing on his nomination, he told reporters, had been delayed only to give him time to refute two witnesses who appeared against him today. The Justice Department asked for the delay last week and that immediately led to speculation of a compromise.

The Senate Judiciary subcommittee is considering the President's nomination of Harrington and Joseph J. Drucker to places on the Chicago bench.

Using a senatorial prerogative, Douglas said the President's nominations were "personally obnoxious," though he considered them estimable men. Douglas' phrase is one that in the past has usually been enough to get the Senate to block a nomination.

Newspaperman Dies

BETHESDA, Md., Aug. 10 (AP)—Leslie E. Sanders, 55, Montgomery County, Md., newspaperman and former Florida publisher, died yesterday at his home here after a heart attack.

Hope Abandoned For Buried Boy

LANSING, Mich., Aug. 10 (AP)—Hope was abandoned tonight that a nine-year-old boy buried in a sand cave-in would be found alive as rescue crews abandoned digging operations until daylight.

Several hours of frantic digging by more than 50 men, aided by a steam shovel and bulldozer, failed to uncover the boy.

The child is Douglas Davis, son of an East Lansing factory worker.

Witnesses said the boy had been playing in a small tunnel which had been cut back into the face of the sandbank. It collapsed when two playmates jumped on top of it.

The child's companions were thrown several yards by the landslide but escaped injury.

Mother Of Three, Jailed 24 Hours For Speeding, Freed

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Aug. 10 (AP)—Jailed for nearly 24 hours for speeding at 70 miles an hour Mrs. Mary Ellen Kopko was set free today and joyfully rejoined her three small sons.

Mrs. Kopko was sent to jail yesterday by Municipal Judge Robert B. Nevin for five days. Since there was no one to care for her children, they were turned over to Mahoning County juvenile authorities to await her release.

But this afternoon, Juvenile Court Henry P. Beckenbach, angry over Judge Nevin's action, issued an affidavit of dependency, which permitted her to get out before the term expired.

Immediately, Mrs. Kopko, 27, piled her children into her 1950 Hudson and drove home to Shamokin, Pa. Judge Beckenbach told her to come back Wednesday.

Mrs. Kopko was returning to her home in Shamokin, from Detroit when Patrolman Metro Darko arrested her.

She was caught just a week after Judge Nevin had announced a new policy of jailing speeders. She pleaded guilty.

When a number of private citizens heard about it, they telephoned their protests both to the police and the judge.

Mrs. Kopko said her principal concern was whether the children would be cared for properly.

Church Of God Bishop Says He's Presidential Candidate

NEW YORK, Aug. 10 (AP)—With "righteousness" as his platform and an "all-nations flag" as his banner, a Protestant bishop today declared himself a candidate for president in 1952.

Bishop Homer A. Tomlinson, general overseer of the Church of God, said he will launch his campaign after a 21-day fast beginning this Sunday midnight.

"It is time," he said, "that we have as president a man of God whose main business is righteousness."

The 52-year-old leader of his church said he based his decision to run on the Bible, and this prediction in the Seventh Chapter and 27th verse of the Book of Daniel: "The kingdom and dominion and the greatness of the kingdom under the whole heaven shall be given to the people of the saints of the most high."

The bishop, noting that Daniel "made this amazing revelation" after a 21-day fast, said he planned to subject himself to the same ordeal, in the manner of the late Indian Leader Mahatma Gandhi.

After the fast, ending Labor Day, he said he will make a 42-state tour, appearing chiefly before groups of ministers.

"I intend to call upon men of God to fill every political office in 1951—from constable to president," he added.

Allies Launch Limited Attacks

U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Saturday, Aug. 11 (AP) — Savage local fighting flared on the eastern front yesterday as Allied forces battled to oust stubborn Communist defenders from commanding terrain.

Objectives of the limited Allied attacks southwest of Kansong were hills from 1,200 to 1,500 feet high that dominate the road leading north of Inje to the mountain fastness south of Konsan.

One action began at 2 a.m. yesterday and was still raging 22 hours later with the final result undetermined.

Elsewhere on the muddy front there was only light patrol contact.

Allied warplanes Friday flew 636 sorties through cloudy weather, hammering key Communist rail centers in the northwest.

Pyongyang, Korean Communist capital, and railway yards at Hwangju bore the brunt of the fiery air assaults.

Herbert Hoover Is 77

SANTA CRUZ, Calif., Aug. 10 (AP)—Herbert Hoover, the nation's only living former president, was 77 years old today.

Mr. Hoover sought the quiet of the Santa Cruz mountains for the day. His staff at Palo alto said he planned to spend a few days at the mountain ranch home of his brother, Theodore.

Witness "Busy," Misses Salisbury Crime Hearing

SALISBURY, Md., Aug. 10 (AP)—A star witness was missing today when the Legislative Council's touring investigators came here to learn about crime conditions on the lower Eastern Shore.

He was John L. Sanford, Jr., state's attorney for Worcester County.

It was not a case of reluctance. Sanford was busy. He was in Worcester County Circuit Court at Snow Hill—on a gambling case.

Edwin D. Lynch, Worcester County's sheriff, also failed to appear for the hearing.

Sen. Della (D-Balto. 6th) a member of the committee, immediately introduced a resolution that Sanford and Lynch be given special invitations to appear before the group when it holds its next meeting in Annapolis Aug. 24.

Chairman Crothers (D-Cecil) said they would be put under subpoena if necessary.

The committee was ordered by the 1951 General Assembly to study the crime situation in Maryland, particularly the existence of any organized rackets in the state or tie-ups between racketeers and law enforcement officials.

It has the power to subpoena a witness but Crothers' statement was the first hint that it might be used.

Conservationists Plan Water Rights Study

FREDERICK, Md., Aug. 10 (AP)—A study of Maryland's water rights laws was authorized today by conservationists meeting here and there may be a call for some new legislation.

The Maryland Association of Soil Conservation District Supervisors adopted a resolution aimed at the water rights questions.

The association said there is an "increasing demand on surface and ground waters of the state for irrigation of farm crops and other farm uses" and that this "may create questions of both legal rights and land use problems for the landowners of the state x x x."

The association said water rights laws are not generally understood by farmers.

Poles Charge U.S.I.S. Put Out Propaganda

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP)—The Polish Embassy said today the United States Information Service in Warsaw was shut down Wednesday because it was putting out war propaganda.

Activities of the service, the embassy said in a press statement, "went far beyond the accepted scope of the normal information work of an embassy."

"The character of the U.S.I.S. activities manifested itself most clearly in its bulletins, which devoted a major part of their contents to war propaganda directed against peaceful cooperation of nations and against countries—friends of Poland," the statement said in part.

Drives 10 Miles Then Remembers He Forgot His Wife

BALTIMORE, Aug. 10 (AP)—Ralph Straube drove along Pulaski Highway today with only the singing of his tires against the long concrete road to break the silence.

He had covered ten miles of his trip from Baltimore to Philadelphia when a thought suddenly exploded in his mind—"where's my wife?"

Straube wheeled around and sped back to a Baltimore filling station. Mrs. Straube was standing there, tapping her toe on the concrete.

The St. Petersburg, Fla., man had absent mindedly driven away without his wife after she went into the ladies room, he explained.

Soviets Expect Truman Move

MOSCOW, Aug. 10 (AP)—President Truman's disclosure that he intends to continue his correspondence with Soviet President Nikolai M. Shvernik was received with interest in Moscow today.

The Russians are anxious to see how he will react to Shvernik's proposals, especially since the U. S. State Department has turned down the one for a five-power peace pact which would include Communist China.

The Russians have made it clear they consider the peace pact—which would line up Americans, Britons, Frenchmen and Russians with the Red Chinese—as the heart of their proposals for easing world tension.

It is also clear the Russians expect something tangible from President Truman. There is no doubt they would like to have him suggest a meeting of the five powers or, if not that, a meeting of the four powers.

Crop Prospects Good Despite Flood, Drought

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP) — Floods and dry weather caused some damage to crops last month, but overall production prospects point to the second largest harvest in history, the Agriculture Department reported today.

Weather factors resulted in declines for such important crops as corn, wheat, barley, flaxseed, potatoes and tobacco.

But these were partly offset by improvement in the outlook for hay, oats, rice, sugar beets, dry beans and peas.

The department said, in its August crop reprt, that several million acres of crops were destroyed by floods, principally in Kansas, Missouri and Illinois.

Britain Unveils Stockless, Fast-Firing .280 Army Rifle

WARMINSTER, Eng., Aug. 10 (AP) — Britain today unveiled her new fast-firing .280 army rifle, a stockless weapon that looks like a submachinegun.

About 200 military attaches, including a Yugoslav, and 50 newsmen saw a demonstration obviously aimed at convincing Western military men the rifle is what Defense Minister Emanuel Shinwell says it is: The best weapon of its kind in existence.

Not all were convinced, especially the Americans.

The show at the infantry school here compared hand-made models of the rifle with the United States' semi-automatic .30 caliber Garand — the No. 1 nominee for the infantry weapon in proposed standardization of western arms — and the old British .303 bolt action Enfield.

Tests by expert riflemen proved the new gun can be fired faster than either of the others, but lacks their penetration and shocking power.

An odd looking weapon which can be converted from aimed fire to machinegun-like action by pressing a button on the side, the .280 turned out 84 shots a minute. The Garand fired 43 shots, the Enfield 28.

The new gun's penetration through wood proved slightly less than that of the Garand. With a stack of one-inch boards as the target, the Garand punched through 48½. The .280 averaged 46.

The conventional stock is completely lacking. It is replaced by metallic coverings for part of the automatic loading mechanism. The butt looks like a small metal shoelast, with a rubber pad to absorb part of the kick.

McCarran Group Might Referee

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP) — Sen. McCarran (D-Nev.) said today his internal security subcommittee might be willing to act as referee in the quarrel between Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) and the State Department over the loyalty of department employes.

On the Senate floor yesterday McCarthy named 26 persons, including Ambassador-at-Large Philip Jessup, whose loyalty he said had been challenged. The Wisconsin Senator accused Jessup and others of Communist sympathies.

When some fellow senators accused him of smearing and called him "a character assassin," McCarthy offered to let a "committee headed by a good Democrat" decided whether his charges are justified. He mentioned McCarran as the type of Democrat he had in mind.

"We don't crave it and are not asking for it," McCarran said in referring to the possibility that his Senate group might make an inquiry. "But it might be our staff could analyze it and present it."

Among those named by McCarthy yesterday was John Carter Vincent, former minister to Switzerland and now chief of the American Mission in Tangiers.

Vincent said at Tangiers today he is disgusted with McCarthy's "nefarious campaign of attack against State Department officials."

TWO REPUTED COMMUNIST LEADERS, Mrs. Dorothy Roe Blumberg, 47, of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Philip Frankfeld, 44, of Cleveland, O., are photographed in New York's Federal Court after their arrest by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents. They are charged with conspiracy to teach and advocate the overthrow of the United States Government. Mrs. Blumberg's bail was set at $75,000 and Frankfeld's at $100,000. Both were remanded to jail prior to a hearing. (International)

Polio In 1951

The incidence of poliomyelitis (infantile paralysis) in 1951 has been running somewhat below the number of cases reported for the corresponding months of 1950 and well below the comparable rate in 1949—the year when the number of cases reported hit an all-time high of 42,173. Tabulation of reports by telegram from state health officers to the U. S. Public Health Service through August 4 showed that 6,843 cases had been reported in the nation thus far in calendar 1951. For the comparable period in 1950, 7,298 cases had been reported; in 1949, 10,719.

Reports for the current "disease year" show the same relationship. The "disease year" for polio begins with the seasonal low week late in March. The cumulative total for the current disease year is 5,631, as compared with 6,167 for 1950 and 9,806 for 1949.

The number of cases of polio reported annually has been mounting irregularly snce 1915, when only 1,639 cases were reported. An epidemic in 1916 sent the total for that year to 27,363. The number of cases reported annually did not rise above 20,000 again until 1946, when 25,698 cases were reported. Incidence fell to less than half that figure in 1947, but in 1948, 27,902 cases were reported; in 1949, 42,173; in 1950, 33,202.

Reports show some degree of area concentration of the disease. Polio in Texas has been concentrated in seven counties; in Mississippi in four. In other states, such as California, Utah, Colorado, Wisconsin, Illinois, Kansas, and Michigan, a large proportion of cases reported in recent weeks have originated in urban areas.

Today the greatest incidence of polio in the United States occurs in the school-age group, according to Dr. Howard A. Howe, senior member of the Poliomyelitis Research Center at Johns Hopkins University. Twenty years ago polio struck more virulently at the pre-school group. Rates for adults in the United States are still low, in spite of increased reporting. Writing in Harper's magazine, Dr. Howe points out that some cases of polio produce no symptoms and hence go unreported. "Present figures indicate that there are probably at least 100 to 1,000 polio infections for every paralytic case."

Heaviest incidence of polio normally occurs in late summer and early fall. However, in Louisiana polio already appears to have passed its peak for 1951. Polio seems to affect more adolescents and young adults in rural areas than in cities; in urban areas, the disease is more likely to affect children.

A safe vaccine for human beings has yet to be perfected. Preliminary human tests with polio virus are considered reasonably "encouraging," according to Dr. Howe, but the launching of a poliomyelitis vaccination project would still have to be "a vast cooperative enterprise."

An Inspiring Story

An 18-year-old boy, Gilbert Provencher, has been having a successful one-man art show in New York City, in which most of his paintings have been sold at satisfactory prices. Standing alone, that would be evidence merely of precocity. What makes it truly remarkable is that as a boy of 14 he dived into a stream in his native New Hampshire, struck his head on hard bottom and was paralyzed from the shoulders down.

When the lad was examined there was a faint movement of the left shoulder and a faint trace of strength in the biceps of his left arm. These were carefully developed. Always Gilbert had wanted to be a painter. He first tried it with a brush in his teeth, but that was a failure. He did begin to get results with a brush strapped to his left elbow. Most of his paintings are of scenes of his New Hampshire countryside.

For two months this young man has been at the Institute of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation in New York City, where the exhibit has been held. There they are not trying to teach him to paint—he can do that—but to paint better. He has been offered an art fellowship, is assured of a studio of his own and a Christmas card concern will use some of his work.

For amputees who lie in pain in veterans' hospitals, skeptical that as to themselves the wonderful work already accomplished in restoring men to active life will succeed, the story of Gilbert Provencher should bring hope and inspiration.

Fewer Farm Dwellers

The number of persons living on farms in the United States has declined while the population of the whole nation has increased. Today the farm population is about 7½ million lower than 40 years ago while the nation has about 60 million more inhabitants.

Today less than one in every six persons lives on a farm, as against more than one in every three persons 40 years ago. At the time of the Civil War about three in every four Americans lived on farms.

Although the farm population has declined, relatively, over the decades, it has increased in certain specific years. In 1920 and 1946, for instance, when millions of men were demobilized from the Army. Also in the depression years of 1931, 1932, and 1933—many sons and daughters of farmers went back home to Pop for enough food to eat and a roof over their heads after they had lost their jobs in the city.

The Census Bureau distinguishes between farm population and rural population. According to the Census definition, the rural population is all that which doesn't live in a city or town of at least 2,500 inhabitants. And with the growth of the automobile and the expansion of bus routes, the rural non-farm population these days is almost as large as the rural farm population.

Overdue Reprisals

Suspension by Washington of tariff concessions to the Soviet Union and all other Communst-dominated states is dictated by consideration of self-respect. It is amazing that no one in authority in Washington thought of this before.

To have continued to regard these nations as friendly and thus entitled to special benefits would have been a gross perversion of truth and facts.

Because trade with the Red countries is already sharply limited, and has been ever since lend-lease and UNRRA shipments to them tapered off, the President's belated action will not have the damaging effect which most Americans would like to see. Nevertheless it is notice to the enemy and to the world in general that the United States at last intends to visit such reprisals as lie within its power upon governments which are guilty of physical attacks upon American citizens—as in the Oatis case in Czechoslovakia.

Unfortunately, there is no expectation that the step taken will cause either Russia or any of her satellites to mend their ways.

Iron Loss In Perspiration

During the last few years chemists have see-sawed on the answer to a problem dealing with perspiration. One group found that in addition to salt, we lost much iron in sweat. Other authorities have decided that the amount is so negligible it can hardly be measured.

The practical aspects of this situation are obvious but why are scientists unable to agree? This sounds like a simple experiment but it is doubtful whether one person in a thousand has any idea how difficult it is to measure the perspiration loss, let alone the percentage of iron or calcium the fluid contains. To begin with, sweat must be collected. This is not easy because evaporation takes place; furthermore, iron laden dust particles in the air might contaminate the body surface.

Recently several nutritionists at Cornell university engaged in this project. Four college women served as subjects, each for four periods of approximately one hour. They began by taking a good bath in hot soapy water and the hair was wrapper in cheesecloth to prevent dripping of perspiration from the scalp. From here they entered the sweating chamber and stood there until perspiration appeared on the back of the hands. The co-eds were rinsed with hot tap water, then with hot distilled water, and patted dry with a clean towel. Presumably this was done to cleanse the sweat pores and to remove loose skin cells which contain iron and might contaminate the sweat. The girls walked on a pathway of towels to a scale where weight was recorded, then sat in an enameled pan that had been placed on a chair, and put their feet in another pan. They remained there for one hour while perspiration was collected in the pans.

At the end of this period the temperature and humidity of the room were lowered to stop perspiration and the subjects were weighed and rinsed six to eight times with distilled water. This fluid too, was collected, in order to obtain perspiration from all parts of the body except the scalp, and turned over to the chemists. The perspiration and the rinse water were filtered and frozen and miscroscopic studies were done to determine whether the solutions contained skin cells, but few were present. The material finally was boiled down to an ash, and iron and calcium determinations were made from the residue.

In this experiment a moderate loss of calcium and iron occurred. The research workers felt that it was not enough to become excited about. They wrote: "Losses of calcium and iron of the magnitude found in this study are such as to indicate that the intake of the average woman engaging in average activity under average conditions of temperature and humidity must be increased a little to cover them." They believed that iron tablets were not necessary because the standard requirements for iron and calcium, as recommended by the National Research council, were higher than necessary. On the other hand, those living in the tropics or in the temperate zone during the warm season might need additional iron from time to time to make up the deficit. This is especially true when a person is engaged in heavy work or perspires more than usual.

AURA OF EPILEPSY

S. G. writes: Does an epileptic on the verge of an attack realize that it is coming, giving him enough time to run into the next room?

REPLY

Yes, there is a warning but there is hardly enough time to run into the next room. Most victims are satisfied if they can ease themselves into a chair or on to the floor to decrease the danger of injury when unconsciousness occurs. This premonition is referred to as the aura and frequently manifests itself in the form of seeing lights, hearing strange noises, and smelling peculiar odors.

EYELID IRRITATION

T. W. writes: What causes tiny, pimple like swellings on the eyelids? They rub against the eyeball and cause pain.

REPLY

You probably refer to tiny concretions that plug the openings of the glands in the eyelids. They cause the same type of irritation on the eyeball as a speck of dust or a cinder. Sometimes it is necessary to consult an eye physician when they refuse to budge and continue to irritate.

HEART ATTACKS

E. M. S. writes: Can a person with a good heart have a heart attack or is it only people with bad hearts that are afflicted?

REPLY

Most individuals who have encountered a heart attack (coronary thrombosis) have hardening of the coronary arteries. They may not realize it and think that the pumping apparatus is normal. Furthermore, tests may not demonstrate the true condition of the coronary arteries. For this reason, the victim of a heart attack may be surprised because he was unaware of what was going on behind the scenes.

Elks Lack Money For MacArthur's Cadillac; Official Offered Million Dollars To Buy Canadian Rye; Texan Reminds Churchill Of Shakespeare Quote

WASHINGTON—That shiny new Cadillac presented by the Elks Club of Houston to General MacArthur when he visited Texas still isn't paid for. The car cost $5,700 and the Elks, in their enthusiasm, figured the money would be easy to raise. So they presented the car to MacArthur and figured on paying for it later.

When the last appeal for funds was issued, however, MacArthur's popularity seemed to be on the wane, and only $1,286 of the $5,700 was in the Elks' kitty. Here is the letter sent out by Phil Hamburger, chairman of the MacArthur Gift Fund, Houston Lodge No. 151, BOP Elks:

"You doubtless are familiar with the fact that during General MacArthur's visit to Houston he received as a gift from the Elks and friends a black 7-passenger Cadillac sedan. . .

"The purchase of this car at a cost of $5,700 was undertaken by members of the Elks and friends, and at the present time we have only raised $1,286, and since we are in need of more funds the purpose of this letter is to afford you an opportunity to be listed as a contributor to the gift fund.

"The ownership certificate to the car will be forwarded to General MacArthur along with an appropriate scroll bearing the names of all contributors, and the list of names is being closed out when the amount of $5,700 is received."

Rye Speculating

A little more information has leaked out regarding the huge speculation in rye, and the sudden reversal of the Agriculture Department's ban on Canadian rye. An offer of a million dollars was dangled before Ralph Trigg, formerly in charge of all rye purchases, if he would buy Canadian rye. Trigg said no.

However, last spring, after Trigg got out, his policy was reversed and the U. S. Government bought up a large quantity of Canadian rye mixed with U. S. rye.

It is now learned that two senators pressured the Agriculture Department to bring about this change—Young of North Dakota and McCarthy of Wisconsin, both Republicans. Minnesota's two senators — Humphrey, Democrat, and Thye, Republican—sat in on one meeting regarding rye. However, they attended at the urging of McCarthy and did nothing more than put in an appearance.

Senator Young, who comes from a big rye-producing state, wanted to ban rye imports from Canada altogether. Since Canadian rye was already mixed with American rye in northwest grain elevators, however, Young agreed that the government should buy this Canadian rye in order to reduce the surplus. By getting rid of the surplus and by banning future rye shipments from Canada, Young hoped to create a better market for American rye farmers.

It was McCarthy, however, who constantly telephoned and heckled the Agriculture Department to reverse the ban on buying Canadian rye. He not only called on Secretary of Agriculture Brannan, but was continually in the Agriculture Department's hair until it knuckled under and began buying Canadian rye.

McCarthy's intense interest in Canadian rye is a puzzle. Furthermore, the million dollars dangled before Ralph Trigg and the multi-million-dollar corner on the rye market, cooked up by the big speculators, also remains a mystery.

NOTE—McCarthy has not speculated in the commodity market under his own name since the 1947 Senate investigation of the commodity market. Previously McCarthy had speculated chiefly in butter. After the 1947 investigation, however, McCarthy struck up an interesting friendship with Ralph Moore, the speculating partner of former Senator Thomas of Oklahoma. It is significant that Moore has been associated in the rye market with Dan Rice, one of the biggest speculators in Canadian rye.

Texas Entrances London

Claude Carter of Harlingen, Texas, went to Paris and London this summer to keep a date with Winston Churchill.

Mr. Carter lives down near the Mexican border, a long way from there to London, but some years ago when he was president of the Texas Bar Association, he met and entertained Winston Churchill. So the distinguished Britisher told him that if he ever came to London, he should look him up.

Claude Carter never forgot that invitation, and apparently Mr. Churchill didn't either. For this summer, wearing his broad-brimmed Texas hat in London, Mr. Carter called up the ex-Prime Minister and was invited to dine at Churchill's club.

Carter tells how he wandered into the writing room, snitched some stationery and wrote his Texas friends from the club of the ex-Prime Minister.

Later at dinner the guests started discussing which of Churchill's many famous speeches was the greatest. Most agreed that it was the "blood, sweat and tears; fight 'em on the beaches" epic. However, the gentleman from Texas interposed this idea.

"Winston," said Mr. Carter, "you made the greatest mistake of your life in that memorable speech. You quoted from many great authorities, including the beloved Kipling. But you missed by a hair's breadth the opportunity to have made the greatest speech in all English history and literature."

"Why?" asked the puzzled Churchill.

"Because you could have quoted from the immortal Shakespeare. You could have used his great line from King John — 'This England never did, nor never shall, lie at the proud foot of a conqueror.'"

Churchill seemed to like the suggestion, said he wished he had had Carter as his ghost writer during the war, even indicated that the only people who conceivably might ever conquer England were Texans.

North Dakota's Champion

For years, the big bull voice of Bill Langer, North Dakota's earthy senator, has been bellowing in the chamber demanding that the State Department name an ambassador from his state.

When, a few days ago, Thomas E. Whelan, a North Dakota business man was nominated to be U. S. ambassador to Nicaragua, the rangy Langer rose to his feet.

Across the aisle, Sen. Bill Benton of Connecticut mildly remarked: "Now that the Senator has achieved his victory, I trust he will spare us his daily oration on the ability of North Dakota's citizens. I'm sure we're all familiar with the subject."

With a broad grin, Langer nodded in agreement.

Inside Washington

WASHINGTON—Look for President Truman to pick someone out of the State Department or a career diplomat to succeed Adm. Alan G. Kirk as ambassador to Communist Russia.

Administration insiders say there is little chance that the President will select a man from private life to take over the job in Moscow, perhaps the most important diplomatic post the United States has to offer.

Best bets now are said to be Charles (Chip) Bohlen, State department Russian expert who is now minister to France, and George Kennan, another Russian expert now on leave from the department.

The President has plenty of time to decide on the new ambassador. Kirk won't retire until autumn and that gives Washington at least two months in which to choose his successor.

Legislation Possible

FIXES—The latest outbreak of exposes on basketball game fixing by Illinois and Ohio teams may soon prompt some of our national legislators to enact a federal law to correct the situation.

Such a measure would punish those who attempt to fix amateur or professional sports events, bribe athletes, and punish the athletes who succumb to bribe offers.

Additionally, the Justice Department is expected to help clean up the mess by asking the National Collegiate Athletic Association to keep its members out of arenas and away from promoters.

The department believes the NCAA should make its member teams play in their own field houses and stay away from televised sports and the lights of the "gay white way."

IQ TROUBLE—The Defense Department is seeking some way to get rid of its fancy system of dividing recruits equally among the services according to their intelligence ratings. The apportionment is just beginning, but already kinks are developing and it is pretty evident that the system won't work.

Military IQ tests divide recruits into four "mental groups," numbered 1, 2, 3, 4, according to the man's score. A score of 93 per cent rates group 1; 65 per cent rates group 2, etc.

The new system says that each service each month must get eight per cent of its recruits from group 1; 32 per cent from group 2; 39 per cent from group 3, and 21 per cent from group 4.

In the first month of the system (May), the Air Force found that more than half of its volunteers were in group 4—the group supposed to furnish only 21 per cent.

Even though shortages in a higher group can be filled from a lower group to the extent of five per cent, the AF couldn't accept all the volunteers. Recruitment fell 15 per cent below the quota, and the first AF use of the draft became almost certain. The Navy is having similar trouble.

TENNIS, ANYONE? — Washington observers generally agree that Mobilization Boss Charles E. Wilson, Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston and Price Control Chief Michael DiSalle are among the hardest workers in the capital. However, that cannot be said for some of the members of the "second layer" of officialdom in the mobilization-stabilization agencies.

For instance, there is reputed to be one group of young officials who find the presence of a set of public tennis courts outside their office windows just too hard to resist.

So, every pleasant afternoon they knock off work, change into sports clothes and have a few fast sets of tennis. Then, the story goes, they repair to the apartment of one of the players to take showers and freshen up before returning to the press of work at their offices.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Mike Quill

New York City is faced by the threat of a unionized police force led by Mike Quill. If Quill succeeds in New York, he will set out to establish a national union of the police forces of all cities in the United States. Organized by such a person, arrogant, blatant, without roots in American life and tradition, it would mean the destruction of police as servants of the people. They would become stooges of Quill's union; expulsion from the union would mean no job and therefore the union could and would dominate the police force.

Mike Quill's public history is no good. He came here an adult after a revolutionary career in Ireland. He went to work in the transit system and in 1934 organized, with the assistance of a group of public Communists, a union of transit workers. There is evidence before the House Committee on UnAmerican Activities that Quill himself was once a member of the Communist party. Quill insists that he is an anti-Communist.

It must be admitted that during Mike Quill's leadership, the wages, conditions of work and general benefits of transit workers improved greatly. But it was accomplished by the most brutal flouting of the public weal, by strikes and threats of strikes, by slowdowns and peril to the health and finances of the city. It was revolutionary trade unionism of the European type.

The police department of New York is no longer "the finest." During the LaGuardia regime, the morale of the department broke down because LaGuardia was playing politics with labor and minority groups whom he favored at the expense of law enforcement.

In the O'Dwyer administration of the city, graft in connection with gambling developed to such unusual proportions that the police department had to be investigated and numbers of the force retired. Thomas F. Murphy, prosecuting attorney in the Hiss case, was appointed police commissioner to clean up the department. He is now, however, on the federal bench. His successor, George P. Monaghan, is an able and alert lawyer.

The seriousness of the situation is that New York is a city of about 8,000,000 people which could, in wartime, fall into the hands of subversive elements who are concentrated there. This city is the heart of all Communist activity in the United States. Although Mike Quill has denounced his former colleagues, the fact that he chooses this precise moment of national peril to head the police, knowing his own record, as he must, is startling.

A police organization should be headed by a person concerning whom there is not a shadow of a doubt. Mike Quill was long associated with Harry Sacher, John Santo, and Austin Hogan in his Transport Workers Union. Harry Sacher is an outstanding Communist lawyer, one of the most obstreperous in the court over which Judge Medina presided and is now in contempt. John Santo has been ordered deported as an undesirable alien and left the country voluntarily.

Quill may have broken with his Communist associates altogether. He may be as white now as new-driven snow. It is, however, difficult to forget that he denied Communist complicity as vociferously as he does today when he was clearly associated with the Communists. It is not possible to know what is in one's heart and mind. Quill could prove his anti-communism by not aiding them to create further disturbances in any part of the United States. Then there would be no doubt as to his attitude.

As it is, he has become a threat to the largest city in our country. He is threatening it with dual control of its police force. He is threatening it with the danger of disorder in the event of a strike, let us say, on its long and important waterfront where Communists, gangsters and dope peddlers are active in various subversive and even revolutionary efforts.

This no time to condone or tolerate such perils for any reason whatsoever. Nor is it a problem limited to New York. If Quill is recognized as heading a police union, hundreds of Quills will arise over the country and they will combine into a powerful, dues-collecting, disciplined national organization. Running a police union could be the country's best racket, particularly if the union wins the usual clause of no dismissal without a trial before union officials. The no dismissal clause is making for decreased efficiency in many industries; it can wreck a police department altogether.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Whoever in Washington is guiding the hand of General Ridgway in the Korean armistice negotiations deserves credit for the fluctuating maneuvers which twice now have resulted in a UN initiative in actually interrupting the talks.

When the negotiations started, the whole world was given the impression by Red propaganda that the UN had sought the chance to quit fighting. It was widely assumed that the UN was so eager to bring the hostilities to an end that almost any status quo proposal from the Chinese would be accepted.

But on two occasions now the UN has shown itself willing to risk the breakdown of the parleys on a principle. Once the demand was made that armed troops must be withdrawn from the town where the peace conversations were taking place. After a brief delay, the Communists accepted the terms demanded.

Now the UN has charged that the truce terms were being violated again by armed troops and once more the Communists have, in effect, backed down and promised to comply.

Possible Propaganda Use

All this leads up to the most important item under consideration—where the armistice line shall be drawn. The UN wants it to be the present defense line and the Communists want the UN forces to retreat to the 38th Parallel. Although the existing defense line is not very far within North Korea and amounts to about the same thing as a stand at the 38th Parallel, nevertheless the use in propaganda that will be made of such a retreat is enough to cause the UN negotiators to decline to agree to the Parallel.

Actually the UN team is employing two very persuasive arguments. One is that to insist on the 38th Parallel is to reintroduce "political questions" which previously have been barred from this particular negotiation. The other is that the line at the 38th Parallel is itself not defensible for either set of belligerents. A further point is made logically that the UN air and sea power actually control the coast lines as well as the air far north of the 38th Parallel and hence to agree to the present defense line is in effect a concession in itself to the Reds.

The climax will come when the argument on the armistice line is finally resolved. The Communists will fuss and fume and perhaps delay further the conclusion of the cease-fire agreement, but in the end they will agree.

Out of it, therefore, will come at least three "victories" for the UN from the propaganda standpoint.

The real victory for the Reds, however, will come later—when the armistice has been concluded and the negotiations for a settlement of the Korean problem begin. There will be no leverage then for either side. The Communists may threaten a resumption of fighting and the UN may imply the same. Realistically speaking, however, neither side will start fighting again when once the cease-fire has taken effect. A stalemate in the negotiations will ensue.

Can Extend Agreement

The Communists are saying they want a time limit of at least a year beyond which the negotiations shall not be carried. There is little reason for the UN to object to this, because at the end of a year, if a settlement has not been reached, the armistice agreement can be extended for an year by mutual consent.

Meanwhile, it looks as if Korea will remain divided for a long time to come, especially since the UN has formally declared that it will not use military force to secure the pacification or unifying of all Korea. If there is any leverage coming which can possibly influence the Communists to withdraw from Korea, it hasn't appeared yet, though an offer may be expected from the Reds to take all Communist troops out whenever the UN gets out. Once that happens, Korea will be subject to recurrent attacks or infiltration by a North Korean puppet faction which will be aided by the Russian as well as Chinese Communists.

The Korean problem is far away from a solution, and the status that existed in 1950 may go on indefinitely.

Hearing Planned Here On Trout Fishing Laws

The Maryland Game and Inland Fish Commission will hold a public hearing in Cumberland on October 12 at which time discussion will be concerned with the clarification of the trout laws and regulations and additional revisions which are essential to wise fishery management.

The following subjects will be submitted for discussion:

1. The extension of the present closing date on trout fishing from July 15 to November 15. In other words the trout season would be from April 15 to November 15. This appears to be a wise suggestion since there is a large hold over of trout after the season closes on July 15 which are lost due to a lack of water.

2. Change size limit on trout from 7 to 6 inches. (This does not mean a change in hatchery operations and reduction in size of fish produced).

3. Reduce creel limit, all species of trout from the present 10 to five. In extending the season for the taking of trout to November 15, the commission feels that the daily creel limit should be reduced to five inasmuch as we are stocking larger fish than our neighboring states and sportsmen will agree that five large trout per day is an ample return for the price of $1.50.

4. Clarification of existing law or policy:

(a) What trout streams should be permanently established as fishing areas from their source to a designated point down stream, all branches inclusive, (decreed annually by commission at October meeting.)

(b) What trout streams should be temporary (put and take streams) from the up-stream designated boundary to the down-stream boundary, branches inclusive.

Proposed trout stream delineation:

Garrett county — permanent streams. Entire Savage River (Watershed) source to mouth (all branches inclusive), Laurel Run watershed (Schell), Salt Block watershed, White Rock watershed, Bear Creek watershed, Mill Run watershed, Muddy Creek watershed and Puzzley Run watershed.

Temporary streams include Little Yough River, Cherry Creek, Piney Run, Shields' Run, Laurel Run (Kempton), Laurel Run (White Rock), Hoyes Run, Spring Lick Run and Glade Run.

Allegany county — permanent streams include Evitts Creek Watershed — to Route No. 40, Flintstone Creek watershed, Mill Run watershed, Winebrenner Run watershed, Staub Run watershed, Mathew Run watershed, Neff Run watershed, Koontz Run watershed, Rock Run watershed, Jennings Branch watershed — to Jennings stream on Mt. Savage Road — State Highway No. 36, Mill Stone Run watershed and Collier watershed. No temporary streams.

Two Are Rescued In House Fire

A South End woman and her young son, clad in night clothing, were rescued from their burning home by neighbors yesterday as firemen of three companies rushed to the scene.

Fire broke out about 3:15 a.m. at the six-room frame residence of Earl E. Smith, 132 East Mary Street, and flames quickly blocked escape routes for his wife and 10-year-old boy, Emory.

Taken From Porch Roof

The pair ran to a front porch roof and were evacuated by two men identified as George Weltman and J. N. Barrett.

Smith, who was seriously hurt several years ago in a fall down an elevator shaft, managed to get out of the burning structure covered with composition siding.

South End firemen answered the first alarm at 3:26 a.m. Central responded four minutes later with the pumper and hook-and-ladder trucks. Then East Side Company No. 4 was called in to aid in battling flames.

Fire fighters spent more than two hours fighting flames which originated in the southeast corner of the living room and spread through partitions to the roof top. Defective wiring was blamed.

Youth Is Paroled

Virgil Arthur Taylor, 19, of Route 3, Valley Road, drew a suspended sentence of six months in the Maryland House of Correction Wednesday when he pleaded guilty to stealing a watch valued at $25.

Police said Taylor took the watch after breaking a display window early Sunday at the Marple Jewelry Store.

Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick paroled the youth for two years and told him to make restitution for damage.

County Denies Boost In Grants To Volunteer Fire Companies

Spokesmen for the volunteer fire companies in the county were informed yesterday of the decision of the Board of Allegany County Commissioners not to grant a $200 increase in appropriations to each of the units still stands.

Nelson J. Russler, of Chapel Hill Hose Company, and Lamar Minnicks, of Bowman's Addition Volunteer Fire Company, appeared before the board yesterday.

They said the county firemen's association committee had informed them the commissioners in April said they would consider a $200 increase in September.

However, Board President William H. Lemmert pointed out the commissioners had in April appropriated $10,000 for Civil Defense and after a thorough study of each fire company's financial statement had decided then the county could not grant the requested $200 to each unit.

Delay Repair Program

In other board action, the bids for improvements to county buildings, the first in a four-year program, were tabled until the Tuesday meeting.

Only one bidder, the George Construction Company, submitted figures on the repair work.

The firm's bid for installation of a fire escape at the County Home was $5,956; repair of the south wall of the County Jail, $4,374, and repair of all the windows in the Welfare Board Building, $6,900.

Approve Jap Beetle Funds

The board also approved the appropriation of $1,132.50 for Japanese beetle control. Ralph F. McHenry county farm agent, had received information from George S. Langford, specialist in insect control for the State Horticulture Department, that state funds on this work were virtually exhausted.

Langford asked McHenry to have the county commissioners allocate money for Japanese beetle control that had been provided for in the 1951-52 appropriations for the county.

Robert Leasure, of Route 3, requested the commissioners to look into his problem of having water drain on his property from the Y intersection of the Union Grove Road, also known as Smouse's Mill Road, and Route 220.

Walker D. Chapman, county roads supervisor, was instructed to visit the scene and make recommendations.

Additional Data Asked In School Salary Study

The Legislative Council's subcommittee studying teachers wages in the state has asked the Board of Allegany County Commissioners for supplemental information on the county's situation in regards to this problem.

Dr. Carl N. Everstine, assistant director of research for the council, pointed out in his letter that after the sectional hearings were held to sound out public sentiment in the state on the question, the sub-committee desired additional information and opinions on relative matter.

The sub-committee will report its findings before the February session of the General Assembly, he stated.

Here is some of the information the sub-committee desires:

The salary range of teachers in the county with bachelor's degrees; do the commissioners think this an adequate pay, considering the needs of teachers as individuals as well as the needs of the community for good public education.

If the board does not consider the scale adequate, what would be an adequate wage in its opinion.

The assessable basis of the real property in the county; the current tax rate; how much a one-cent tax rate would raise; should the wage increase be borne by the counties or by the state.

If by the state, what form of taxation should be used to finance it; if by the state, does the board think there should be a corresponding increase in the state's control over the county public school systems.

Suggestions on the solution of the problem were also asked.

Some mine-laying ships are able to carry as many as 400 mines at one time.

Eagles To Hold Picnic September 2

The annual picnic of Cumberland Aerie No. 245, F. O. Eagles, will be held Sunday, September 2 at Fairgo.

Officials of the organization, which has 3,400 members, expect guests from 30 Aeries in this section.

The program will include balloon busting, horseshoes, softball games, pie-eating contests and several special features to be announced on the grounds.

Three Are Inducted Into Marine Corps

Three of 17 draftees who left here Monday were inducted into the Marine Corps.

They are Henry Walter Roberson, 608 Ann Place; Charles Joseph Will, 318 Prince George Street, and George Allen Smith, Winchester, Va., formerly of Route 2, Williams Road.

P. Emmett Fahey, clerk coordinator, said the "Marine inductions" were the first to be reported here.

Gay DeNike Betrothed To Frederic Brandt Griffith, Jr.

Wedding To Be September 15

Mr. and Mrs. George Edward DeNike, Winter Park, Fla., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Gay DeNike, to Frederic Brandt Griffith, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Brandt Griffith, 808 Memorial Avenue.

The wedding ceremony is to be solemnized September 15 at 7 p. m., in St. Andrews Episcopal Church, College Park, with Rev. Acton officiating.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Montgomery Blair High School, Silver Spring. She attended the University of Maryland where she was a member of Delta Delta Delta.

Her fiance is a graduate of East School, Aurora, Ill., and was attending Wentworth Military Academy, Lexington, Mo., when he was inducted in the Army Air Corps, in which he served for 18 months. Mr. Griffith was graduated from the University of Maryland last Spring. While there he was a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon. He is associated with the Department of Justice.

The wedding reception is being held in a hotel in Washington following the ceremony.

Melvin Group Plans Outing

The Women's Society of Christian Service of Melvin Methodist Church held a meeting and outing Wednesday at Constitution Park.

Mrs. Robert Golden presided at the business session. It was decided to hold the next meeting at the home of Mrs. Robert Streett, Christie Road, in the form of a corn roast, September 12.

Concluding the evening a wiener roast was held.

Those present were Rev. and Mrs. B. F. Hartman, Mrs. Streett, Mrs. Alan Speir, Mrs. Robert Eyler, Mrs. Carl Smith, Mrs. Margaret Smith, Mrs. Mary Zais, Mrs. Sally Leasure, Mrs. Grace Alderton, Mrs. Mary Valentine and Mrs. Howard Northcraft.

Visitors were Varol Newman, Mary Newman and Jeanette McDonald.

Bride-Elect Entertained

Miss Corrinne Smith was hostess for a miscellaneous shower honoring Miss Ann Cecelia Denkenberger Thursday evening. It was held at her home, Regina Avenue.

Miss Denkenberger, daughter of Mr and Mrs. Edward Denkenberger, Winchester Road, is the fiancee of Robert Hammersmith, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hammersmith, 615 Columbia Avenue. Their wedding ceremony is to be performed September 1.

The hostess carried out the bridal motif in her decorations. She had two white wedding bells tied to the chandelier in the living room. From them cascaded pink streamers to the gifts. The same theme was repeated in the dining room with silver bells and a shower of pink streamers to the table, which was centered with a tiered white cake, topped with a miniature bride.

The evening was spent informally and the hostess was assisted in serving by her mother, Mrs. Chandler F. Smith.

Guests were Miss Deloris Robertson, Miss Hilda Holt, Miss Joan Bennett, Miss Janet Keyes, Miss Joyce Mae Dick, Mrs. Ruth Grabenstein and Miss Shirley Weaver.

Marriage Announced

The marriage of Miss Merrie E. Ross, Columbus, Ohio, to Charles S. Detrick, Route 1, Ridgeley, has been announced.

Rev. J. W. Dickerhoff performed the ceremony July 31 in Winchester, Va. Mr. and Mrs. John Ross, brother-in-law and sister of the bride, were their attendants.

Prospective Bride Is Honored

Miss Mary Riggleman and Mrs. Rebecca Collins entertained in complement to Miss Mary Louise Collins with a surprise miscellaneous shower earlier in the week at Mrs. Collins' home, Maplewood Lane.

Miss Collins is the fiancee of Harry Kenneth Hensel and will become his bride tomorrow. The ceremony is to be performed in St. John's Lutheran Church by Rev. Donald F. Brake.

The hostesses used a pink and white color scheme in their decorations. A sprinkling can was suspended over the gifts with a shower of pink and white streamers cascading from it to the gifts. The same colors were repeated in the flowers centering the buffet lunch table. Candelabra of white tapers were at either end.

The evening was spent informally.

Guests were Mrs. Doris Orndorff, Mrs. Jeanette Hartung, Mrs. Howard Hensel, Mrs. Iva Kennedy, Mrs. Richard Collins, Mrs. Robert Appell, Miss Sadie McIntosh, Miss Louise Cessna, Miss Cathleen Daugherty, Miss Norma Wilson and Miss Lenore Cross.

The third session of the Country Club Series will be played August 16.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Samuel, 526 Woodside Avenue, have returned from Orange, Va.

CUTTING WEDDING CAKE—Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Howard Hedrick performed the traditional ceremony of cutting their wedding cake at the reception following their marriage Thursday evening, in Frostburg Lutheran parsonage. The bride is the former Miss Mary Martha George, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. George, Sr., 18 Knobley Street, Ridgeley. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hedrick, 17 Mineral Street, Ridgeley.

Mary Louise Collins To Be Bride Of Harry K. Hensel

Wedding To Be Performed Sunday

Miss Mary Louise Collins, daughter of Richard Collins, 308 Pennsylvania Avenue, is to become the bride of Harry Kenneth Hensel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hensel, 171 Thomas Street, tomorrow.

The wedding ceremony will be solemnized at 2:30 o'clock in St. John's Lutheran Church, with Rev. Donald F. Brake officiating. The church is being decorated with standards of white gladioli against a background of palms.

Mrs. Rebecca Collins is to be her niece's matron of honor and only attendant. Carl Reuschel will serve as Mr. Hensel's best man while Walter Orndorff and Chester Collins are the ushers.

A program of nuptial music is to be played by Miss Mary Louise Bender, who will also play the traditional wedding processional from the opera Lohengrin and Mendelssohn's recessional. She is to accompany James Hager, who will sing, "O Promise Me," "Because," and during the ceremony, "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride is wearing a white lace wedding gown fashioned with a mandarin neckline, long pointed sleeves and floor length full skirt. Her waist length veil of white lace, trimmed with seed pearls is held by a cornet of pearls. Completing her costume she is carrying a bouquet of assorted white flowers.

Her matron of honor is wearing a pink net gown trimmed in lace. She will have a headdress of net and natural flowers, matching her bouquet of assorted flowers.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Fort Hill High School and is employed in the office of the Cumberland Transit Company.

Her fiancee is a graduate of Fort Hill High School and is employed by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company.

Mr. Collins is entertaining with a wedding reception for his daughter and her bridal party at the Ali Ghan City Club, immediately following the ceremony. Standards of white flowers are being used in the decorations and the bridal motif is to be carried out in the tiered wedding cake, adorned with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

For traveling the bride has chosen a gray and yellow costume. Upon their return from their wedding trip Mr. Hansel and his bride will reside at 15 North Lee Street.

Receives Fellowship

Mrs Glenn H. Blayney, Jr., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Arthur Statler, 215 Maryland Avenue, has been awarded the Fulbright Fellowship by the Government, for research at Oxford University, England. The fellowship to study English Literature in the United Kingdom is the most coveted of the Fulbright awards.

A graduate of Fort Hill High School, Mrs. Blayney received her B. A., Summa Cum Laude, from Western Maryland College in 1947; and her M. A. from the University of Pennsylvania in 1949. She has been teaching English language and literature at the University of Colorado, Boulder, since September 1949. In September 1950 her article, "The Analogues of Chaucer's Prioress' Tall," was published by the Modern Language Association.

New Priests Are Being Honored

Two local newly ordained priests are to be honored at breakfasts and receptions when they offer their first solemn mass here September 2 and 3. The two young men are Rev. Ronald David Lawler, son of Mrs. Leo T. Lawler, 214 Fayette Street, and Rev. Gary James Stakem, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stakem, 414 Fayette Street.

They are to be ordained to the priesthood August 28 in St. Augustine Church, Pittsburgh. Father Ronald will offer his first solemn mass September 2, at 9:30 o'clock in SS. Peter and Paul Church. Father Gary is to offer his September 3.

The breakfasts will follow the solemn mass and are being held in the parish school cafeteria. The receptions will be in the evening from 7 until 9 o'clock in the parish hall.

Decorations are under the direction of the Ursuline Sisters. Mrs. Karl L. Grebenstein is chairman for the breakfasts with Mrs. Helen Keifer in charge of the kitchen. Mrs. George Carney, Sr., is chairman for the receptions.

Father Ronald attended SS. Peter and Paul School and Father Gary, Midland Grade School. They both entered St. Fidelis Seminary, Herman, Pa., September, 1939, for a six year course. They then took a two year course at the seminary in Kansas, and in June completed three years at the Capuchin College, Washington. They both are to return to Washington next year before being given their appointments.

Coroner's Jury In Parsons Fails To Reach Verdict

Cause Of Man's Death Unsettled

PARSONS, W. Va.—A coroner's jury, after holding three sessions at the Court House here, was unable to reach a verdict as to the cause of the death of Robert Rexrode, 81, whose badly-decomposed body was found June 25 on a hill near here.

Six-Man Jury

The six-man jury returned its inconclusive verdict yesterday. Members of the jury were John Wade, foreman; R. B. Kyle, Harold Lanham, Carl Lanham, W. J. Bonner and James E. Little.

Justice of the Peace Stark Coberly, who acted as coroner at the jury's three sessions, said another jury will be called, probably next week.

Rexrode, who had been a patient in Nelle Rest Home here, had been missing since April 7.

Three Witnesses

Three witnesses testified before the coroner's jury. They were Dr. Guy H. Michael, county health officer, who viewed the body; Miss Selma Swearington, former nurse's aide at the rest home, who first identified the body, and Charles Junior Loughry, 13-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Loughry. Young Loughry told the jurors that he and others had played and had erected a shed near the place where Rexrode's body was found. He stated that they had played there during May and the first week of June and had not seen Rexrode's body during that time.

Sheriff D. E. Crosten has received a report from J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, that microscopic and chemical examination of a hole discovered in Rexrode's pants failed to disclose any powder refuse which would indicate that a gunshot had caused the hole.

Prizes Given In Doll Show

WESTERNPORT — Seven prizes were awarded at a parade and doll show Thursday at Dixon Park Playground, Oak View.

The program opened with a parade led by the Junior Band, sponsored by the Potomac Fire Company and directed by Charles Ducas.

Also in the parade were decorated bicycles, tricycles, dolls and cars. Selections were played by the band on its return to the playground.

John Hanna, master of ceremonies, presented prizes to the following winners: Connie Sue Lambert, best-decorated bicycle; Billie Phelps, best-decorated tricycle; Timmy Atkinson, best-decorated baby carriage; Darlene Dunnivan, largest doll; Mary Ann Imhoff, smallest doll; Norma Jean Zais, largest collection of dolls, and Donna DeVore, most unusual doll.

Mrs. V. Browne Kooken, Mrs. Harry Harshbarger, Jr., and Mrs. Raymond Stevenson were judges. Following presentation of the prizes the children were given candy.

Couple Wed At Church In Mt. Savage

MT. SAVAGE—In an impressive ceremony solemnized Monday evening in St. George's Episcopal Church here, Miss Mary Frances Best, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Best, became the bride of Private First Class Thomas Adams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Adams, Sr.

Rev. Stanley Schwind, rector, officiated. Ronald Neder was the acolyte.

The altar was decorated with white gladioli and tall lighted candles. The church choir sang "I Am Not Worthy Holy Lord," and "O Perfect Love." Miss Margaret Uhl was the organ accompanist.

Miss Patricia Adams was the bridesmaid and only attendant. William Best, brother of the bride, was best man. Robert Crump and John Williams were ushers.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a gown of silk organdy and lace, with a fitted bodice and a long sweeping train. Her veil was held in place with a cap of net and pearls. She caried a bouquet of white roses and a handkerchief that belonged to her paternal grandmother. Her only ornament was a double strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

The bridesmaid wore a gown of pale green lace and net, cap sleeves and very full skirt. Her hat matched the dress and she carried yellow roses. All the men attendants wore white coats with black trousers and boutionier of red rose buds.

Mrs. Best, mother of the bride, chose an egg-shell Handmaucher suit with pink accessories and a corsage of orchids.

Mrs. Adams, the groom's mother, chose a floral print dress with blue accessories and a corsage of orchids.

Phone Company Seeks Rate Hike In West Virginia

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Aug. 10 (AP)—The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company's petition for a fifth post-war rate increase in West Virginia will be heard here Monday.

The Public Service Commission today set the case for 10 a. m. on that day. The new scale, which the company had sought to make effective July 23, is designed to produce an additional $3,500,000 in annual revenues.

The company sought the new boost June 21, shortly after signing a new wage contract with its employes. C. H. Johnson, vice president and general manager, said the agreement had increased the concern's annual cost of operation by $1,200,000.

With the exception of Bluefield, Welch and Princeton, C. and P. serves virtually all of West Virginia's principal cities and towns.

Last May 2, the Public Service Commission granted authority for a fourth post-war boost which the state agency estimated would bring in an additional $1,173,427 in new revenues.

Altogether since the war, the company has obtained boosts totaling about $5,596,000.

Tucker County Board Approves Levy

PARSONS, W. Va.—The Tucker County Board of Education met on Tuesday evening and approved the levy estimate for the school year of 1951-1952.

Tucker County has six fewer teachers than last year, due to the decrease in state aid received. This county received $13,557.00 less state aid due to a decrease in school population and valuation of property.

Three schools, Ewin, Wolfe, and Mt. View were closed. Mt. View students will attend Flanagan Hill School; Wolfe School students will be transported to Brushy Fork and Ewin students to Parsons Grade and Parsons Junior High School. Hobson students will be taken to St. George instead of Parsons as was done last year.

Church Youth Will Convene At Keyser

Meeting Planned Next Tuesday

MOOREFIELD, W. Va. — Ten young persons from each of the 43 charges of the Methodist Church of the Moorefield District are expected to attend a training meeting of the MYF at Keyser Grace Church Tuesday afternoon, August 14, at 2:30 p. m.

The young people will gather from the 165 churches of the district for the purpose of learning the procedures for the conduct of "The Friendly Survey" in each of the communities of the Moorefield District where there is a Methodist Church.

The training session will be under the leadership of Dr. Ross Linger, district superintendent, and representatives of the Board of Evangelism of the Methodist Church of Nashville, Tenn. Young people will gather information regarding church affiliations of the community served by their churches and this will be used for the United Evangelistic Mission Sept. 21-30. During this period each church in the district will be host to a guest minister who will preach each night and direct lay visitors in a visitation evangelism program.

A short meeting of the youth council for the district has been called by Bill Dryfield, president of the district, for the purpose of formulating plans for the youth rally to be held in Moorefield on September 22 as a part of the United Evangelistic Mission.

Parsons Opens Drive For Lights At Christmas

PARSONS, W. Va. — Two deposits of $20 each have been made toward the drive now underway in Parsons to have the streets lighted at Christmas time.

The streets of Parsons have not been lighted during the holidays for the past eight years. In previous years the lights were rented but this year the committee composed of William Bennett, R. K. McClain and Robert Minear are making a drive to purchase their own lights and equipment.

The business establishments are now being solicited for funds and individual citizens of the town are asked to make their donations so that funds may be ready to purchase their lights prior to the holiday season. The Parsons Volunteer Fire Department has voted to assist in the construction of the lights over the streets of their city.

Westernport Eliminated From State Legion Tournament

Demaret Posts 136, Sets Pace In World Golf

Hogan And Heafner Trail With 137s At The Halfway Mark

CHICAGO, Aug. 10 (AP) — Nine first-rate pros, led by Jimmy Demaret with a 36-hole total of eight-under par 136, remained separated by only two strokes today in a blanket race for the $12,500 first prize in the Tam O'Shanter "World" Golf championship.

Jimmy Demaret

While lesser lights in the field of 74 players who participated in the first round par-wrecking frolic yesterday faded at the halfway mark, Demaret kept his stride by coupling 69 with an opening 67 over the standard 36-36—72 route.

Grouped at 137 were two of the game's toughest competitors, Ben Hogan and Clayton Heafner.

Six more were piled into the 138 bracket — Johnny Palmer, who defeated Demaret in a playoff for the 1949 "world" title; Bob Hamilton, the 1944 national PGA king; Al Brosch, whose 60 in the Texas open stands as a PGA record round; Lawson Little, kink-armed Ed Furgol and Herman Barron.

Barron, a one-time tourney veteran who won Tam's All-American crown in 1946, is making his first tournament appearance of the season. He left the circuit to devote full time as a club pro at White Plains, N. Y.

Heafner and Palmer pounded on the pace with 68's, low rounds of the day. Hogan, Hamilton, Barron and Furgol shot 69's. Little had 70 and Brosch a 71.

Alone at 139 with a second round 71 was 32-year-old Glenn Teal of Knoxville, Tenn.

Crowded into the 140 group were Earl Stewart of Dallas; Sam Snead; Shelly Mayfield of Cedarhurst, N. Y.; Pete Cooper of White Plains, N. Y.; Ted Kroll, New Hartford, N. Y., and Frank Stranahan.

Among ten amateurs in the field, Stranahan had a three stroke lead over Phil Scrutton of London, England.

Betsy Rawls, 23-year-old professional from Austin, Tex., who was a Phi Beta Kappa physics major at the University of Texas, headed the women's "world" tournament with par 76 for a midway card of 147—five under regulation.

Two strokes behind at 149 in the race for the $2,100 top award came Patty Berg with a second round of 75. Babe Zaharias, the defending champion, ballooned to 79 for 151 and third in the field of 20.

Senators Urge Boxing Probe

Case Of Matthews Given As Example

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP) — Senator Magnuson (D-Wash) introduced a bill in the Senate today calling for an investigation of professional boxing and wrestling.

He asked that a Senate committee be assigned to determine:

1. "The extent of monopolies now existing in these two sports."

2. "If there are any connections between promoters and any persons connected with rackets or any illegal enterprises."

Magnuson thus got the jump on Senators Cain (R-Wash) and Welker (R-Idaho), who said they would introduce a resolution Monday calling for an inquiry into "any monopolistic practices" in pro boxing.

Last Monday, Rep. Clemente (D-NY) asked the house to do the same thing.

The two Republican lawmakers said the proposed inquiry would deal particularly with the International Boxing Club, which stages bouts at Madison Square Garden in New York and has outlets in Detroit and Chicago.

They contend that boxers not tied in with that group fail to get a chance at big-time fights.

Both Senators mentioned Harry Matthews, Seattle, Wash. light-heavyweight title contender, as an example. But they said he is only one of many boxers who could be cited.

On Wednesday the attorney generals of Washington and Idaho buttonholed U. S. Attorney General McGrath in Seattle at a convention and discussed Matthews' failure to get a chance at the crown.

The dispute that may lead to a wide-open investigation of pro boxing by Congress was precipitated when the International Boxing Association matched "Irish" Bob Murphy, of California, against champion Joey Maxim, of Cleveland, for a title later this month.

This didn't set with supporters of Matthews. They believed that Matthews should get the shot at the crown because he knocked off Murphy in his lone Madison Square Garden bout recently.

As Welker put it, Matthews "knocked the head" off Murphy "and now Matthews is out in the bushes fighting fourth raters while Murphy gets a crack at the title."

1,700 See Stoves Cop All-Star Contest At Penn Avenue, 4-1

Moose, Hyndman Play Two Games Here Tomorrow

Manager Joe Geatz's Cumberland Loyal Order of Moose tossers, current pace setters in the Interstate Baseball League race, will play a doubleheader with the Hyndman V.F.W. on Sunday at 1:30 p. m. at Penn Avenue Field.

The Moose team leads Moorefield by a half game in the pennant race which ends two weeks from tomorrow.

Moorefield is host to the Cumberland Black Sox and Romney plays at Centerville tomorrow.

Northcraft's Two-Run Triple Deciding Blow, 40 Players Participate

A two-run triple by Glenn Northcraft featured a three-run rally in the sixth inning and gave the Stoves, piloted by Earl Nonnenman and Bill Underdonk, a 4 to 1 victory over the Hots, skippered by Jim Stevenson, in the first annual all-star game of the Cumberland Hot Stove Baseball League last night at Penn Avenue Field.

Approximately 1,700 persons saw the well played nocturnal nine-inning battle in which forty players of the eight league teams participated, including eight pitchers.

Bobby Lewis of the Optimist Club received credit for the win while "Pooch" Lewis, of the Jaycees, was charged with the defeat.

The Hots' lone tally was registered in the eighth inning when Gerald Bean of the Rotary Club, pilfered second and third and came home on a fielder's choice by Ed Widdows of the Lions Club.

Win Game In 6th

Both teams went scoreless during the first five frames but in the 6th the Stovers sewed it up by chasing three runners over the platter. Galen McGregor of the Exchange Club opened with a two base hit. Ronnie Twigg of the Optimists got a life on an infield error. After Frank Page of the Times-News struck out, Dale Merrill (Kiwanis) hit to third and McGregor was cut down at the plate. Then Glenn Northcraft of the Times-News larruped a triple to deep right field, scoring Twigg and Merrill. Dick Alderton (Kiwanis) banged a single to right scoring Northcraft and giving the Stovers a 3-0 advantage.

The Stovers scored their final marker in the 7th. Terry Jackson (Kiwanis) walked and moved to third on a single to right by Tommy Reed of the Optimist Club. Then Gerald Bean made a nifty catch of Bobby Lewis' fly in deep left center and Jackson raced home after the catch.

Held To Three Bingles

The Hots were limited to three hits by Carl Grimes (Times-News), Galen McGregor (Exchange Club), Bobby Lewis (Optimist Club) and Ronnie Reynolds (Kiwanis Club). This quartet struck out 13 and issued five bases on balls. Rhoe had two of the losers' bingles.

Bobby Dawson (Lions), Don Paye (Rotary), Joe Conroy (B'nai B'rith) and "Pooch" Lewis (Jaycees) gave up nine safeties, four of which were shared by Alderton and Reed, and fanned 13 and issued three passes.

The victorious team comprised players of the Optimist Club, Times-News, Kiwanis and Exchange clubs. The Hots included tossers of the Lions Club, B'nai B'rith, Rotary Club and Jaycees. The box:

Fox And Keiles Clash For Title At Mt. Lake Park

Bassett And Fennessey Play In Women's Final

MT. LAKE PARK, Md., Aug. 10 (AP) — Malcolm Fox, defending champion of Baltimore, defeated Doyle Royal of Washington, 7-5, 7-5, today and will meet Alex Keiles of Silver Spring tomorrow in the men's finals of the Western Maryland Open Tennis Championship.

Fox will be gunning for his third straight championship.

Keiles went into the finals yesterday by defeating Phil Neff of Washington, 6-4, 3-6, 7-5.

Meeting in the women's singles finals tomorrow will be two Washingtonians, Frances Bassett and Ann Fennessey.

In the mens doubles today Fox and Neff defeated Keiles and Royal, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3, 7-5.

In the finals of the veterans doubles, for players 45 years of age and older, Jennings Randolph of Washington and Walter Pollard of Hagerstown defeated Jack Potter of Fort Belvoir, Va., and J. P. Beacom, of Fairmont, W. Va., 6-2, 4-6, 6-2.

Tomorrow, Keiles and Bassett will team up against Fox and Fennessey in the mixed doubles finals.

Mize Is Hero As Yanks Win Over A's, 3-1

Cleveland Wins, 6-4, Stays Tied For Lead

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 10 (AP) — Clutch hitting Johnny Mize drove in two runs and smashed his tenth homerun of the season tonight to give the New York Yankees a 3 to 1 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics before 17,204 at Shibe Park.

Lefty Ed Lopat, master of the slow curves, chalked up his 15th win of the campaign against six defeats as he limited the seventh place Philadelphians to six hits, struck out eight and walked only three. The stocky sidewinder weakened momentarily in the sixth when the A's scored their only run on a center field double by Allie Clark and a single off the bat of Gus Zernial. Score:

Gehringer Will Take Over Tiger Job Immediately

Succeeds Billy Evans As General Manager

DETROIT, Aug. 10 (AP)—Charley Gehringer took over today as general manager of the Detroit Tigers, seven weeks earlier than he had anticipated, so that he can start building for next year.

A surprise announcement from Tiger owner Walter O. Briggs said that Gehringer, an all-time Detroit great, would assume his duties "immediately," replacing Billy Evans.

Briggs said that the move was to enable Gehringer "to start the task of strengthening the Detroit baseball club for the 1952 season." Briggs said the 67-year-old Evans ended his duties with the club "as of this date."

Evans' contract was scheduled to run through Oct. 1, but it was announced on July 28 that he would be succeeded at the end of the season by Gehringer.

Gehringer, 39 years old, said that the new move was "to let me get a better look at the ball club, and also to do anything I think necessary now."

"I don't plan to do anything much this year," he added, "although I probably will bring up a few boys."

The move was interpreted as indicative of owner Briggs' continued dissatisfaction with the 1951 club, now in the fifth place in the American League standings. It has won 49 and lost 55 games.

Evans has been severely criticized in some quarters because few trades were made to strengthen the team. It finished second in last year's pennant race, but now has some of the oldest players in the majors.

As general manager, Evans' salary was reported as $52,000 a year. The salary of Gehringer, his replacement, has not been announced.

Gehringer played with the Tigers for 19 seasons, ending in 1942. Most of the time, he was at second base and his virtually flawless fielding earned him the title of "baseball's mechanical man."

In 1937, he was selected the American League's most valuable player, and in 1947 he was named to Baseball's Hall of Fame. His lifetime batting average is .321.

Since retiring from active play, he has been a partner in the firm of Gehringer and Forsyth, manufacturers' agents. He expects to continue his interest in the firm.

U. S. Tennis Team Beats Canadians

Trabert, Savitt Win Davis Cup Singles

MONTREAL, Aug. 10 (AP) — America's Davis Cup forces made it quick and mercifully painless today as they crushed Canada's best without the loss of a set in the first two singles matches of the North American Zone finals at the Mount Royal Tennis Club.

Tony Trabert, the 20-year-old from Cincinniati, trounced Lorne Main, 6-1, 6-2, 6-3, and Dick Savitt, bellwether of Captain Frank Shield's team from Orange, N. J., overwhelmed Brendan Macken, champion of Canada, 6-3, 6-1, 6-1.

In neither instance was the crowd of 3,000 ever treated to anything resembling a contest. From start to finish the two Americans were on top, and it was a sad disappointment to Canadian fans who had felt faint stirrings of hope after having watched their boys crunch Cuba 5-0 last weekend.

Chances are it will be over after tomorrow's doubles match, in which Trabert and Budge Patty of Los Angles will cross racquets with Macken and Henri Rochon.

The winning team in the current series has a date to play Sweden in the inter-zone finals at Melbourne, Australia, next December.

Amvets Capture Pair; Cunningham's Defeats Trozzo's In 1-0 Tilt

The Amvets won both ends of a doubleheader from the Sports Shoppe, 4-0 and 5-2, Cunningham's Grocers topped Trozzo's Sports in a 1-0 thriller and Morris Wholesalers downed the Old Germans, 3-1, in City Recreation Softball League games played yesterday.

In the second game of the twin bill, Woodson had yielded only one hit until one out in the 7th when he loaded the bases on passes and yielded two safeties that netted five runs and the ball game for the Amvets. Jack Stotler shut out the Sports Shoppe in the opener, yielding only two blows.

One run scored in the second frame gave Cunningham's its victory over Trozzo's Spots. R. Klavuhn obtained two of the three hits credited the losers. Ronnie Cage had two safeties for Cunningham's.

Jack Livengood had three of the five hits credited to the Morris Wholesalers. Clauson limited the Old Germans to three safeties. Scores:

Rice's Tops East Side, 2-1, In 9-Inning Playoff Final

Lover's Leap Wallops Carver, 17-5; Winners To Battle For Title

Rice's Grocery and Lover's Leap are the finalists in the battle for the championship of the Queens Softball League after they eliminated East Side Maids and Carver from the running yesterday by taking the "rubber" games in best-of-three series.

The big surprise of the day was provided by Rice's Market which defeated East Side in a nine-inning thriller at Community Park by the score of 2-1.

In this contest, Doris Adams and Rosalie Bowers hooked up in a neat pitching duel and the latter emerged the victor in the second overtime stanza when Elsie McKee walked, reached second on True's fielder's choice and came home on Jean Clontz's single to left field.

Bowers tossed a four-hitter and two of the hits were credited to Mary Ann Naughton. Bowers and Clontz shared four of the winners' eight safeties. Leatherman, East Side catcher, turned in the best fielding play when she snared an overthrow while backing up first base and put out the runner.

Lover's Leap scored 12 runs in the fourth inning and trounced Carver by the score of 17-5. During the explosion in the 4th the winners racked up nine hits.

Eileen Hite kept Carver's eight hits well spaced while her teammates collected 20, including home runs by Dot Heavener, Betsy Often and Virginia Stratton in the first, third and fourth frames.

The championship series, best-of-three games, is expected to get under way Monday. Yesterday's scores:

Soap Box Derby Set For Sunday

141 Boys To Compete In 14th Akron Meet

AKRON, O., Aug. 10 (AP)—Contestants for the 14th Soap Box Derby championship Sunday got through their test runs today with only one so-called "casualty."

Edward Leibenguth, 13, of Allentown, Pa., was "rushed" to the emergency room in Akron in City Hospital with an upset stomach.

Hospital attaches believe the attack was due to excitement and too much eating. They said he is in good shape.

The soap box racer owned by the German contestant, Kurt Warncke, was temporarily disqualified. The vehicle didn't fit the specifications, but Kurt will be able to make all necessary alterations by Sunday.

The last driver to register was Billy Carraway, 12, of Bristol, a community on the dividing line between Tennessee and Virginia. Billy has the distinction of being the only contestant to represent two states.

The 141 contestants have a busy entertainment schedule ahead of them between now and Sunday, Derby Day.

Most of this will take place in Derby Town at Camp Y-Noah where the youngsters can ride horseback, pitch horse shoes, build model airplanes, swim and go boating.

Ricardo Mellon will represent Cumberland in the annual event at Akron tomorrow.

Hyndman Sweeps Pen-Mar Series

Hyndman trounced Corriganville, 12-0, yesterday at Hyndman to sweep its Pen-Mar Little League playoff series in two games.

Rain halted the game after four innings had been completed.

Hyndman warped Corriganville on Wednesday, 13-1.

In yesterday's abbreviated affair, Paul Martz yielded one hit and struck out eight.

Charley Twigg rapped a triple and single, Jamison a double and single and Lehman two singles for the victors. Bob Burkett garnered the losers' lone safety.

The final best-of-three series between Barrelville and Hyndman will get underway Monday at 6 p.m. at Hyndman. Barrelville eliminated Ellerslie in two straight games. Yesterday's score:

The undefeated Phillies extended their winning streak to 17 games in the Dapper Division of the Little League by defeating the Red Sox yesterday at East Side Field by the score of 10-4.

The Phils can make it a perfect season if they defeat the Red Sox today in the season's finale at Allegany at 9:30 a. m.

Tommy Smith went the route for the Phillies, yielded five hits and fanned nine to post his 4th win of the campaign. Matt Mullaney was nicked for 12 hits and he struck out eight. Eight of the Phils' hits were for extra bases.

Bill Hanekamp hit two triples and a double, Ronnie Diehl belted a homer, three-bagger and single and Art Washington homered and tripled for the winners. Mullaney socked a 4-bagger, "Buddy" Campbell garnered two hits and Eddie Weaver starred afield for the Red Sox.

Bill Buzzard's Dodgers, champions of the Dan Division, made it 13 wins in 16 starts by edging the Braves at Community Park yesterday, 7-6.

Roy "Sonny" Lafferty's homer with two aboard in the 5th with the score knotted at 4-4 decided the issue. Lafferty also rapped a two-bagger and Roby of the Dodgers had three hits in four trips. Beck, Wolford and Weltman had two hits each for the Braves.

The Senators, winners in the Whiz Kids Division race, trounced the lady place Giants at Fort Hill, 12-3.

Howard Wolfe and Jim Moreland directed the Senators in the absence of Manager Bob DeHaven.

The winners got nine hits including a triple by "Duck" Page and a two-bagger by Ed Parsons. Moreland, the Senators' starting pitcher, became ill in the 4th and was supplanted by Ed McKenney. The pair struck out a total of 12 Giants.

The Pirates took the measure of the Yankees at Campobello, 9 to 2. The scores:

Silver Spring, Parkville Beat Victory Outfit

Mt. District Champs Lose, 7-0 And 10-9; Finals Set Sunday

BALTIMORE, Aug. 10 (AP) —The Silver Spring Cissel-Saxon post team and the Parkville Post No. 103 nine fought their way into the finals of the Maryland American Legion junior baseball championship tourney today.

Parkville nipped Westernport's Victory Post 10 to 9 in a free swinging opener, and the Silver Spring club handed the Mountain District entry its second setback in the double elimination series by a score of 7 to 0.

Russell Duffy and Dick Burke teamed up on the mound for a two-hit nightcap in the second game.

Parkville and the Southern Maryland nine meet tomorrow afternoon as the tournament awaits its first non-Baltimore winner since 1934.

The concluding contests will be moved to the Stadium Sunday. Today's games were played on the Bloomingdale oval.

Duffy, who started the second game against Westernport, gave way to Burke in the fourth because of a sore arm. Burke fanned the last five batters.

Bobby Raines worked parts of both games for Westernport, but an ailing stomach forced him to shift to the outfield.

The author of seven shutouts this summer, Raines flipped the first three games against Parkville, went to the outfield, came back to the mound for the eighth and ninth, then chucked the first five innings of the afterpiece before retiring.

Before he shifted the first time, Raines gave reliefer Jack Keller a 5 to 2 lead, but sparked by Butch Yingling the winners swung freely and climbed to a 9 to 8 margin going into the eighth.

Both teams scored in the eighth and Westernport put the tying run on third in the final frame. A double steal worked, but umpires ruled interference on one base runner, waved the other back to third, and Sonny Kyle's effort at bat failed.

Queen Blanks Chicago Cubs

Mel Posts Fourth Win Of Season, 3-0

CHICAGO, Aug. 10 (AP) — Surviving a shaky start, Mel Queen posted his first shutout in the National League as the Pittsburgh Pirates edged the Chicago Cubs 3 to 0 before 7,703 today.

Tagged for four hits in the first three innings, Queen limited the Cubs to two hits and a walk the rest of the way to post his fourth victory against seven defeats. Five of his 13 wins in the circuit have been at the expense of the Cubs.

Cal McLish had tamed the Pirates without a hit until two were out in the seventh inning. Then Ralph Kiner slammed a liner to left center field that Frankie Baumholtz misjudged into a double.

Moments later Bill Howerton rapped a clean single over short to score Kiner with what proved to be the winning run. Box:

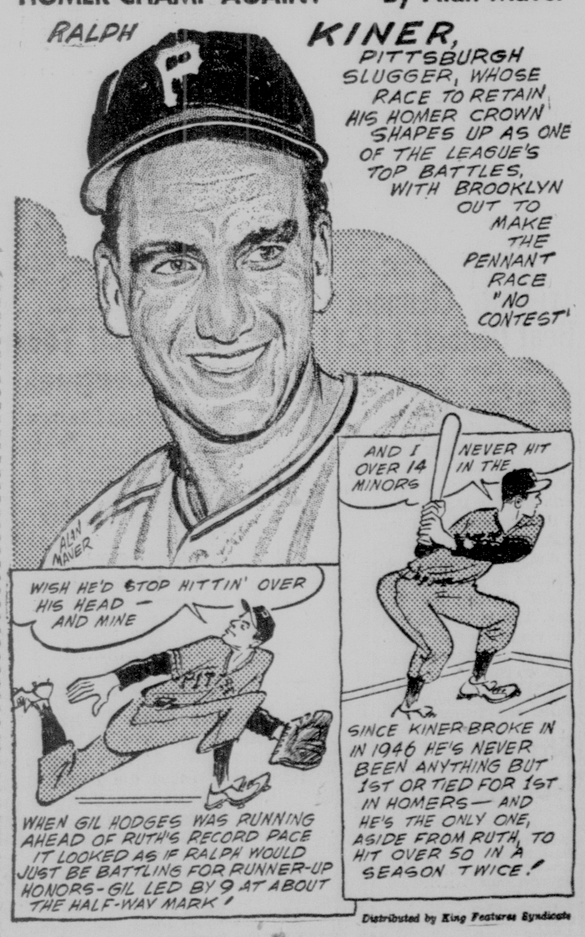
HOMER CHAMP AGAIN? - By Alan Maver



Tigers And Cardinals Win At Westernport

WESTERNPORT, Md., Aug. 10 — The Tigers took the measure of the Pirates, 7-4, and the Cardinals won over the Red Sox, 8-5, in Tri-Towns Little League games here today.

Niland banged a homer, triple and single for the Tigers and Haywood smacked two home runs for the Pirates.

Creasy clouted a home run, three-bagger and single in four trips to lead the Cardinals' attack. Fazenbaker with three singles, McMillan with a homer and sinble and Baughman with a circuit wallop paced the Red Sox at the plate. The scores:

TIGERS	7	7	4
PIRATES	4	4	4

Broadwater, Wilkinson and Price, Broadwater. Eckard, Harr and Faulkner.

CARDINALS	8	6	3
RED SOX	5	8	5

Delilo and Wilson. Raines and Fazenbaker.

Methodist Youth Schedule Picnic

MOOREFIELD, W. Va. — The Valley Sub-District of the Methodist Youth Fellowship will hold its annual picnic and business meeting at the Lost River State Park on Monday afternoon and evening.

Plans will be discussed and formulated for the Friendly Survey to be conducted by members of the youth fellowship in the South Branch Valley. The meeting will close with a worship service dicected by the Petersburg Methodist Youth Fellowship. Bill Dryfield, Sub-District President will preside at the meeting and the afternoon will be spent in swimming, games and free time.

McCoole Women Planning Picnic

McCOOLE—The McCoole Homemakers will hold their annual picnic at Pleasant Valley Recreation area Tuesday, August 14.

The Pleasant Valley area is operated by the University of Maryland as a recreation center at Bittinger. There is a lake where picnickers may swim. All persons planning to go on the picnic are requested to contact President Clara Robinson.

Arrangements have been made for the group to leave the Community Church for the picnic grounds at 9 a. m. DST. All are requested to pack and bring a picnic basket lunch.

Prison Inmate Seeks Freedom On "Error"

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., Aug. 10 Grand larceny was no crime in Indiana in the year 194 A. D., an inmate of the state prison contends, and that is why he seeks his freedom.

A habeas corpus suit filed in Superior Court by Ezekiel Obie, 51, says the affidavit on which he was arrested gave Dec. 3, 194 A. D., as the date of the crime. There was no Indiana then, of course.

Obie was sentenced in Valparaiso, Ind., Feb. 21, 1949, to one to ten years.

Della Is "Confident" Of Tax Law Revision

EASTON, Md., Aug. 10 (AP) — Senate President Della (D-Balto 6th) said yesterday he was "confident" the General Assembly will urge recommended revisions of tax laws to allow Marylanders a standard 10 per cent deduction in paying state income taxes.

Last winter the Legislature passed an act providing a maximum personal exemption of $500. But it developed that the legislation was so written that many would not have been able to take advantage of it.

"Voice" Says Polish School Girls Undergo Basic Military Training

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The Voice of America told overseas listeners Polish school girls are undergoing basic infantry training.

A State Department broadcast told of this development in attempting to expose "the Soviet brand of peace being peddled" throughout the world.

Spotlighting military preparations in other Eastern European areas, the Voice said an armored force of nearly 25,000 men is now being built up by Russia within the so-called East German police force.

The broadcast also reported that a former aircraft factory in the Romanian city of Brasov is "busily producing engines and other parts for German V-2 rockets."

The Voice broadcast told of these other developments:

1. About 432,000 men are now under arms in Romania in complete violation of peace treaty commitments.

2. A new air base is being built by Russia in Hungary.

3. New airfields are being constructed in Czechoslovakia "behind the screen of Bohemian forests."

4. About 400,000 men have been mobilized in Bulgaria, 120,000 more than allowed under the peace treaty. Russia also has placed 120 yak fighters and 160 bombers at Bulgaria's disposal.

5. Two Soviet fighter squadrons are reported to have arrived at Targusor in Romania last May in order to build up the Romanian air force.

News In Brief

The Vera Blinn Missionary Society of Bethany UB Church will meet at the summer cottage of Mrs. John S. Cook, near Fort Ashby, Tuesday for a covered dish supper dinner at 6' o'clock. Each member is asked to bring a covered dish.

The condition of Cyril B. Geare, 321 Fayette Street, remained unchanged last night in Memorial Hospital where he was admitted Tuesday.

HOW TO RIDE A BIKE IN SIX EASY LESSONS

1. Be sure the bicycle fits you. It is difficult and unsafe to ride a bicycle that is too big or too small for you.

2. Find a nice flat place, free from traffic and other interferences, to practice.

3. Remember — to balance on a bicycle you must have forward motion. A coin will not stand on edge while it is stationary But when it is rolled it stands on edge very well. This is the same principle on which bicycle works.

4. If you are learning on a small bicycle—one with 16 or 20-inch wheel diameter, a pair of outrigger wheels will make it much simpler.

5. If you don't use outriggers have another person hold the wheel and help you balance until you "get the feel" of the wheel Confidence after that comes very fast.

6. And always remember — a bicycle is not a toy but a full-fledged vehicle subject to same traffic rules as an automobile. Always "Do it the safe way."

Pfc. Gary Long Weds Georgia LaVerne Bishop

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Georgia LaVerne Bishop, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Bishop, Oldtown, to Pfc. Gary Long, son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther L. Long, Oldtown Road. The ceremony was performed July 22 in Davis Memorial Church by Rev. Joseph W. Young.

The bride's attendants were Mrs. James Bishop, Miss Joyce Long and Miss Dessie Bishop. James Bishop served as best man. The bride and her attendants all wore light blue with white accessories.

The bride is a graduate of Oldtown High School and is employed by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company. The bridegroom was graduated from Fort Hill High School and before entering the Air Force, was employed by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company.

Following the ceremony an informal reception was held at the home of the bride Flowers and a tiered wedding cake carried out the bridal motif.

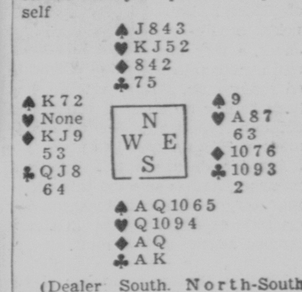
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By SHEPARD BARCLAY
"The Authority on Authorities"

BEATS TRUMPING ACE

IT IS traditional among bridge players that trumping your partner's ace carelessly is the worst of all bonehead plays. There are several worse ones, however, most of them due not to faulty logic, but to failure to notice what is going on. Among these is the exact reverse of the ace-trumping monstrosity. You probably have not seen it, but if you play enough with careless players, just be patient. After a long enough period, you may see it done. Let's hope it will be by an opponent, rather than your partner or yourself



(Dealer South. North-South vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
2 NT	Pass	3 ♥	Pass
3 ♠	Pass	4 ♠

West led the club Q to the K. Declarer, seeing the certainty of one loser in hearts, plus one each possible in spades and diamonds, led the heart Q, intending to overtake it with dummy's K. He saw West ruff, however, with the spade 2. East, though, saw no such thing. He was all ready to put his heart A on the trick, and did it anyway. He had ACED his partner's TRUMP.

Needless to say, that boner enabled South to make his contract, though both finesses failed, in spades and diamonds.

If East had kept his eyes open, South would have been down one by normal play, as the defenders would have taken tricks with West's spade K, diamond K and ruff, and East would have scored his heart A on a later trick.

Of course, on this freakish hand, South's contract would have been safe against any defense if he had refused to take any finesse, leading his spade A and Q after winning the first trick, taking any return, removing West's final trump and then playing the rest any way he wished. But few would have failed to try the trump finesse, seeking to use a heart for entry to the dummy, since everybody likes to make an extra trick if he can. But that would have been the sounder play in rubber bridge, protecting South against a heart void.

Your Week-end Question

What is usually the most devastating opening lead if you hold a goodly bunch of the declarer's trump suit, including an honor or two, and a pretty fair long side suit?

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

(Substituting for Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 10—(INS)—After playing a couple of nice guy roles, Richard Widmark returns to the violence and mayhem which shot him to stardom in "Hard Luck Diggins"... (Title will be changed).

Richard Widmark

This unusual story by Jack Vance will be produced by Robert Jacks — the first production fling of Darryl Zanuck's son-in-law. Jacks, a very fine and serious minded young man, a Navy veteran, has been boning up on firm production through practically every department at 20th for over two years.

For his debut as a full-fledged producer, he has selected this exciting story which combines murder mystery excitement with this new fangled science fiction stuff.

• — • — •

Marilyn Monroe takes her classy chassis across town from 20th to RKO for one of her best and sexiest roles in "Clash By Night."

By the time you read this, her bosses at 20th will have okayed Marilyn's loan for the picture Harriett Parsons is producing for Wald and Krasna. Certainly this is one of the top casts of the season with Barbara Stanwyck, Paul Douglas and (they're keeping their fingers crossed) a Charlton Heston in the line-up.

Barbara plays a woman who marries a Monterey fisherman (Douglas) for security—then falls insecurely in love with another man. When the chips are down—she chooses home, husband and child as against a romantic fling.

• — • — •

Gary Merrill, a really fine actor in his own right, was dubbed "Mr. Bette Davis number four" in several columns and the chit-chatterers have developed a "fix" on Liz Taylor's loss of weight—"makes her look wan and ill," they say.

• — • — •

These daughters of movie stars seem to be doing okay in television. Marlene Dietrich's lovely offspring, Marie, is already launched as one of the most enticing eyefuls in TV.

Now, Carol Ann Beery, daughter of the late Wally, is set for a series called "Write Your Own Ticket."

Speaking of daughters — Leon Gordon, MGM producer, is hand raising his future screen stars right in his own home. His lovely teenage daughter, Gloria, has been signed at 20th Century-Fox—not Papa's home studio, you'll note.

Gordon's younger child, Gay, has been selected by Norman Taurog to play one of Cary Grant's and Betsy Drake's children in "Room For One More" at Warners.

Their father is proud that his progeny are sufficiently talented to step out and make a name for themselves on other studio lots.

Hollywood in shorts:

Russell Nype arrives Sunday for his MGM picture and Doris and Jules Stein are welcoming him to Hollywood with a Sunday brunch.

Got my first glimpse of Betsy Von Furstenberg, the socialite-actress, who has kicked up so much dust on Broadway and in assorted masculine hearts. I must says she's vividly attractive and different. She was with handsome Ralph Fields—and they seemed to like each other.

One of Red Skelton's first visitors at his Hamshire House suite in New York was the one-and-only Toots Shor. Toots extended Red an invitation to dine at his "overcrowded, over-smoky" restaurant.

"Why should I?" replied Red, gesturing toward all of Central Park on display from his windows, "when I have all this fresh air and privacy practically for a front lawn."

Toots took a look at the park. "If it's so all-fired private," he said, "why don't you get all those people off your front lawn?"

Frances Langford won't be in "Brave Warrior" with Jon Hall after all. Sam Katzman doesn't think the role is big enough for her.

Patricia Neal has taken up bicycling in La Jolla. Pat, who may or may not have been with Gary Cooper when he was pinched for speeding, will never get a ticket on a bike.

Louise Beavers, the fine negro actress, is coming out of semi-retirement to play one of her fine comedy roles with Res Allen in "Colorado Sundoyn" at Republic.

That's all today. See you Monday.

Do you know how to make an exquisite presentation of yourself? The secret lies in correcting your flaws!

SECRETS OF CHARM

By JOHN ROBERT POWERS

Take it from the Powers Girls who were not born with perfect beauty but learned how to be perfectly beautiful, Pygmalion is more than a myth. As Pygmalion's cold, inanimate statue of a maiden was given life by Aphrodite, so you can create an exquisite presentation of yourself.

Any distracting irregularity you were born with should be considered your challenge. To make the most of it, all you have to do is turn it into an attraction!

Gain In Individuality

Whenever you take the trouble to change for the better, whatever you least like about your face, you are sure to gain in individuality.

Maybe it's a very minor variation of bone structure like an ill-proportioned brow. Then, the sooner you get to work to bring that brow into proportion, the sooner you will increase your beauty—and achieve distinction.

If your brow is too high, put your trust in the nearest scissors expert that you can locate. In your restyling, be sure the two of you agree on the inclusion of a slick look at the temples, a flat top, and bangs on the forehead. Be most particular about the styling of your bangs;they can influence the shape of your jaw! Cutting straight across will counteract a pointed chin but intensify a square one. Yet, a symmetrical shaping will prove foolproof no matter what the contour of your face may be. Depending on how much softening your bony structure can take, have your bangs curled or groomed to lie flat.

You can further enhance an exaggerated brow by tweezing or pencilling your eyebrows into a high arched oval of a generous width. Use just a little shadow and mascara to give your eyes the kind of importance that they not only deserve but that will draw attention from your brown. Brush plenty of curve into your lipline for the same reason—and wear the new high-fashion hat that sits straight across the brow.

Creating Beauty

The too-low brow attains the illusion of height when the bangs are extended from a part along the front-quarter section of your crown to just barely cover your hairline. If this is too frou-frou for you, choose high-riding waves set diagonally to your crown or a center part with wings of curls arranged high on either side.

And use a lighter foundation on your forehead than on the rest of your face. Keep your eyebrows straight across as possible; hold your lipstick application to the shape of your mouth, and let no millinery fashion trick you into covering your hairline.

Let any irregularity serve as an inspiration for individuality. By counterbalancing it, you have a perfect springboard to arresting interest!

YOUR STEPS TO A SUCCESSFUL CAREER

P. S. from J. R. P.

A worthwhile investment in charm for every girl starting a business career — every girl or woman now in business who is eager to reach top-flight success. Radio And Television

By JOHN CROSBY

Brave New World

In Aldous Huxley's "Brave New World," there was a stirring chapter about the conditioning of infants to acceptance of the life they would eventually lead as adults, the social class they were about to assume. A good chapter it was. I'll never forget one small scene where a platoon of babies are spurred across a nursery floor to a row of electrified books. Each one got the shock of his life as he touched a book which taught him to stay away from books the rest of his life.

John Crosby

It seemed at the time like a comic exaggeration, a satiric elaboration. It doesn't any more, the book business being at the moment absolutely lousy. Television, you know. Man hasn't time to read a book. It's a deplorable condition not only for the book business but for the country at large. Books, even without batteries attached to him, have an electric charge of their own. They condition us in a more complex way than electric shock to acceptance or rejection—especially rejection—of the environment around us.

• — • — •

The sort of conditioning that radio or television accomplishes is of a rather different nature. Go out and buy it now. Immediately. Don't waste a second. You'd be surprised how many people do rush right out and buy it now, too. A couple of years back I received a letter from an attendant of a lunatic asylum. She complained that the inmates in some cases had to be forcibly restrained from rushing right off the grounds to buy it now.

Almost everything that is said on the air is taken seriously, every word sinks into some brain more deeply than is intended. Years ago the disk jockeys ran into a peck of trouble with a song, whose title eludes me but which was popularly known as the suicide song. People would call up and request it and commit suicide while it was on the air. Well, suicide must have been on their minds before hearing the record but the slight change in—shall we say—the emotional atmosphere brought about by the song very likely had a lot to do with the large difference between thinking about suicide and actually committing it. Radio can be a dangerous toy.

• — • — •

Arthur Godfrey, in a jesting mood, once was illustrating how to open a pack of Chesterfields and he said that the cellophane top could be used as fish bait. A young girl I know took him up on it right away. (Caught a two-pound bass, Arthur, so I guess it works). On another occasion Godfrey was asked how peanut butter could be ingested without sticking to the roof of your mouth. "Turn the bread upside down," suggested Arthur. Uncounted thousands of small boys did just that and got the peanut butter stuck to their tongues where it's even harder to get rid of. You can't make jokes on the radio which contain even a hint of advice.

The small fry are especially susceptible to suggestion. My own small son not only sings "Brush your teeth with Colgate's" but insists on doing it. He can't read yet so we palm off any toothpaste that happens to be around. But later, after he has been exposed to the perils of an education, he'll demand Colgate's—having, as it were, got that electric shock so early in life.

Since the youngsters (along with the asylum inmates) are so easily propelled toward the nearest drugstore, the demands made on them are increasing every day and the kids are having trouble keeping up with consumption. I have a letter right at my elbow from a lady who has Howdy Doody trouble. Bob Smith had repeatedly invited her daughter to buy Snickers and the girl had followed this plea so faithfully she got sick eating the candy bars.

"Now," writes the lady in some despair, "she buys the bars, throws the candy away and keeps the wrappers."

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

R P N Z S P J Z D C W Z R P W Q T W Q C J V
D P R T A A R V S P J A L; C W Z A L V V W Z T D
L C J Z A P J V C M L — D S T W F N J W V.

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: GLASSES HE HAD, THAT LITTLE THINGS DISPLAY--WORDSWORTH.

Card Of Thanks

The family of the late Laurence McKenzie desire to extend our heartfelt thanks to all those who aided and comforted us during our recent sad bereavement, the death of our father. Especially do we thank the pallbearers, those who donated the use of their cars, those who sent floral tributes, the Revs. George Pugh and Charles Quinn, the altar boys, the choir and the Sisters.
The McKenzie Family

We acknowledge with grateful appreciation the kind expressions of sympathy shown us in our recent bereavement, the death of our wife, mother and sister, Isabel Conrad Ward. We are indeed thankful for the many floral tributes, the help rendered in the home, the cars donated, the pallbearers and Rev. Donald Vosseler.
Earl E. Ward & Son, Earl Jr.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

ANNE FRANCIS GARNETT, PLAINTIFF, VS. CARL MAURICE GARNETT, DEFENDANT NO. 22300 EQUITY IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR ALLEGANY COUNTY, MARYLAND.

The object of this suit is to procure a decree of divorce a vinculo matrimonii by the plaintiff from the defendant.

The Bill states that the parties were married in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, on January 19, 1940; that two children were born of the marriage, that the defendant deserted the plaintiff without just cause, that the desertion has continued uninterruptedly since October, 1942, that it was deliberate and final and that there is no hope of a reconciliation; that the plaintiff is a resident of Allegany County, Maryland, and has resided therein for many years; that the defendant is a non-resident of this state and is believed to be a resident of the State of Michigan.

It is thereupon this 27th day of July, 1951, ordered by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Md., that the plaintiff, by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper, published in Allegany County, once a week for four successive weeks before the 29th day of August, 1951, give notice to the said absent defendant of the object and substance of this bill, warning him to appear in this Court in person or by solicitor, on or before the 15th day of September next, to show cause, if any he have, why a decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

$50,000 Damage Suit Is Filed

A local waitress, who claims she was disabled in a crash on Greene Street last fall, yesterday entered suit in Allegany County Circuit Court for $50,000 damages against an Offutt Street man.

Velma E. Wilfong, 28 Mullen Street, through her attorney, William L. Wilson, Jr., is suing William E. Davis, 117 Offutt Street.

The petition declares that the woman was a passenger in the auto being driven south on Greene Street on September 10, 1950, by Davis.

She declared that he was driving at a "high, unlawful and dangerous rate of speed" and as he approached the underpass of the B. and O. Railroad, the auto was turned sharply to the left side of the street where it struck a telephone pole.

The suit stated that the woman suffered a severe fracture of the lower right leg and lost some of her front teeth.

As a result of the injury, the petition declares, she was hospitalized for 17 days. Mrs. Wilfong also stated that she was forced to wear a cast for a considerable length of time.

She claims that she is still unable to walk without the aid of crutches and therefore is unable to work in her job as a waitress.

PAD Still Considering Gas Limitation Order

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP)—The Petroleum Administration for Defense said today it probably will issue a natural gas limitation order next week or drop the matter entirely.

The agency indicated, however, that the order very likely will be issued to take effect in the near future.

C. P. Rather, assistant deputy administrator, told a news conference that "we have explored the situation completely, and if we can't make up our minds to issue an order next week we ought to quit."

Area Men Named To Church Positions

Two Cumberland district men were elected to offices at the 75th annual conference of Southwestern Pennsylvania District of the Mennonite Churches held at Holsopple, Pa., this week.

M. J. Livengood, of Pinto, was named head of the publications committee, and Rev. Robert Dayton, of Ridgeley, will head the Johnstown Bible School Board.

Springs Mennonite Church near Meyersdale was selected as the site of next year's district conference.

Western Maryland Operating Costs Up

The cost of operating the Western Maryland Railway caused a reduction in the profit last month although revenues increased.

Gross operating revenues of the railway for July were estimated at $3,499,000, an increase of $219,000 or 7 per cent over the same month last year.

But operating expenses for last month increased more than gross revenues, so net income for July dipped to an estimated $246,000 from $346,267 a year earlier.

Revenues from coal traffic, figured at $1,030,000 for last month, dipped 16 per cent compared with last year, but this drop was more than offset by a rise of 20 per cent in other freight revenues which were estimated at $2,294,000. Ore business was exceptionally heavy during the past month.

For the first seven months of 1951, net income was tentatively figured at $3,137,000, after taxes and charges. This was equal to $17.68 a share on the 177,420 shares of 7 per cent cumulative first preferred stock, in arrears as to dividends.

For the seventh months of last year net income was $2,623,712 or $14.79 a share on the first preferred stock.

Gross operating revenues for the period from January 1 to July 31 was estimated at $27,652,000, up 25 per cent compared with $22,079,000 a year earlier. Coal freight revenues at $9,566,000 were up 11 per cent, and other freight receipts at $16,769,000 increased 34 per cent compared with last year.

Stock Market Drifts Lower Despite Some Strong Spots

NEW YORK, Aug. 10 (AP)—In the quitest trading in more than three weeks, the stock market today drifted lower despite occasional strong spots.

Chrysler, third most active issue, was an upside standout with a gain of 1⅞ at 70⅜. Buying was based on the fact that a $2 dividend was declared, the same as the past two quarters, and there was only a comparatively small drop in earnings, despite the tax squeeze now on the whole motor industry.

General Motors, fifth most active, was up ¼ at 50.

There were indications from Washington that price increases for automobiles are being readied.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined 20 cents at $96.20 with the industrial component off 30 cents, rails off 20 cents, and utilities unchanged.

The market encompassed 1,087 individual issues, lowest of the week, of which 341 advanced and 484 declined with 18 new highs and 10 new lows for the year established.

Trading contracted to 1,260,000 shares, lowest since July 19. Yesterday's total was 1,500,000 shares.

National Power & Light topped the most active list up ⅛ at 2⅜. A total of 102,200 shares changed hands, including one block of 20,000 shares which went at 2¼. Pepsi-Cola was second most active up ½ at 9⅞.

Going lower were New York Central off ⅛ at 18½ (14th most active stock in the list and the most active railroad), Allied Chemical ¾ at 74¾, U. S. Steel ½ at 41, Goodyear 1 at 91, Douglas Aircraft 1¼ at 49¾, Burlington Mills ½ at 19¼, Standard Oil (NJ) ⅜ at 69¼, Johns Manville ⅞ at 61⅛, Monsanto Chemical 2 at 96½, and Shell Oil 1 at 63.

Schurg Dies; Wife May Face Murder Charge

Bullet Wound Is Fatal To Welder

George A. Schurg, 27, died last night in Frostburg, the victim of a shooting Monday at his Hoffman home. Authorities said his 22-year-old wife, Shirley, probably would face a murder charge.

Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, said Schurg died at 7:20 p.m. in Miners Hospital, Frostburg. An autopsy was planned to determine the exact cause of death.

Schurg was admitted to the hospital at 1:30 a.m. Monday after being shot through the right side of the chest with a .22 caliber rifle.

Doctors gave him little chance of recovery. They said the bullet had passed through a lung and had caused severe internal hemorrhage.

Mrs. Schurg has been in custody since the shooting, which police said occurred about 1:15 a.m. Monday in the living room of the Schurg home.

Was Hit In Chest

Trooper First Class William F. Baker, State Police criminal investigator, said Schurg had just returned home and that his wife apparently was angry because he had been out late.

Baker said Mrs. Schurg fired one shot from Schurg's .22 caliber pump gun. The bullet struck Schurg in the chest.

Schurg took the weapon, discharged a remaining bullet into the floor to empty the gun, then climbed into his car and drove to the hospital.

His wife was arrested shortly afterward at the hospital where she had followed Schurg. She saw him briefly before being taken to jail.

Will Be Charged

Last night, the State's Attorney's Office said a murder charge would "in all probability" be filed against her.

Schurg, a welder at the Big Savage Refractories Corporation plant in Zihlman, was a son of George Schurg, Spring Street, Frostburg, and the late Martha Donius Schurg.

He is survived, besides his widow, the former Miss Shirley Meek, by seven brothers, Harry and Francis, Cumberland; John, Detroit, and Elmer, Clarence, Carl and Eugene, all of Frostburg; four sisters, Mrs. Alverna Eckhart, Los Angeles, Calif.; Mrs. Dorothy Pappas and Mrs. Alva Lewis, Frostburg, and Miss Helen Schurg, at home, and two daughters, Pamla Jean and Shela.

The body will be at the Hafer Funeral Home, Frostburg.

West Virginian Seeks $5,000

A Wiley Ford, W. Va., man filed a $5,000 suit yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court against a Fort Ashby, W. Va., man who he alleges wrongfully assaulted him on Virginia Avenue.

The suit was docketed for Harry E. Abe by Attorney Edward J. Ryan against Earl M. See.

Abe charged in the suit that he suffered severe and permanent injuries about 6 p. m. June 7 when See maliciously assaulted him.

Ryan said that his client sustained extensive injuries to his right arm, which have resulted in partial paralysis of the limb. He added that the assault occurred on the sidewalk in the 500 block of Virginia Avenue.

See drew a fine in Trial Magistrate's Court on an assault charge, Ryan asserted.

Both Abe and See are employed by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad in the South Cumberland yards.

3,600 Disabled Vets Entitled To Grants

Nearly 3,600 seriously disabled veterans have established their right to Federal grants for "wheelchair" homes, the Veterans Administration said.

The grants were authorized by an act first passed by Congress in 1948 and later amended, under which VA defrays 50 per cent of the cost of such homes for eligible veterans up to a maximum grant of $10,000.

Originally, only paralyzed veterans of war or peacetime service since 1898, whose service-connected disabilities result in the loss, or loss of use, of both legs.

Two Properties Sold For $10,000

Two Frostburg properties were sold for a total of about $10,000 according to deeds recorded in the office of the clerk of the Circuit Court.

Anna L. Crowe sold property on west side of College Avenue and south side of Locust Street in Frost's Heir's Addition, Frostburg, to Joseph M. Myers and Margaret R. Myers for about $5,000.

Mary Theresa Byrnes sold property on Maple Street in Beall's First Addition, Frostburg, to Albert W. Capel and Beatrice Capel for about $5,000.

Paper Collection Set

A paper collection will be held Monday on all streets north of Baltimore Street and Baltimore Avenue, including the Bedford and Frederick Street sections. Bundles should be placed on curbs before 9 a.m.

HORSE SHOW WINNER—Ringmaster Charles Scott is shown preparing to pin the winner's ribbon on Lady Alice, who won the three gaited stake class prize at the Cumberland Horse Show last year. Seated on Lady Alice is the owner, Lorraine Kinskey, Hill View Farms, Washington, Pa., who has entered Lady Alice in this year's show. She has also entered two other horses, Ring Win's Magic and Conquistador. Standing nearby is Miss Betty Jo Ward, Miss Frostburg of 1950, who was present at last year's event. The Cumberland Lions Club will again sponsor the fifth annual horse show September 14 to 16 for the benefit of underprivileged blind and crippled children.

City Officials Report Progress On New Budget

Group Meets Again Monday Morning

Satisfactory progress was noted in yesterday's preliminary meeting of the Mayor and City Council on the city budget for the fiscal year which began July 1, Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor, said yesterday.

Facing the possibility of having to increase this year's tax rate, the mayor and council, along with Gibson and City Solicitor W. Earle Cobey, reviewed their problem at a three-hour meeting yesterday morning in the Mayor's office.

Original requests totaled $66,000 more than the city could expect to collect for operating expenses in this fiscal year, Gibson explained, and after yesterday's meeting the deficit was pared down to approximately $35,000, he went on.

With more than half of the budget list still to be reviewed, Gibson declared, the city officials had been able to shave off about $30,000 and was expected to get within the limit at their next meeting following Monday's morning public council session.

Gibson said he was well pleased with the efforts of the commissioners to tighten their requests to get within the expectable income of $1,027,000 which, officials said, is based on a five cent tax increase.

Allowed only 95 cents of the tax rate for operating expenses by law, the city must fall back on other sources of revenue to meet the increasingly higher demands for money to run the municipality.

With raised salaries and high costs of living and operation, the city can expect to garner only about $617,000 additional from property taxes on the city's assessable basis of $65,000,000, Gibson remarked.

The current tax rate is $1.27.

Rate Boost Termed Great Disappointment

BALTIMORE, Aug. 10 (AP)—The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad estimated today it will get only $5,000,000 in additional revenue this year as the result of the freight rate increase authorized by the Interstate Commerce Commission on Wednesday.

Roy B. White, president of the road, pointed out that the nine per cent increase approved on Wednesday includes a four per cent increase already put into effect on a temporary basis in April.

The earlier four per cent increase provided the B&O an estimated $10,200,000 in additional revenue annually. White said the current traffic volume indicates the new order will produce another $17,100,000 on an annual basis.

The B&O president said at the time of the Wednesday announcement that the increase would not be sufficient to cover the higher costs of wages and materials. He called it a "great disappointment."

Weather

Yesterday began as a sunny summer day, but clouds formed an overcast in early afternoon. Temperatures soared into the 90s with humidity making the air sticky. A few drops of rain fell in late afternoon, and the mercury began to fall rapidly at about 7 p. m. The high temperature was reported as 94 degrees by the weather station at Constitution Park. The low was 68, and at 8 p. m., the thermometer leveled at 77 degrees. The humidity was recorded as 58 per cent. The Weather Bureau predicts some cloudiness, warm and humid today with scattered afternoon or evening thundershowers.

County Leads In Industrial Employment

Allegany County has more industrial workers in proportion to its population than any other section of the state, according to figures compiled by the Maryland State Planning Commission.

The Commission said 152.9 persons in every 1,000 Allegany Countians are industrial workers. This is nearly twice the national average of 79.1. The state average is 81.1.

Second in Baltimore County, where 148.5 of every 1,000 are industrial workers. Washington County is fifth with 105.6, and Charles County is lowest, with 5.4. The Baltimore City figure is 103.8 per 1,000.

Betty Twigg Wins Contest In Cresaptown

Miss Betty Twigg was crowned "Miss Cresaptown" at a teen-age dance last night at the Cresaptown Volunteer Fire Company hall. The naming of the queen was part of the three-day celebration held annually by the fire company.

Runnersup were Miss Frances Winters and Miss Betty Wolford. Cash prizes awarded the winners were donated by the fire company and its auxiliary.

The three winners will ride in the parade tonight which will climax the affair beginning at 7:30 p. m. Approximately 22 units will be in the line of march with prizes to be awarded best appearing band, drum corps and fire company and best auxiliary.

Members of the Cresaptown Lions Club were judges in last night's contest in which the participants vied for honors in evening gowns. Another dance will close out the celebration tonight following the parade.

Will Probated In Court Here

The will of Henry Orlando Barncord, 81, Corriganville, who died July 26, was admitted to probate yesterday in Allegany County Orphans Court.

A son, John Mitchell Barncord, RFD 5, Vocke Road, qualified as executor of the estate.

The will, dated Sept. 28, 1946, provides that Barncord's real estate on the Cumberland-Mt. Savage Road, at Corriganville, should be shared equally by his four children. They are William Carl Barncord, Corriganville; Mrs. Elsie Heretta Hensel, Corriganville; David Henry Barncord, this city, and John Mitchell Barncord.

All the rest of his property is to be held in trust by John Mitchell Barncord. During the life of the elder Barncord's widow, Mrs. Mary Ann Barncord, all of the profits from the trust are to go to her. After her death the four children are to share the revenue from the trust.

Man Is Sentenced In Parole Violation

Bradford M. Oster, this city, was sentenced to six months in the Maryland House of Correction in Trial Magistrates Court yesterday for violation of parole. He pleaded guilty to the charge.

He was sentenced July 17 for drunkeness, but the sentence was suspended, and he was paroled for two years on the condition that he refrain from the use of intoxicants.

North End Wins 3 Classes In Volleyball Semifinals

North End Playground teams took three top spots yesterday in the Intracity Volleyball Tournament semifinals for northern and western city playgrounds.

The North Enders trounced Columbia Street 15-6 to win the Class A lead (boys 16-17). They also took the lead in Class D (boys 9-12) and Class E (girls 9-12).

Columbia Street's Class B team (boys 13-15) came back with a 15-8 victory over North End to win the class semifinals.

Centre Street won in Class C (girls 13-16) with a 15-10 victory over East Side Playground.

Winners in each class will meet South End's during the Intracity Playground Picnic Friday at Constitution Park.

Medals will be presented to members of the top team in each class, and runners-up will be awarded points toward the city playground banner.

Yesterday's semifinals were played at North End Playground.

A beauty contest will be held Friday at North End for girls in three age groups.

Prizes will be awarded to children in these groups: 1-2 years; 3-4 years, and 5-6 years. Aspirants for crowns in any of the classes may register with the playleaders.

The playground will also hold a boat race Tuesday, August 21, in the wading pool.

Youth, 18, Dies When Crushed Under Tractor

Samuel L. Jones Was Working On Farm

An 18-year-old Hartmansville, W. Va., youth died instantly about 1 p. m. yesterday when his head was crushed beneath a heavy tractor he was operating on his father's farm.

Samuel Lester Jones was killed when the farm vehicle he was driving went over a platform near a barn on the Grant County property, tilted over, throwing him off the tractor against the barn. The tractor then toppled from the platform upon young Jones crushing him to death.

The boy was helping his father Lester Edward Jones when the accident occurred.

Besides his father he is survived by his mother, Mrs. Edna Lee Sager Jones, two sisters, Wilma and Velma Jones, three brothers, Glen, Eugene and Kermit Jones, all at home; three grandparents, William Sager, Mathias, W. Va., and Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Jones, Gormania, W. Va.

Funeral service will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. (EST) from the Mt. Storm Methodist Church and interment will be in the Lahmansville Cemetery.

The body will be at the residence near Hartmansville.

A native of Maysville, Grant County, W. Va., young Jones was born August 6, 1933 and attended Bayard, W. Va., High School.

Trooper F. W. Bowley, West Virginia State Police detachment from Keyser, W. Va., is investigating.

Institute Held By B'Nai B'Rith

Robert Kaplon, city, has returned from attending the District Grand Lodge No. 5 of B'nai B'rith fourth annual Institute of Judaism held at Wildacres, Little Switzerland, N. C., August 1 to 5. He was a member of the Institute committee.

The theme of the institute was "Judaism Through the Ages." Outstanding authorities in Orthodox, Conservative and Reformed Jewish religion were among the speakers.

Rabbi Oscar Z. Fasman lectured on "The Method of the Talmud" "What Is Orthodox Judaism?" and "The Influence of the Talmud on the Personality of the Jew." He is president of the Hebrew Theological College, Chicago, and is a former Canadian Army chaplain, an author and lecturer.

Dr. Shalom Spiegel, professor of medieval literature at the Jewish Theological Seminary of America, spoke on "What Is Conservative Judaism?" "The Bible Through the Ages," and "The Bible Today." Dr. Spiegel received his Ph. D., in 1922 from the University of Vienna and served as professor of Biblical Literature at the Jewish Institute of Religion.

"What Is Reform Judaism?" "The Romance of Polish Jewry," and "The Saga of German Jewry," were discussed by Rabbi Solomon B. Freehof, of Rodef Shalom Temple, Pittsburgh. A graduate of the University of Cincinnati and Hebrew Union College, where he later served as a professor, he served as chaplain with the AEF during World War I. He has been president of the Central Conference of American Rabbis.

The young woman, Miss Gwendolyn Pierce, 42 Virginia Avenue, will be on the faculty at Johnson Heights School. She is a graduate of Western Maryland College in Westminster.

Senate Group Okays Local Flood Money

$1,000,000 Allotted For Construction

The Senate Appropriations Committee yesterday approved $1,000,000 for flood control construction in Cumberland and Ridgeley, W. Va., for the current fiscal year. This is the amount voted by the House June 13 in its appropriations bill for Army civil functions.

Local engineers, who stated $2,400,000 had been requested in order to start the next phase of construction of the flood program here, believe the severe cut will greatly hamper amount of work which can be done when the current contract is completed.

The Senate as a body still has to vote on the measure and steps may be taken to increase the amount before final passage, engineers here ventured.

Present flood work is expected to be completed before December, they added.

Naval Reserve Rules Explained

Eligibility requirements for acceptance in the U. S. Naval Reserve were explained yesterday by Lt. Commander W. E. Woodson, Jr., inspector-instructor, Naval Reserve, for this area.

Male applicants who have attained their 19th but not their 26th birthday are eligible for acceptance, Comdr. Woodson said, if they are classified by their Selective Service Boards as IV-A or if they are classified III-A and have less than four dependents.

Others acceptable for membership include members of the Naval Reserve who upon expiration of their current enlistments desire to reenlist immediately, and Naval or Coast Guard veterans with a minimum of six months active service who are eligible for enlistment or re-enlistment in the Naval Reserve in pay grade E-2 or higher.

The latter group consists of veterans who because of limited previous active service are liable for induction training and service under the Selective Service Act, but whose Naval and Coast Guard training will permit utilization of their services without recruit training.

Elderly Man Hit By Automobile

Urner Carl, 71, Mt. Savage Road, was struck by an automobile yesterday about 12:40 p. m. at the intersection of Baltimore and Centre Streets. He was taken to Allegany Hospital where attaches said X-rays were taken.

Police preferred charges of failure to give right of way to a pedestrian against Richard Louis Close, 34, Ellerslie, driver of the car.

Area 4-H Leaders Receive Awards At College Park

Mrs. Roland Among Four Honored

Four adult leaders from Allegany and Garrett Counties, who combined have served as 4-H Club sponsors for a total of 90 years, were honored in ceremonies yesterday at College Park as Maryland's 4-H clubbers neared the end of their week of study and play at the University of Maryland.

Emerald pins and certificates denoting 25 years as 4-H club sponsors went to Mrs. Elsie Hill Roland, of Flintstone, in Allegany County, and Miss Margaret Ringler, of Garrett County.

20 Year Pins

Twenty-year pins went to Miss Elizabeth Workman, of Frostburg, and Miss Lola King, of Deer Park, in Garrett County.

No other adult leaders from elsewhere in the state were able to qualify for the service awards.

The awards were announced at yesterday's "Thank You" assembly. Mrs. Roland, principal of Flintstone High School, received her pin and certificate from Guy Gienger. He once was president of her 4-H Club and is now on the agricultural engineering faculty at the College of Agriculture.

Horseback Show

The 1,200 boys and girls attending the Club Week were treated to a horseback riding demonstration during the morning program yesterday. It was sponsored by the Maryland Horsebreeders Association with a suggestion that some of the club members might want to think about raising and training horses as a profitable farm project.

Last night the club members wound up their week's outing with a dedication service and the annual pageant staged by the All-Star Club, an honor society of outstanding members from the various counties.

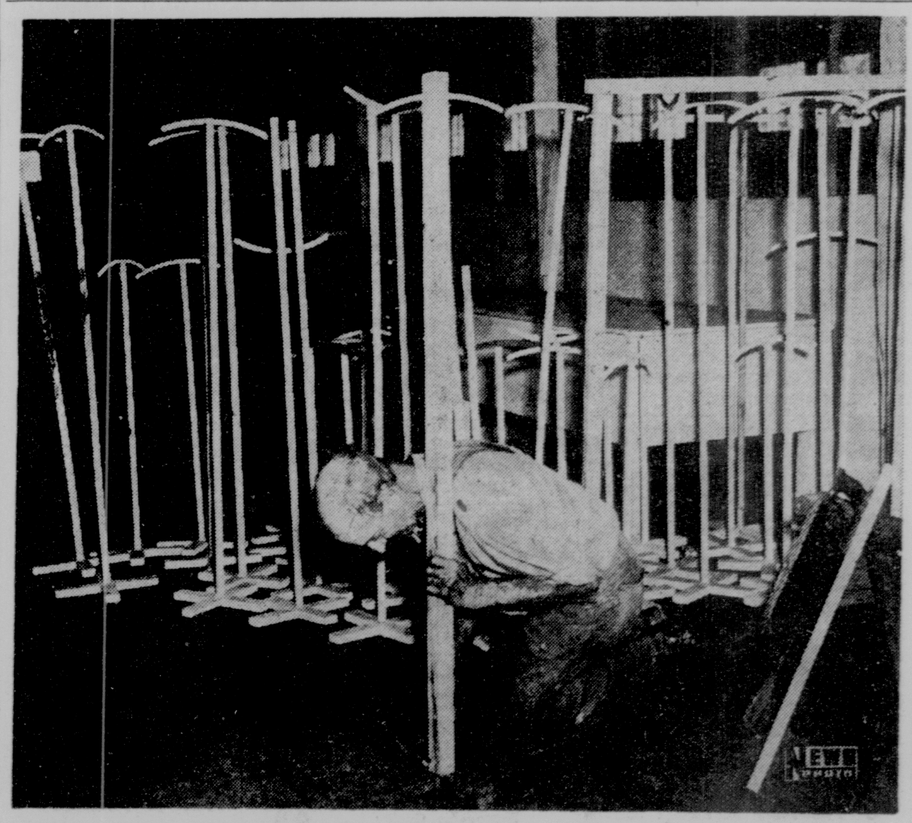
The youngsters will return to their homes by bus after breakfast this morning.

Recruiting Drive Opened By Navy Here

The Navy Recruiting Substation here has announced the opening of an extensive recruiting drive. The Navy's urgent need of men has resulted in an order for the local recruiting substation to remain open from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m. daily.

Volunteers for the Navy have fallen off in the last month necessitating a step up in recruiting operations to keep pace with recruit quotas assigned for this area.

There is no limit on the number of men that can be accepted for enlistment, and no waiting period between completing application and actual enlistment and transfer to the Naval Training Center.



GETTING READY FOR FAIR—Eston D. Fultz, a carpenter, is one of the many workmen who are busy at Fairgo making the necessary preparations for the 34th annual Cumberland Fair, which will be held from August 20 through August 25. Fultz is making hangers on which 4-H Club girls will display clothing which they have made. When August 20 arrives they will be laden with wearing apparel.

Judge Refuses Reduction In Meyers Bail

Men Will Appear In Court Tuesday

BALTIMORE, Aug. 0. (AP)—After noting that "facilities for travel have improved," a federal judge refused today to grant immediate reductions in the bail of three men charged with conspiring to advocate overthrow of the government.

Judge W. Calvin Chestnut indicated he may grant some reduction next week after a further hearing on petitions for release of the men.

Two Communists and an attorney who has represented Communists, they are now being held under $75,000 bail each.

Defense Counsel argued today that they were arrested without adequate basis, that they were not given an immediate opportunity to hire lawyers and the bail is "excessive and arbitrary."

Harold Buchman, attorney for George A. Meyers and Maurice L. Braverman, contended the amount of bail was equivalent to "throwing them in jail and throwing away the key."

Meyers is chairman of the Maryland Branch of the Communist Party. The FBI says Braverman has been the official attorney for the branch.

Joseph Forer, Washington attorney representing Roy Wood, argued that the $75,000 bail was, in effect, no bail and therefore violated his client's rights under the Eighth Constitutional Amendment.

None of the defendants appeared in court today, but at the suggestion of the Judge, U. S. District Attorney Bernard J. Flynn agreed to produce them at the next hearing at 12 p. m. (EDT) Tuesday.

Flynn argued that, in view of the recent bail-jumping by four of 11 top-level Communists, the figure set here is necessary to assure the presence of the defendants at their trial.

Defense Counsel estimated that $5,000 would be more reasonable for Meyers and Woods, but Braverman should be released on his recognizance because he is a lawyer.

Judge Chestnut said he felt neither the $75,000 nor the figures advanced by the defense seemed to be reasonable. Next week he'll use the "artillery practice to get closer to the target," he added.

"We should bear in mind, however," he said, "that the Eighth Amendment was written in 1791, x x x that the value of money has changed since then, and x x x that facilities of travel have greatly improved since then."

Firemen Sign Pension Forms

Forty-two of the city's 50 firemen have signed applications for inclusion in the State Employes Retirement System, City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson announced yesterday.

Deadline for applications is Wednesday. This will allow time for the local Fire Department to be included in the period beginning September 1.

Under the new plan, the present city program will be discontinued before the firemen switch over to the state system.

Observers explained that the city has agreed to changeover only if the present city program is discontinued and if firemen will release the city of all claims under the present system.

Entrance of the local department into the system would set a precedent in that it would be the first paid fire department in the state to enter.

Other city employes, however, are covered by the state plan. The Police Department still has its own pension system.

$31,500 Involved In Property Sales

Deeds filed yesterday in the office of the clerk of Circuit Court listed three transactions in which a total of $31,500 was involved.

J. Milton Twigg, Esther B. Twigg, Peter M. Shoenadel and Katherine Shoenadel sold three parcels on the south side of National Road, about five miles west of Cumberland, to the Baland Corporation for about $15,000.

Robert W. McColley and Dorothy Lee McColley sold property on the west side of Louisiana Avenue to John R. McVicker and Verna C. McVicker for about $11,000.

Algino J. Nicolato, Jr., and Catherine A. Nicolato transferred ownership of property on the west side of McMullen Highway, about a half mile north of McCoole, to Frank C. Foster and Mildred L. Foster for about $5,500.

Holt Reunion To Be Held Tomorrow

The second annual reunion of the descendants of Joseph and Eliza Holt will be held tomorrow at an all-day meeting at the Hyndman Camp grounds, beginning at 9 a.m.

Joseph Stuckey, Hyndman, is chairman and William Iser, Oldtown, secretary.

There will be a business meeting and entertainment including recreational games. A picnic dinner and supper will be held.

Terminal Meeting Set

A Cumberland Terminal meeting will be held Tuesday at 1:30 p.m. in the council chamber at City Hall.
